We feel the sun of summer, But its verdure do not see, While there comes a whispered mur mur From every leafless tree, Which checks the voice of gladness That else might ring again, And brings a drowsy sadness To fasten on the brain.

Yes, 'tis the Indian summer, For treacherous are its beams: And as fading as the glimmer Of happiness in dreams. The very mists of morning, Though heralding fair days, Are shadowy forms of warning, Which vanish while we geze.

Thus summer's ghost keeps beckoning Our willing feet to roam, While we forget the reckoning, Of winter days to come ; And yet so sadly pleasant Is all wo feel or see, That in the dreamy present Forever would we be.

Barnum's Speech on Humbugs. Delivered at Stamford on the occasion of the Agricultural Fair.

It seems to be a most unfortunate circumstance that I should be selected to speak on Humbug, as looking on the ladies, whose profession it peculiarly is, I find it hand to express myself in their presence. Everything is humbug, except our Agricultural Societythat alone is not.

Humbug is generly defined " deceit or imposition." A burglar who breaks into your house, a forger who cheats you of your property or a rascal, is not a humbug; a humbug is an imposter; but in my opinion the true meaning of hnmbug is management<sup>a</sup>-tactto take an old truth and put it in an attract- before the police court, charged with carrying ive form.
