BUSINESS CARDS.

WE HUNTTING COOPER RENET DRIVERS. WM. H. COOPER & CO., BANKERS,—Montross, Pa. Successors to Post, Coope & Co. Office, Lathrops new building, Turnpike-st.

McCOLLUM & SEARLE; TTORNEYS and Counsellors at Law, Montrose, P. Office in Lathrops' new building, over the Bank.

HENRY B. McKEAN. A TTORNEY and Counsellor at Law.—Towarda: Pa

DR. E. F. WILMOT, CRADUATE of the Allopathic and Homeopathic Col-Ut leger of Medicine.—Great Bend, Pa. Office, corner of Main at 1 Elizabeth etc, nearly opposite the Methodiat hands

DR. G. Z. DIMOCK,

HYSICIAN AND SUBGEON, --Montrose, Pa. Omer over Wilsona' Store; Lodgings at Scarle's Hotal. DR. WILLIAM. W. WHEATON, ECLECTIC PHYSICIAN & SURGEON DENTIST.
WITH DR. MYRON WHEATON. Mechanical and Surgical Dentiet, recently of Binghamton, N. Y. tender their professional services to all who appreciate the "Reformed Practice of Physic;" careful and spillful operations on Teeth; with the most scientific and approved styles of platework. Teeth extracted without pain and all work warranted.

Jackson, June 14th, 1800.

DR. H-SMITH & SON,

DRS. OLMSTEAD & READ.

WOULD ANNOUNCE to the Public that they have entered into a partnership for the Practice of MEDICINE & Surgery, DR. N. Y. LEET,

Physician and Surgeon, Friendsville, Pa. Office opposite the Jackson House: D. L. L. RET gives particular attention to the treatment of diseases of the kan and Krg; and is confident that his knowledge of and experience in that branch of practice will enable him to effect a cure in the most difficult cases. For treating diseases of these organs no fee will be charged unless the patient is benefited by the treatment.

[August 50th, 1860.

SOUTHWORTH & VADAKIN, ANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS in Italian and American Marbie for Monuments, Headstones, Tomb-Tables, Mantles, Sinks and Centre-Tables, Also dealers in Marbielzed State for Mantles, Centre-Tables, activation of the Marbielzed State for Mantles, Centre-Tables, activation of the Marbielzed State for Mantles, Centre-Tables, activation of the Marbielzed State of Searle's Hotel on Turnpiles, activation of the Marbielzed State of Searle's Hotel on Turnpiles, street, Montrose, Pa.

WM. A. SNOW, JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.—Great Bend, 'Pa. Office on Main street, opposite the Western House. apd JOHN SAUTTER, PASHIONABLE TAILOR.—Montrose, Ps. Shop over I. N. Bullard's Grocery, on Main-street.

Thankful for past favors, he solicits a continuance pledging himself to do all work satisfactorily. Cut-ting done on short notice, and warranted to fit.
Montrose, Ps., July 2th, 1850.—tf. P. LINES,

ASHIONABLE TAILOIL—Montrose, Pa. Shop.
In Phonix Block, over store of Read, Warrous & Foster. All work warranted, so to fit and finish.
Cutting done on short notice, in beat style. jan '80 JOHN GROVES,

ASIHONABLE TAILOR,—Montrose, Pa. Shep near the Baptist Meeting House, on Turnpike treet. All orders filled promptly, in first-rate style. L. B. ISBELL, EPAIRS Clocks, Watches, and Jewelry at the thortest notice, and on reasonable terms. All work warranted. Shop in Chandler and Jessup store, MoNTROSE, Pa. octot WM. W. SMITH & CO., (ABINET AND CHAIR MANUFACTURERS, -- Foot of Main street, Montrose, Pa. aug tf

C. O. FORDHAM. WANUFACTURER of BOOTS & SHOES, Montrose, IVI Pa. Shop over Tyler's store. All kinds of work made to order, and repairing done neatly. je2 y

ABEL TURRELL, FALER in Drura, Medicines, Chemicals, Dys Stuffs, Glass Ware, Paints, Olis, Varnish, Windows Glass, Groceries, Pancy Goods, Jeweiry Perfumery, &c.—Agent for all the most popular PATENT MEDICINES,—Montrose, Pa. aug II

PROF. CHARLES MORRIS,

PARBER and Hair Dresser. Montrose, Pa. Shop in basement of S-ar's Hotel. HAYDEN BROTHERS,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN YANKEE NOTIONS FANCY GOODS. NEW MILFORD, PA.

