To attempt to care bad legs by plastering the edges of the wound together is a folly; for should the skin unite, a borgy diseased condition remains underneath to break out with tenfold fury in a few days. other Fevers.

A NYs of the above diseases may be cured by well rubbing the Ointment, three times a day, into the chest, throat and neck of the patient; it will soon penetrate and give immediate relief. Medicine taken by the mouth must operate upon the whole system ere its influence can be left in any local part, whereas the Ointment will do its work at once. Whoever tries the ungent in the above manner for the diseases named, or any similar disorders affecting the chest and throat, will find themselves rejected us by a charm.

Piles, Fis*tula, Strictures:

The above class of complaints will be removed by hightly fomenting the parts with warm water, and teen most effectually rubbing in the Ontament. Persons suffering from three direful complaints should lose not a moment in arresting their progress! It should be understood that it is not sufficient merely to smear the Ointment on the affected parts, but it must be well rubbed in for some considerable time two or three times a day, that it may taken into the system, whence it will remove any hidden sore or wound as effectually as though palpable to the eye. There again bread and water poultices, after the rubbing in of the Ointment, will do great service. This is to certify, that Mrs. Emory has been affleted for years past with that distressing complaint known as the "Piles," and that having failed in securing relief from various Physicians, she was induced from reports to try Mr. Williams. "Pile Solution," which we obtained at one of his Agencies in Tankitaniock, Pa. The result has been the most favorable. The trial was made with it last fall, and after using as directed for a few days, what we have good reason to think was a pernanent cure was effected. Several other cases of a similar nature in this vicinity have used it with like results. With Mr. Williams motto "no cure no pay" every one thus affleted will certainly do well to try it.

The Tomb of Washington.

In order to determine the truth or falsity of the rumor of the removal of the nains of Washington from the tomb at Mount Vernon, General Sickles despatched three messengers thither on Saturday morning. They left on horseback at nine o'clock, a. m., and crossed the long bridge into Virginia. One quarter of a mile beyond the bridge they met the first picket guard. They were mounted and loaded with breach loading carbines, sabres and party, as they stated they were simple travelers. Every two miles they met mounted scouts, similarly armed to the picket guard. At Alexandria they saw about six hundred troops. They were all well armed and equipped, and seemed to drill well. The party registered their names at the H. BURRITT, at the "Original New Milford Shawland Dress Goods Emporium," is now receiving a Large ready at 5 p. m.; on their return they into the landless of Mount Vernon, and that one of the party would leave for Europe on the following Wednesday, and was desirous of denying the infamous rumor of the removal of Washington's remains. On their departure they were questioned, and had their attention quietly attracted to the fact that one of the party was riding on a United States Government saddle. They pushed on, however, and were allowed to pass the scouts without being detained or suspected, until within about four miles of Mount Vernon.

Here they were evertaken by scouts, and ordered to halt. The scouts then informed them they would accompany them, which they did. In conversation, one of them stated there were seven thousand cavalry in Virginia. At 1 p. m. they arrived at Mount Vernon, want to the house, and then proceeded to examine the tomb. They found it had never been molested; cobwebs were on the bars of the gate, weeds had grown up from the ground in the interior of the vault, and the party received from Mr. Williamson, who was one of the scouts, and a member of the Loudon Cavalry, a certificate that they had visited the tomb, and telling pickets to pass them, as they were from the South, and were going to Washington to contradict the infamous libel on the State of Virginia. They also visited the grounds. They met a carpenter who was engaged in repairing the house, and he stated that there had been no soldiers there. The party then left, and took the outskirts of Alexandria on their way home. They were at last met by the pickets near the Long Bridge, and showed the scout's pass, after being 10½ hours in the saddle, and having ridden over forty-six miles. What will the Virginians think when they learn that Mr. Frost, a member of the sixth company, New York Seventh Regiment; Capt. Van. Nest, New York Seventy-first Regiment; and Dr. Raulings, of Sickles Brigade, were the party?

WHAT IS MARTIAL LAW? -At the present crisis the significance of a term so much used, and with so little accurate sense of its meaning, becomes unusually important. Bouvier defines martial law as "a code established for the government of the army and navy of the United States, ' whose principal rules are to be found in the articles of war, prescribed by act of Con-gress. But Chanceller Kent says this definition applies only to military law, while martial law is quite a distinct thing, and is founded on paramount necessity, and proclaimed by a military chief. Martial law is generally and vaguely, held to be a suspension of all ordinary civil rights and process, and as such approximates closely to military despotism. It is an arbitrary law, originating in emergencies. In times of extreme peril to the State, either from without or from within, the public welfare demands extraordinary measures. And martial law being proclaimed, signifies that the operation of the ordinary legal delays of justice is suspended by the military power, which has for the time become supreme. It suspends the operation of the writ of habens corpus; enables persons charged with treason to be summarily tried by court-martial instead of grand jury; justifies searches and seizure of private property, and the taking possession of public highways and other means of communication. Involving the highest exercise of sovereignty, it is, of course, capable of great abuse, and is only to be justified on emergencies of the most imperative and perilous nature.
