

A Rat in the Cars.

A fat woman in trouble. A day or two since, just after the express train left Stanford, where it had been delayed a few minutes, to Wood and Water, a rat ran from one corner of the car amidst the feet of the passengers. As soon as it was known that there was a rat on the floor of the car, considerable excitement took place among the ladies, and a scuffle took a sudden rise. The passengers struck at the rat as he dodged from one side to the other, with their umbrellas and canes, but without effect—the old rat successfully avoided all the kicks and thrusts, and disappeared under the seat of a fat woman, who sat on one end of the car, half asleep. A committee of one self-appointed policeman, the fat lady's property, suggested that she should be taken to the station to enable them to find the rat. Now, it is no easy matter for a two-hundred and fifty pounder, encumbered by a huge mass of crinolines, to rise at a moment's notice; therefore, she declined. She was duly informed of the state of affairs and of the critical position which she occupied in the eyes of the public. Again she made a second attempt to dismount from her position, till a broader and more comprehensive plan was available. Various suggestions as to the rat's whereabouts were made by the boys, in audible whispers, which made the fat woman blush like a fall blown rose, and to get her eyes open. Many of the passengers seemed to have an idea of their own, which was quite amusing—lips were compressed—cheeks expanded—leaves, worth twenty-five dollars to untold fortunes, were exhibited.

There was a silence deep as death, and the holdout held his breath.

For a time.

But that was decidedly short, for at this point, the lady in question gave a roll which made the car fairly groan, one or two spasmodic kicks, and the two hundred and fifty pounder shot out of her seat like a skyrocket, upsetting babies and landowners, creating confusion and chaos, landing about six feet from her seat, upon a little old man, whom she nearly smothered, besides knocking off his wig and otherwise disarranging his toilet—upon which she remarked to herself, that she had better "simmer down" and join the circus. After vigorously shaking her dress, amidst the laughter of the passengers, she regained her seat, and the huge mass of crinolines commenced to settle to their places and quiet once more restored, when the boys, whose mischiefness must be somewhat largely developed, burst into a horse laugh. The effect was like a spark in a magazine, the whole car exploded, and the fat woman joined in and laughed as heartily as the merriest. Her jolly old sides shook up and down and the car springs vibrated, keeping exact time. But what became of the rat is a question—Harvard Times.

Quizzing a Quizzor.

A professional gentleman of our acquaintance has hanging in his room a fine large colored engraving of the head of a quadruped, vulgarly known as a jackass. Not long since a friend of his dropped in, and stopping before the picture, gazed intently upon it for a few moments, and then sung out abruptly, and as he imagined, very wittily:

"Hallo, doctor, is that your portrait?"

"Oh, no," replied the doctor coolly, "that's simply a looking glass."

The anxious inquirer suddenly discovered that he had some business down the street, and departed.

EAR AND EYE.

Deafness, Total or Partial Entirely Removed! Dr. H. ENWOOD has to call the attention of those suffering with either a total or partial loss of hearing to the following facts: He treats diseases of the middle and internal ear with medicated douches, such as are practised in the Infirmary, Leipsic, Brussels, and St. Petersburg; and lately by the most distinguished London Aurists, with the most wonderful success; indeed, it is the only method that has been universally successful.

The best proof of the efficacy of this treatment will be a reference to nearly one hundred names, residents of the United States, Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, who have been restored to acute hearing, and not a single solitary case, where the disease failed to effect either a partial or total restoration of hearing when his advice and instructions were faithfully adhered to. Many who could not bear the report of a pistol at arm's length, can now hear a watch beat, with the distance of four feet, in the case of mucus accumulation in the Eustachian Tube and Tympanum, inflammation of the mucous membrane, nervous affections, diseases of the membrana tympani, called "the drum," or when the hearing is lost by the use of mercury, or other colds, the use of opium or mercurial medicines, gatherings in the ears in childhood, &c., this treatment stands pre-eminent. When the auditory canal is dry and scaly, with little or no hearing, the discharge of mucus, accompanied by noise in the ear, like falling water, chirping of insects, ringing of bells, rustling of leaves, continual pulsations, a discharge of matter; or when in stopping a sensation is felt as if a rush of wind had been directed upon the face, when the hearing is less acute in dull cloudy weather, or when cold has been taken, this method of treating the disease is infallible. In deaf and dumb cases, my experience has led me to say that if the hearing was lost any time, it may be accomplished. In the deaf and dumb schools at Leipsic, out of a class of 14, I succeeded in restoring four to acute hearing.