P.E. BRUSH, M.D.

HAVING NOW LOCATED PERMANENTLY, AT Springville,

Office at &. Lathrop's Hotel. AT SMITH'S! NEW MILFORD, PA., IS THE PLACE TO BUY YOUR

HARNESSES. CHEAP FOR CASH. AND GET THE WORTH OF YOUR MONEY

HOME INSURANCE COMPANY,

Of New-York.

CASH CAPITAL, ONE MILLION DOLLARS. ABSETTS 1st July 1800. $1,481,819.27. LIABILITIES, " 43,088.68.

J. Milton Smith, Sec'y. Chas. J. Martin, President, John McGee, Ast " A. F. Wilmarth, Vice " Policies issued and renewed, by the undersigned, at his fice, one door above Searie's Hotel, Montrose, Pa BILLINGS STROUD, Ageil, H. BURRITT HAS just received a large stock of new Stoves, for Cooking, Parlor, Office and Shop purposes, for Wooder Coal, with Stove Pipe, Zinc, &c.

His assortment is select and desirable, and will be sold on the most favorable terms for Cash, or to Prompt Six Months Prosess.

Dandelion Coffee. HEALTHY beverage. One pound of this Coffice will make as much as two pounds of other Coffee. For ABEL TURRELL.

MEDICAL CARD F. WILLIAM E. M. D., Graduate
L. of the Aliopatic and Homeopathic Colleges of Medicine, would redurchis sincere thanks to the people of Gr.
Bend and vicinity as the very liberal patronage with which they have he for him; and he hopes by a strict attention to businessvorederit a liberal share of the public confidence.

Great Bend, January 23d, 1861.

TAKE NOTICE! Sheep Petts, Fox. Mink, Muckrat, and all kinds of re. A good assortment of Lesther and Botts and one constantly on hand. Office, Tannery, & thop on Montrose, Feb. 6th. A. P. &L. C. REBLER

ALT, by the Barrel, Sack or Found.

MONIBUSE DEMORRATE

We Join Ourselves to no Party that Does not Carry the Flag and Keep Step to the Music of the Whele Union.

VOL. 18.

MONTROSE, PA., THURSDAY, AUGUST 15, 1861.

DESPERATE DEBORAH.

Mr. Jones and I were chatting about There we are, twelve men, observed the Chairman, and there's a porter outthe Chairman, and there's a porter outside. Surely we can manage one woman, observed the Chairman, and there's a porter outside. Surely we can manage one woman, officer. But you would not, though, he added. She was before your time. A beautiful creature she was, most certainly!

ive while I'm Relieving Officer. What's become of her?'

Well, sir, it's not a very long one What's the good of that sort of talk?'
Deborah Tomkinson was the daughter of was the disdainful counterquestion. reserved and very cross. Only one man book at a sawy school-boy, who was netticulars of himself, and Tornkinson replied shows the saw of the by carching the man by the throat, and said the Chairman. put to Tomkinson any similar question.—

Well, Deborah was his daughter.

Was a wonder in two ways. First, she was a perfect giantess, fully six feet high, if we give you two and sixpence a week, borhood deemed Frank a lunatic, but he and broad in proportion, and her arms you'll be able to get on.' were like a strong blacksmith's. Second- 'Not enough!' ly, her temper was the most violent you can imagine. The feast thing set her in fight and left, in a way to demolish everything around her. She and her father thing around her. She and her father thing around her. She and her father thing around her the marriage, I was told she had much improved, and that she and her husband agreed admiration is merely relative, and all that science can safely do is to ascribe it to an carly, though not to the very earliest, was informed by a gentleman. and are prepared to attend to all calls in the line of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of their profession. Office—the one formerly occupied by Dr. J. C. of the occup titute. One day she made her appearance at the Union office. I was out. Mr. Flack attended to her!

'I wan relief.'

'Sorry it's come to that, Deborah,' replied the Assistant mildly; you must appear before the Board on Thursday. Do for it.'

you need anything in the meantime?'

And so we were. I saw Debois'i's Of course I do. I want bread and eyes glisten. The guardians shuffled unleast and beer. Do I look as though I easily in their seats.

