Stoddar at's Brodhead, Supt. Tewksbury, Rev. W. Richardson, S. B. Chase, Esq., Dr. M. H. C. Viil, were the lecturers, teachers, etc. As the report is rather long, and has been a very - long time in finding its way to us, we shall necessarily need a long time to decide whether to print it or not.

TEACHERS' MEETING .- We have received a copy of the proceedings of a meeting of the Students of the Normal School, beld last August, at which a preamble and resolutions were adopted, expressing the deep sense of obligation the Students felt under to Prof. Studdard for his earnest labors in their behalf, and referring to the establishment of a permanent Normal School in the county, by him, as a desirable measure : complimenting the County Superintendent for his efficient services; and extending a welcome to Prof. Brodhead. Had the committee sent the rerort in six weeks ago, it would have possessed much more interest than at this late day. COUNTY FAIR .- The Fair was very well attended, and the display of articles in the various departments much better than had been anticipated. The fourts and vege tables were well worthy of especial notice. Our avighboring-counties were not unrepresented, and among other things exhibited were some specimens of photographs, ambrotypes and daguerreotypes by Prof. Tubbs, of Binghamton, which were as fine as any we over saw. The "faces" were those of Hon. D. S. Dickinson, and other well known citizens of Binghamton, which for their life-like expression and beautiful style of finish were much admired. The ring prepared for exhibiting the speed of horses, was a prominent feature, and attracted a large share of attention. - The new grounds, althe' as yet very Austin. rough, gave far better satisfaction than had been supposed to be possible, judging from the appearance before being fitted up. --- We are as yet unable to obtain the Offi cial-report of the Fair, but have copied the award of premiums from the treasurer's books, and insert it this week.

Manufacture of Steel Pens.

Every school boy recollects having see he name of Joseph Gillott on steel pens. A letter from Birmingham, England, describes the manufactory where they are made. They now sell at sixty conts a gross; whereas when their manufacture first commenced they brought $35 for the same quantity The letter says:

"The steel comes mainly from Sheffield, thin strips of about three inches in width, and is first submitted to a rolling process to reduce it to the required thickness for pens. luis is done by boys and men in a sort of basement, where dust and grease seem to be abundant. The other rooms are generally airy and spacious, and girls and young wo men the employees, numbering five hundred in all. The successive steps in the manufacture are very interesting. One machine-and they are all light in their constructioncuts the pen from the steel strip, anothe stamps it with the manufacturer's name, an other bends it-another splits the point, and scores of small, buzzing grind-stones, from which, by contact with the pen, streams of sparks are emitted, are grinding the pens at the point and along the back, to give them the spring which is necessary.

"This is considered the most important op ration, the one on which the value of the pe is most dependent. The tempering process comes next. The pens are placed in small metalic boxes, and submitted to an intense heat in a great oven. They come out almost maileable as puity. Another application of heat reverses this state, and makes them to brittle for use, while a third applied in a dif ferent form, gives them the temper which the buyer finds them to possess. The process of carnishing is the only one to which they are subjected after being, tempered."
