From the Knickerbocker. Do they Miss me at Home ?

BY TRAVELER.

Do they miss me at home!--do they miss me T would be an asurance most dear To know that my name was forgotten, As though I had never been there.

II. To know that the tailor and landlord, And the banks where my paper is due, And hosts whom I cannot now mention, Had banished me quite from their view. m.

Do they miss me at home !----do they miss me ! When the market for money is ' tight,' And collectors with haste are pursuing Their debtors by day and by night ?

IV. Do the friends who once loaned me a ' fifty,' And the others who loaned me a ' ten,' Heave a sigh of regret as they miss me, And wish they could see me again !

Do they miss me at home !--- do they miss me ! When no longer I'm seen upon 'Change, And do those who were wont to assist me. Say . His conduct's infernally strange ? VI. Does the SHYLOCK who loaned me his money

Of the young conscripts which composed the largest half of the French army, was a youth from the southern province of France. He had left the roof of his beloved parents at his country's call, and had gallantly shouldered the musket in her defence. This young man, although he had occasionally traversed the lonely hunting paths of the Pyrenees, and had slightly tasted of the fa-tigue attached to the rifle, still he was not inured to the hardships of the battle-field.— He had a brother older than himself, who had, a number of years before, joined a divis-ion of the French army, and was thought to have been killed, as he had not been heard from since his enlistment. Great Natural Remedy for Indigestion and Dyspepsia. DR. J. S. HOUGHTON'S Pepsin, the true Di-GESTIVE FLUID, or GASTRIC JUICE still holds the first place among all the various remedies for these painful and destructive complaints. It is Nature's own specific for an unhealthy stom-ach. No art of man can equal its curative pow-ers; and no sufferer from Indigestion and Dyspepsia should fail to try it.