And who are you provided the control of the same of tern loaf, just for the present, and when a manner truly ominous. Mr. Jones----'

Take the-bread, and as I've told you, So here goes. when Mr. Jones----' 'Give me the loat,' she interrupted.

ed by a ladder, and handing it to her.

bread. And there, as she had moved the than endeavoring to restrain her.

kitten, not yet able to jump. But this was only the beginning. of conducting war had this leading char had come to our aid, ungallantly grasped acteristic—Strike the enemy at all times, the enemy's legs and Deborah descended was not to be contemplated, if it could be arrived to-I am almost ashamed to say avoided, the enemy invariably sought saetwin flight. I remember my extreme astonishment at seeing on the Wednesday There was no other mode of doing it. prior to the Thursday on which she was to be examined by the guardians, a highly respectable guardian, named Tourneville (a Frenchman) trotting along the street, ike a madman. distance, and-well I dont mind owning be lost. At length, however, Deborah it—I was out of the way in two seconds. Instead of keeping it, he sent me a note, which ran thus:

DEAR SIR: I am quite precluded by circumstances from coming to you-Truly yours,

J. TOURNEYILLE. over.

vonder ? The moment I was in the house, master clutched me by the orm,

'Haven't been out, not one vard. the morning,' he said in a subdued tone, 'Not ill, I hope,' I said.
'No, not sick,' he replied; 'hut, but, ook here—see what you see, not far off, I descried the terrible De on Deborah's bonnet, which entirely alborah, evidently keeping a lynx eye upon tered its fashion, without trouble to the he house.

'This was left here this day.' aper. I read as follows:

arise, if, in her case, we deviated from was utterly astonished. I couldn't help 'Here we are, twelve men,' observed

I never had to deal with one like her, and sions would have excited extreme admir-I sincerely trust such another may not ar ation. She gazed at us defiantly. Mr. Potts, who was sitting close to where she stood, remembered some instructions

'Oh, she married at last, and is now live which be ought to have given to his sera very humble shopkeeper in Bramblestone, a widower. Who John Tomkinson was, and where he came from, nobody ever knew. He was, an elderly manyery nearly strangling him. No one after that , 'Then you please to talk reasonable.'

not in her presence, though, I should re- of; but, unluckily, there sat in the corner, mark. I scarcely think there was a man at the furthest distance of anybody from in the place who would so have styled our excitable customer, a guardian of the he asked. her within her hearing.

The father died; Deborah was left deswho must needs chime in as follows:

either take the half crown or leave it, just of the next street, on the left.' as you like. We can't stop here all day discussing the point with you.' The Chairman grouned audibly.

And so we were. I saw Debora'r's

'And who are you, pray?' screamed the 'Can't say you do, Deborah,' replied Mr. playful maiden, her arms working, her Flack. 'Well, I'll give you a half-quar- fingers twirling, and her head nodding in history of London. It is true that the search has yet been confined 'Now, Deborah, interposed the Chair-was but a little man; be reasonable.— I've let him see what Deborah can do.— Crown; but, luckily, I stumbled on a clue whether they appeared in Asiatic, Eurpe-

'it's no figure of speech to say that this am.' There, there's a nice one,' said Mr. scene which ensued beggared all de-Flack, with a sickly smile, taking one scription. The amiable young lady made conclusion, I believe he had really an exfrom off a very high shelf, which he reach- first a furious plunge to reach Mr. Rub- cellent wife, and every source of quiet 'Thank you; I am so grateful,' was De- for his thoughtlessness, to have surren natured, kind-hearted, Mrs. Spivil laugh borah's reply; and, as she uttered it, with one bound she was over the counter. dered him to her. But we, nevertheless, over the recollections of 'Desperate Debound she was over the counter. interposed and a general fight ensued. oral,'" one bound she was over the counter.

That shelf wants an ornament, cried And for a minute or so the twelve men the gentle member of the fair sex. It shall actually got the worst of it. For you see have one; and in an instant, she had Mr. the frenzied woman pummelled into us course of a few minutes, nervously peep who were ruthlessly pounded were absoing over, after the manner of a very young lutely dreadful. Somehow or other, Deborah's bare arms always slipped from De- our hold and then the released members war against the Union authorities, and which would have delighted the heart of she carried it on with vigor. Her mode a prize fighter. At length the porter, who and under all circumstances.' She no to the floor with a force which shook the sooner caught-sight of anybody having building. But to keep her prostrate was any connection with the Union, than she no small difficulty and, in despair we were made after him; and as a battle with her ultimately obliged, until further assistance

'Sit upon her, I suppose, Mr. Jones.' 'Well, that was actually the case.'-'And what was done with her afterwards.?

