A RELIGIOUS COURTSHIP. A Young gentleman happening to sit at church in a pew adjoining one in which sad a young lady, for whom be conceived a sudden and violent passion, was descrious of entering into a courtship en the spot; but the place not suiting a formal declaration, the exigency of the case suggested the following plan:

He politely handed his fair neighbor Bible open, with a pin stuck in the following

2d Epistle of John, verse 5-"And now beseech thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the leginning, that we love one Elder Benny, Mr. J. H. ABRAMS and Miss another."

She returned it, pointing the 2d chapter of Ruth, verse 10th: "Then she fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, and said unto him, why have I found Igrace in thine eyes, that thou shouldst take knowlegde of me, seeing that I am a stranger !" He returned the book, pointing to the 12th verse of the 31 Epistle of John: "Having many things to write unto veu, I would not write with paper, and ink; but I trust to come unto you and speak face to face." From the above interview, a marriage took place the following week.

A short while since, says the Albany Statesman, the affectionate public was astonished by a story of a young lady whose neck was dislocated in consequence of the ill advised resistance which she offered to the amicable salute of an admirer more ardent than discreet. Our exchanges from Europe now match this tale with another of an inquest held on Leeds on the body of a young man of 21, who fell down stairs and killed himself in the course of an attempt to snatch a kiss-from the unwilling lips of a girl of fifteen. Some of our contemporaries deduced from the first of these occurrences the wholsome moral that young ladies should never oppose the advances of their admirers. In common fairness we are now bound to infer from the second accident that no man should ever attempt to take a kiss, until it is offered to him. Between the two lessons there is reason. to fear that an ancient and not altogether disagreeable custom may be summarily abo-

LAND OUT WEST .-- Almost invariable, at times of commercial distress in the country such as now exists, the holders of valuable waste land are_obliged to relinquish their possessions, either to actual settlers, or their creditors, who will so dispose of it. To get rid of it, most of it sells below the government price, so as to induce parties to purchase, we see, by looking back, a tide of emigration of said County, on Friday, the 29th day of to the unoccupied lands in the West, following such seasons as the present. It was so after 1837, 1847 and 1854, and will follow this year likewise.

We have information showing that the sales of Government land has almost entirely ceased, owing to the better terms of private sale offered; and also that the transfer will sum up as large as usual, if not higher, all ractual occupation next year. -- Nininger (M. T.) Journal.

LAND-PRE EMPTIONS AT DONIPHAN.—A cor: respondent of the St. Louis Republican, writhing from Domphan, K. T., says that Gen. Whisfield and Ex-Secretary Woodson have hands full in adjusting the claims of pre empters at the land office there. About a thousend cases has been pre-empted, which comprise 160,000 acres of land, at a cost of $200. 000, "You would hardly suppose it possible," says the writer, "for a money panic to prevail, if you saw the heaps of gold that are erery day poured from the old buck skin purses of the hardy pioneers of this beautiful new country."
