PHELPS BROWN, the great curer of Consumption, was for several years so badly afflicted by Drapeps in that for a part of the time he was confined to his way was a confined to his pepsia that for a part of the time he was confined to his bed. He was eventually cured by a pre-cription furnished him by a young clairwovant cirl. This pre-cription, given him by a mere child, while in a state of trance, has cured every body who has taken it, mover having failed once.

It is equally sure in cases of Firs as of DYSPEPSIA.

An engraving is here given of the principal herb used in his medicine, and all of the ingredients are to be found in my drug store. I will send this valuable prescription to my person, on the receipt of one samp to pay postage. DR. O. PHELPS BROWN, 21 Grand-st. Jersey City, N. J. All of Dr. O.
