prove that he is stronger in the wrists than I. Do you think I am right?" Y-e-s," stammered Ethan." "Shake hands on it, then," said I. Ethan gave me his hand, but as I squeezed it with rather too cordial a pressure, he tried to pull it away, at the same time uttering a cry of pain.
"What is the matter?" I exclaimed. "You have almost crushed my fingers," groaned Ethan, making a very wry face. "Why do you not squeeze back again!" said I, pressing his hand again, till he uttered another cry. "That will do!" said he, trying hard to force a smile. His last words were prophetic. The lesson proved sufficient. He was hence forth the most peaceful boy in school. A week after this adventure, as I was trying to pitch a large stone beyond a certain mark on the ground, Mr. Stanley tapped me on the shoulder. "What have you been doing to Ethan !" what have you been my said be, shaking his fore finger at me.

"Returning good for evil," answered I.

McCollum & Gerritson have been placed

Montrose, September 21st, 1858.

To the Public. The affairs of the late firm of McCollum d as to the public, that I should explain my reasons for publishing the "special notice" which has stood at the head of the Democrat since April last. An arrangement was to have sole right to collect the subscription accounts of the late firm, and in anticipation of the completion of said arrangement, the notice of dissolution was published, but such arrangement not having been fully and satisfactorily made. I found it necessary to inform the patrons of the paper of the fact, in order to prevent further collection, until the matter was finally settled. The "epecial notice" therefore was not intended to charge Mr. McCollum with fraud or falsehood, (as some may have supposed) but to effect the purpose above named. A. J. GERRITSON. From all we have learned, he, -nor any of his fellow falsifiers -does not attempt to specify when or where a dollar has been spent in an improper manner. The charges are loose, indefinite, such as any boy can make, but which no one can prove. To attempt to do this, would be to must be remembered that the expenses of last year were sanctioned by, the last Congress, with Black Republican Speaker Banks at the head, Mr. Grow chairman of the territorial committee, and a very large majority of the people how the money has been squandered, before charging it upon the President.

> There is one item of greatly increased expenses, which Mr. Grow and others ought to say something about. The pay of Congressmen used to be eight dollars per day. Intead of this, the members have recently voted themselves the sum of six thousand dollars for each term of two years. For the coming short session, each Member-would have drawn Argus : under the old-rate about eight hundred dollars, but under the new spoilage bill, each will draw from the treasury three thousand dollars-nearly four times as much as before, or $30 00 per day. Counting this at a year- people together to see so little." ly average, each Member gets $10 per day for doing nothing-most of the time. It would be well for Mr. Grow to cite as an instance of money thrown away, that he is getting $10 for every day that he goes about the country telling big and little stories to terrify old women and children. This extravagance he cannot charge upon the President, for the Members vote their own pay. But Mr. Grow may say that he did not vote for the increase of pay. Perhaps not. There were a number of Members who did not vote for the increase, who favored it. The thing was managed in this way: All such as did not wish or expect to return; or who had no fears of being called to account at home, were to vote for more pay; while some of those who dared not run the risk, were to vote against it, but it was carefully ascertained beforehand that enough were to vote, "aye!" to

If Mr. Grow thinks too much money is spent, let him set the example by refunding to the public treasury the surplus amount which he has diana the advantage of the "spoilage" act, and thus prove the sincerity of his complaints about extravagance.

CHOICE OF PREMIUMS .- We have once before called attention to the offer of a butter knife as a premium to the young lady, under 18 years of age, who should present the best butter, of her own make, at the coming Fair. Desiring to stimulate the competition in so noble an enterprise, we took occasion, a short time since, to call the attention of a young lady of our acquaintance to the subject, and suggested that she would do well to enter the list of competitors. She frankly responded that she was "over 18." and added that she would prefer competing for the next named premium on the list. Having a curiosity to learn her choice, we glanced at the list and read-"For the largest quantity of butter. &c., Country Gentleman!" We certainly raised no objection to her preference, understanding, of course, that she did not mean a country dandy. So our young farmers who attend the Fair must remember that the young ladies are not all looking for butter knives. They will also do well to notice the competitors for the butter knife, for there is no better test of housekeeping qualifications than butter-making. If this department be neatly and successfully managed, as a general rule, it is safe to take the risk of all the others, while on the other hand, a poor butter maker, allowing she has proper conveniences provi-

How such a course can be reconciled consistently with the assumptions of the Press, that its editor is a Democrat, I more than I can comprehend. The Maine Election:

There is really more significance, and more encouragement to the Democracy, in the resault of the recent election in Maine, than would at first strike the eye. It is true that our party has again been defeated-that the Black Republican candidate for Governor has been elected by about ten thousand votes; and that probably the opposition have carried every member of Congress, as they did two sults there when the Fremont tempest swept over the Northern States have we not a right to presume that even in the near future, Maine will again assume her position in the column of National Democratic States ?

figure of thirty thousand. Here then; presuming Morrel's majority to be ten thousand. we have an opposition loss, and a Democratic gain in two years, of twenty thousand votes. Now, if this change of public sentiment goes on in the same progression, for two years more, it does not require much skill in arithmetic to ascertain and to predict where Maine A. Crossmon, Myron M. Moti. will stand in the Presidential struggle of 1860. In fact, in taking the political horoscone of the country, so far as the elections this summer and fall will enable us to do, we see no cause for Democrats to despair, but every thing to inspire hope and confidence. The intense sectional fanaticism thus culminated in the extraordinary vote given to Fremont in the Northern States, and more especially in New England, is rapidly dying out; and we should not be surprised if it should find its grave in the very spot of its birth. In 1856, the four important Central States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois, served as a breakwater to arrest the deluge of Abolitionism that threatened to eleca Presidential candidate, and overwhelm and crush out the South; but in 1860 we may count on New York, and perhaps Maine, New Hampshire and Connecticut, to stretch out their arms and save the Union from such a

LANCASTER, Sept. 17 President Buchanan in his own private affairs.

The last novelty from Germany is a musical bed, which receives the weary body, and immediately "laps it into Elysium." is an invention of a mechanic in Bohemia, den mechanism, a pressure upon the bed played, which continues long enough to bull the most wakeful to sleep. At the head of the bed is a clock, the hand of which being placed at the hour the sleeper wishes to rise. when the time arrives, the bed plays a march of Spontini, with drums and cymbals, and, in short with noise enough to rouse the seven sleepers.

Wasitington, Sept. 15.—The President has ordered the further postponement of the Kansas land sales till July next. The reason for this, is stated to be in the financial pressure of the country, and consequent inability of the settlers to prove and pay for the preordering the sales in November. The lands comprise three millions acres.

The Pres dent has ordered the new Land.

Holloway's Pills .-- A disease without a name.—How often do we see persons gradually pining away without pain or any distinct indicaions of disease! They grow more feeble every day, their appetite declines, they lose all interest in business, and with lack-justre eyes and endaverous complexions, move mechanically from place to place, the very impersonation of hopeless misery. For want of a better name we will call this atrophy, or marasmus, or general weakness and debility. Now learn how it may in all cases be cured. A course of Holloway's Pills will infallibly rekindle the sinking physical energies of the patient, rouse his whole organization to healthy action, and produce a complete revolution in his feelings as well as his frame. Their alterative and renovating properties can only be realized by those who have experienced their effects. 1w.
