From A. Woodward, M. D. of PenniUniversity, Philadelipka.—It gives me pleasure te add my teatimony to the professional ability of the Author of the Madical Manual. Namerous cases of Disease of the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing, have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health, in some cases where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of cases where the functions proinal wenkness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by a flabuse or Excess of venery, I do not knew his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the Author semethirty years, and deemit no more than justice to him as well askindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one-in whose professionslakill and integrity they may safely confide themselves. ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D. "This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class of disease of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason-of its reasers. It is free from all objectionable matter, and no pagent however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and, with too little broath to puff, and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world, at the merely nominal price of 25, cent., the fruit of some twenty years' most successful practice." nal wenkness, or disarrangement of the functions p