Dr. E. Enwood guarantees that in those cases where the hearing is lost, a successful result—complete restoration of the sense, or such a marked improvement as will be perfectly satisfactory, if his remedies are faithfully applied and the directions adhered to. He guarantees that if the hearing is not restored, he will refund the money. He is a successful practitioner in the treatment of the Deaf and Dumb, and what they suppose to have been the cause of the deafness. The hearing is restored, it is expected that those in easy circumstances will contribute liberally.

CONSUMPTION.

A New and Important Discovery in its Treatment. In which the use of Hypophosphites of Lime, &c., has been found to be most efficacious, almost surpassing belief. Except where actual lesion of the lungs exists, this treatment is successful even in the third stage. The undersigned is the only Physician in the United States who is conversant with this practice. I have also recourse to—

Inhalation in Consumption. Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and other diseases of the Chest and Throat, successfully treated by the Inhalation of the Vapor of Eucalyptus, by absorption and constitutional treatment. The unprecedented success which has attended this method of treating diseases of the Lungs and Throat, has induced the physician to depart from their usual course, and to make them the columns of the press to make it known to such as may be laboring under, or predisposed to, such affections. The drawing of a brighter day has at length arrived for the consumptive; the doctrine of the incurability of Consumption has now passed away. We have indubitable proof in our possession, that consumption in all its stages can be cured; in the first, by the tubercular absorption; in the second, by the transformation of tubercle into chalky and calcareous concretions; in the third, by cicatrization or scars. Those wedded to the opinions of the past may assert that it is even now incurable; such are behind the age. To all persons, then, this great truth must be apparent; viz: that medicines inhaled directly into the lungs, whether in the form of vapor or powder, must be more effectual than that taken into the stomach. In short, the only safe, reliable, and comprehensive, is inhalation, and such additional means as the judicious physician will avail himself.

Such of the profession as have adopted inhalation have found it soothing and efficacious in the highest degree; treating the progress of the disease, and working wonders in many desperate cases; in verily a triumph of our art over this fell destroyer of our species.

NOTE.—Physicians wishing to make themselves acquainted with the practice, are informed that our literature, which we can only refer to as the ingredients used, to such letters as contain a fee.

The fees in all cases of consumption will be $10; on receipt of which the necessary medicine and instruments will be sent. Applicants will please state age, sex, occupation, married or single, how long affected, if any hereditary disease exist in the family, and symptoms generally. Let the name of the town, county and State be plainly written in postage for return answers must be enclosed. Letters, if registered by the Postmaster, are at our risk. Address, H. ENWOOD, M. D., Oct. 1. Brooklyn, New York.

HAMMONTON LANDS.

NEW ENGLAND SETTLEMENT. A rare opportunity of settling farms, on a beautiful spot on the Camden and Atlantic railroad, New Jersey. An old estate has recently been opened for sale, and the first division of 10,000 acres divided up into farms of twenty, thirty, and forty acres. The soil is of the best quality for the production of fruits, grains, &c. The price is $15 to $20 per acre, payable in easy quarterly instalments, within a term of four years, with interest. The terms are made easy, in order to insure the rapid improvement of the land; by enabling every industrious man to buy a farm; it is now being extensively improved by good roads, and some of the best citizens from New England and the West are settling there, and making improvements. It is a scene of the greatest improvement out of Philadelphia. Seventy-five houses have been built in four months. Practical farmers and business men from the length and breadth of the Union are settling there, and an important business place, on account of its being in the midst of a great market. Every article raised upon this land finds an immediate sale. The water is excellent and no such thing as a fever is known in the settlement.

The soil is a sandy or clay loam, with a clay bottom and retentive of manure. It is free of stones and easily worked. It abounds largely in the phosphates, and such is its fertility that from the crops produced both upon this and the large area adjoining under cultivation, it will be found not to be exceeded anywhere in the production of crops most adapted to its market.

The reader may be well aware that the earliest and the best fruits and vegetables come from New Jersey, which are annually exported to the amount of millions of dollars. The land, besides being accessible in every way for fertilizers, has an abundant supply of the best quality of manure.

Lumber and building materials can be had on the spot at a cheap price, and the bricks, being made on the premises, are made easy, in order to insure the rapid improvement of the land; by enabling every industrious man to buy a farm; it is now being extensively improved by good roads, and some of the best citizens from New England and the West are settling there, and making improvements.
