Exhibitors wishing to compete for premiums, must have their animals or articles entered on the Secretary's Book, the first day of the Fair, if possible; and a Card, which will be received from the Secretary, Wm. H. Jessup, must be placed on the animal or article to be exhibited. They must be all on the ground for exhibition by 10 o'clock, a. m., of the second day, or they cannot receive a psemium. No animal or article can be removed before the close of the exhibition, except by permission of one of the Executive Committee. Superintendents of different departments will have all animals and articles systematically arranged. The officers of the society and superintendents will be known by their official badges. No animal is to receive an award in more than one class, except in sweepstake studs and colts.

A more specific programme of the arrangements, and each day's appointed work, time, &c., will be posted up in and about the Fair Grounds.

A sufficient Police force will be in attendance day and night to protect the property of exhibitors. Arrangements are made for all stock over night. There will be a Committee at the entrance of the Fair Grounds to direct all persons driving in stock over night. There will be voluntary Lady and Gentleman driving on the track, at 3 o'clock, p. m. first day. Stock can be entered ten days previous to the Fair by calling on the Secretary, Wm. H. Jessup.

Colts and Mules must be exhibited in stalls, during the exhibition. Hay will be on the ground, and pasture

ADDRESS

DEMOCRATIC STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF PENNA. To the Democracy of Pennsylvania.

In a few weeks you will be called upon to perform the most important duty that est: ever devolved upon you as American citizens. At no time in the history of our country was your action invested with deeper interest nor fraught with greater consequences. Pennsylvania is again the potatoes there will be only a fair crop. hattle ground of the Union; and upon her decision in October next, will depend, in a great measure, the triumph or defeat of the Republican party in November contest. Deeply impressed with this truth, the Democratic State Executive Committee desires briefly to address you. It needs has been harvested in good order. The ciated their dangerous and treasonable sentiments. The advocates of the odious doctrines of Seward, Sumner, Lincon and John Brown, became reckless and defiant. They believed that the prestige of success which had crowned the labors of the Reading Convention was irrevocably broken, and they promptly made the Key-stone State the field of their active and energetic exertions. On our soil the bat-tle is to be fought, and with our people the victory or defeat must be accom-

NEW YORK. Favorable reports are received from all parts of New York State, and wheat, oats and hay have been gathered quite up to the average of former seasons. . .

While the West is full of rejoicing at the magnificence of the harvest, a dark cloud of despondency seems to hang over the Southern States. The long protracted drought has proved most destructive to . the crops, and it is estimated that in cotgia, on the 28th and 29th ultimo. Much of the corn was too far advanced to be materially benefitted by the visitation.

Not for years has so long and so severe a drought been experienced. In some sections no rain has fallen since the 1st of April. This is especially true, of Texas, Louisiana, and Georgia. I learn from a gentleman direct from the northern part of Texas and south-western Missouri, that vegetation in these sections was entirely dried up, and that in many counties in Texas slaves and in some cases their masters, were offering their services for their ability which marks every act of his pub- food alone. Many are leaving for districts less heavily afflicted. In Xhahama, Floriindustrial interests of Pennsylvania in the da, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and Kansas the crops have been not only op-pressed by the drought, but within the last month they have had to struggle for true policy of our State Government; and existence in the face of a sun of almost the conservatism which has always char torridbrilliance and power, dewless nights, and the prevalence (in some parts) of high make him eminently worthy of the support scorching winds, which shriveled up vegand confidence of all who have at heart the The consequence of such weather is obvions. In Kentucky matters look somewhat champion, the State Committee feels that more cheering, but the crop will be much below the average. Tennessee yields finely of tobacco and corn, and the fruit erop will be abundant. Maryland furnishes an average crop of wheat, but both here and in Delaware the peach crop is poor. In fact, peaches will not be near as plentiful this year, and high prices will be the rule.

CONCLUSION. Thus, with the exception of the South, the country has been bountifully blessed with liberal harvests. Notwithstanding a long continued drought, lasting in some sections over two months, the general result has been a larger total of produce than has been gathered in any former ascribed to a more intelligent application by our farmers of the facts elicted by experimental science. At all events let us be thankful to the Giver of all Good for the bounteous provision which enables us not only to supply our own needs, but also to meet the demands which will be certainly made upon us from the old