Oh! we had her up before the magistrates, and she had ten days imprisongasping, groaning, and ejaculating in a ment, with hard labor. Her time ended, 'Go away, go away,' he shouted vehe- apartments, captured his good lady, whom mently. 'Not stop me, dear Mr. Jones, she discovered alone, carried her to a she discovered alone, carried her to a not stop me; and he plunged forward coal-cellar, and locked her up; and to release her, such a contest ensued, that it I looked round and saw Deborah in the | really appeared that a life or two would found her master, and strange to say, she I had an appointment with Mr. Tourne- did so in a little man, whom you would ville that afternoon at the Union House. have thought she could crush with a hug. 'There lived at that time in Bramblehe jogged on in the world much more comfortably than his fellows. Good ing talking to me at the Union counter, since walked in. She was evidently in a mis-tone, chievous mood, and the first thing she did ploy of the City Railroad Company, with was, as Frank was a little in her way, to whom there was no danger of a repetition take off his cap, and fling it into the street. of the fare contretemps. Jerusha consid-Frank said not a word, but fetched his ers herself insulted now, and her friends I looked from the front window, and, cap, and on his return he bestowed a slap cannot repress a smile, when any wicked bonnet-maker. The result was a furious Just you read, said Mr. Tourneville, battle, I need not trouble you sir with and he put into my hand a dirty scrap of the elevating details. I didn't interfere, and in a few minutes the contest ended in Deborah being stretched on the ground.

seeing Frank, and remonstrating with him. He Lucky Frank !- to be entering in such a preposterous alliance.

But why not!' he asked calmly. 'Mercy on me!' I exclaimed. must be mad even to think of it. 'There's nothing against her but her temper, and she is such a wonderfully fine woman! Yes you know I mastered

Here was the secret. The giantess was an object of unqualified admiration 'Oh, she married at last, and is now live wind us quague to use a lady, over in Tarnsey yonder. vant, and left us.

Her poverty was brought to a close in a good-humoredly, 'what can we do for length came to feel an odd sort of affection for her. to little Frank; and then having conquered her in a struggle had so delighted him, But is she willing to have you?

asked.

Cupid,' I hope and trust the next person wanted after the priest won't be the cor-

'They were married. The whole neigh-borhood deemed Frank a lunatic, but he had his way. I am bound to admit the truth, there was nothing against Deborah quarrelled fearfully. All the people in very well to this point, and if left to be month, I was informed by a gentleman, a stages of the pleistocene epoch. Whether came to be called 'Desperate Deborah,' would have been satisfactorily disposed to me. He came in.

'Have you a young woman in your workhouse named Deborah Tomkinson?' 'We had a short time ago,' I replied .-'Her name is now Spivil. She is married 'My good woman, you know you can to a carpenter, whose shop is at the end

> 'It's, over this affair.' 'May I ask it's nature?' 'Yes; it's no secret. This young woman I take it from information Pve re-self. Not a human bone has been detectkinson, of London. It seems the brothers to a small portion of Europe; but the fact quarrelled in early life, and all communi- is somewhat significant, and forbids any Mr. Jones—'

'Give me a half-quartern loaf?' screamed the young lady. 'What's the good of that? Come, I must have half-a-crown! Better call me 'Desperate Deborah,' at once. Ah! I know what you call me.—
'Now, Deborah' urged Mr. Flack, gent-ly, for there was no help handy, and he ly, for there was no help handy, and he ly was but a little man: 'he reasonable.—'Now, Deborah interposed the Chair quarrelled in early life, and all communication ceased between them. My client, an old bachelor, is recently dead, and in his will he leaves to his brother or child. Till this is done, and till bones and craula have been found and exhumed, it will be impossible to decide the ethnographic for a while that the whole would go to the character of these early men, or to say whether they appeared in Asiatic Europe.

