----A CHANGE OF FRONT .--- While the Lecompton Convention was in session, and be fore it was known that the Constitution about to be framed.would tolerate slavery, the Chi cago Times came out with a long and strong editorial against subnitting it, when formed to the people for their ratification or rejection, in which editorial the following pointed paragraphs may be found :

'We think the Convention that will frame the new Constitution in Kansas will exhibit far more regard for public tranquility and public honesty, by conducting their proceed ings without any reference to the Topeka ad-herents; and, as they have declated it never shill go into operation in the State we think there is about as much propriety in submitting it to their approval as there would be in submitting it to the approval of the inhabitants of the Fejee Islands. "As the adherents of the Topeks Convention refuse to participate in the election of lelegates, and are sworn to resist the new State government when established, they have no right to be consulted in the formation of that State government."

The Chicago Times, it is well known, is the organ or mouth-piece of Senator Douglas, and speaks by his authority. It will be seen from the above that, at the time the Lecompton convention was in session, Judge Douglas was opposed, for certain specified and substantial reasons, to submitting the whole Constitution to the people. A few months after-ward he changed front entirely on this question, and at the opening of Congress in December last made war on the instrument because it had not been submitted to the "Topeka adherents." How the distinguished Senator can reconcile this inconsistency, is more than we can divine !- Luncaster Intelligencer.
