Lucy Ann Liggons, a young widow, had of public patronage.

Montrose, March 3d, 1858. "set her cap" for Bill, and she was determined to head him or die. Bill to tell the truth, loved Lucy, and was as miserable out of her company as he was timid in it-but as to "popping the question," that was impossible. Lucy knit purses, hemmed handkerchiefs, worked suirt bosoms and gave them to Jenkins, as well as several gold-rings, but Spices, Fruit, (Dried and Fresh,) to Jenkins, as well as several gold-rings, but still Bill would not "propose." Lucy declared to him repeatedly that she loved him, and was miserable when he was absent from her, and her happiness in life depended upon found in the best Country Groceries. Butter her being his wife-but Bill was dumb. At and Produce of all kinds taken in exchange for last Lucy was determined that he should "hear thunder," and when he next visited her, after some preliminary soft talk on her part, she very affectionately said:

You fainted when and all persons having claims against the said you were about to ask me to marry youbut I told you yes—and oh, how happy we will be when we are married! I will love you so dearly; and as you said next Thursday, why, I am willing the wedding should be then-my dear Billy, how I do love you!" I am willing, Miss Lucy," was all that Jenkins could articulate, while Lucy almost kissed him into fits. What a glorious victo-

Here we ought to stop, but justice to our narrative requires that we should proceed to the finale. The "next Thursday" had come, and Jenkins was trembling at the approach of the evening-something seemed to harrow up his mind very much, and to no friend even would he communicate his deep distress.

"You are not afraid, certainly to go up and get married-why, to marry such a beautiful, charming, and intellectual being as Mrs. Liggons, I should wish that time would fir like news upon the electric telegraph line.-

Cheer up, Jenkins-cheer up." "Oh," replied Bill, "you don't know what distresses me, I can go and get married, that is easy enough, but there is one thing I am satisfied I never will be able to do in the world, unless Lucy will assist me." "Explain yourself, my dear fellow," replied his friend, "and if I can with propriety I will Sendenvor to render you comfortable. But Jenkins could not explain-he dared not-it was his timidity-he saw the Rubicon before him, and he knew that be could not pass it but he was determined to get married and trust to luck and Lucy.

- The night came—and they were married. All were merry; the laugh, chat, the dance, Hom. " made up a lively party until midnight-they commenced to disperse, and at one o'clock, Bill Jenkins was left "solitary and alone" in consult me can do so by letter and receive a Tooth Brushes, Rearl and Cornelian Sleeve Butthe hall. Lacy Ann had retired, and her prompt reply. No charge for consultation.

J. H. THOMAS, M. D. bridesmaids were off in a distant room .-Bill Jenkins' waiters and friends had gone home with the ladies. Bill was now at the point where he thought his firmness would sail him. His situation was a peculiar one. Diplomas awarded to duced herself to Lim in as m dest a style as she well could.

"Mr. Jenkins," said she, "it's past two o'clock.

"Oh, yes-I know it, I'm going home in a few minutes. Old woman where's my hat ?" "It's in Miss Lucy's room sir-you can get it there if you'll go in. Mr. Jenkins, why don't you go to bed! Miss Lucy is there waiting for you-don't be so modest-the ladies will laugh at you. Come with me and I'll show you the room, for I want to put out the lights and go to bed." The old weman seized hold of Jenkins and pulled him along until she got out of the hall, and his gaze was fixed for a moment on the entry door-but she was determined to put him in Miss Lucy's room, and after violent efforts succeeded. There he stood with the knob of the door in his, hand-but the old darkey had been smart enough to lock the door on the ontside. Lucy pretended for some time to be asleep, but that sort of gammon would not answer. At last she said: "My dear Billy, what is the matter with

"I want my bat " screamed Jenkins, and Lucy, knowing his modesty, leaped out of the bed, and after care-sing him for some time, Billy went to bed with his clothes and boots on, and-trembled till morning.

How Jenkins subsequently managed "matters and things in general," can be known by application to his dear Lucy Ann Reader, strange indeed as it may appear there are many Jenkins all over the world: but the free masonry of wedded life draws the curtain before the eyes of the uninitiated. Going to bed on the first night after marriage must be among the delicate situaations in life. Ask your matried neighbor how it was with him. We have no experience exactly in that way.

KNEW 'HE'D STEAL -Mike, a little darkey of a dozen years, was purposely left alone in a store, one day, and then watched through a door that stood ajar, to test his honesty. Finding himself alone, he began to canvas the apartment for something good; and shipping behind the counter, he soon helped himself liberally to nots and caudy. Upon being caught in the act and upbraided, he began to justify himself, by saying, "You'd no business to leave me alone; you always knowed I'd steal !"

"I say, printer, do you take Manhattau mouey?" "No." "What's the reason—ain't it good?" "Yes." "Why don't you take it theu." "Cau't get it."

DRAE Six: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleams the systim, and purify the fountains of the blood.

N. MACHAM, M. D.

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Jolin G. Meacham, M. D. Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Tumors, and Salt Rheum.

From a Erwarding Merchant of S. Douis, Feb. 4, 1856.

Dr. Are: Your Pills are the paragen of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of alcerous sores upon ber hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievous ly stilled with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORORIDGE.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawkes, of the Methodist Epis. Church.

Pulaski House, Sayannan, Ga., Jan. 6, 1866.

Honder Sir: I should be ungratiful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on exernicating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatiam. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worrs, until by the adrice of your evelent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your I'lls. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in to use of them I am how entirely well.

Exazz Chamber, Bayon Rouge, La., 5 Dec., 1855.

Br. Are: I have been entirely cured by your Pills of Scheimatic Gout — a painful disease that had afflicted me for years.

Most of the pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

CIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues.
Throughout avery town, and almost every hamlet of the American Seates, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complacta have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this contingent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the threat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antibots yet knewn to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, its is also the pleasantest and afrest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the incidious elemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Cherny Pecroans sures more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor negiect them until no human ekili can master the inexonalcanker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away.
All know the dreading famility of lung disorders, and-as canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this refuely, we need not do more, than to again them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no foil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely an it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.