> 'Lucky Frank! sir,' said Mr. Jomes, in bles; and it would have served him right happiness. You should hear the good-

Collecting the Fare. Jerusha came into the city yesterday, Flack in her arms, and had deposited him with her fists, while we, although writh to see her cousin. Jerusha had never in on the shelf whence he had taken the ing under her blows forbore doing more her life ridden in a horse car, so Jeduthan took her to Cottage Grove to see the soler corroborations for their hypothesis ladder, I found him on my return in the yells from the unfortunate dozen of men diers. Jerusha is a fair maiden to look than is yet afforded by discoveries and inupon. Jerusha has been told the same dications of geology.—[From Page's past by her sweetheart as often as twice, and, and Present Life of the Globe." as a natural consequence, and as the mirror reflected the same insinuation, Jerusha borah the Desperate had now declared inflicted blows upon her nearest foes, knows that she is fair. Well, this subject must have been running in the country the following in its "Sharp-shooter, colgirl's head yesterday. Jeduthan had umn : was conductor. He appeared to be any the front and centre, march!' thing but that. Not receiving the money the branch of trade from which such com-No change again, but a deep blush o'er- panies have been drawn will be indicated double-bed already occupied by a son of gasping, groaning, and ejaculating in a ment, with hard labor. Her time ended, spread the already rosy cheeks of the pretto the shrewd observer by their style of the Emerald Isle a miner from the neighborn, inquiring the cause of his perturbation.

Therefore, one ductor repeated for the third time. "Do stance:

Therefore, one ductor repeated for the third time. "Do stance:

Therefore, one ductor repeated for the third time. "Do stance:

Therefore, one ductor repeated for the third time. "Do stance:

Therefore, one ductor repeated for the third time. "Do stance:

Therefore, one ductor repeated for the third time. "Do stance: day, she found her way to the master's you think so?" was the unexpected and Printers-Knock him into pi! Smash Astonished query. "They say, out in his form! Lead him well! At him with a agreed to sleep with Pat for the night and was shown into the room by Boninone handsomer around!, This capped Carpenters—At him full chisel! Shave the climax, and the whole crowd male and him down! female, in the car, burst into a fit of eachination hard to beat, as the modest con- basting! ductor and innocent rustic, the one standing petrified, dumbfounded, and the other foul of him ! Sink him! sitting with that pleased, simple expression, and that carnation hue still resting Peg away at him! Close him up! stone, a young carpenter named Spivil. on her cheek, looking each other in the Fishermen—Split him He used to be called Lucky Frank, from countenance inquiringly, and at a loss Hook him in the gills! on her cheek, looking each other in the Fishermen-Split him and salt him!the circumstance that though not partice to know why the people laughed, and ularly clever, industrious or persevering, what they had said or done to create such Hammer it into him! a rumpus. At this juncture, Jeduthan 'Very odd!' thought I, as I trudged be always falling into 'Lucky Frank.'
ver. 'Why should I go the back way, I this enviable person was one day standwith his fair Jerusha, and concluded to came up, perceived the mistake his fair on to him We're just the size for have slept with a Judge, would you not?" cousin had made, paid the fare, and imme- him! wait awhile before going to camp. They its when Deborah who had been discharged took the next street car, which as good from the house a few days previously, luck would have it, was managed by the > one calls her "fare," [Chicago Times.

-The following notice was found posted on the hullstin of a Western post-office np Nick Whiffles way; "Lost—a red kal. He had a white spot on 1 of bhind, back among the riversilts, and peat-bogs can be thrown away:

First Tra ces of Primeval Man.

and cave-carths, we discover his treeand cave-carths, we discover his treestone implements and weapons, his treecanoes, and the embers of the fire which of Holland one day received a visit from vate property, and collecting a crowd canoes, and the embers of the fire which of Holland one day received a visit from around him."

Policeman—"Getting grungs: connected to be appoint. that just as the mammoths and mastodons drop away, and the horse, ox, goat and which is very little." I will give her sheep begin to spread over Europe in infour hundred floring, aire." Well, we ereasing numbers, so the traces of prime-shall see. creasing numbers, so the traces of prime-val man become more frequent and unmis-takeable. In all likelihood—nay, it is all but certain, that over the plains and through the forces of the Old World man hunted shall see.

Come again in a week: The young brought me into this state. I like to know the war news. I read all the dispatch— appears said the King, "that the connect of the Old World man hunted tion is a good one; your competitor now I lost my reason. The second edition the Irish deer and speared the mammoth, years ago, we cannot by any known data determine though this much is evident, that the amount of change since effected on the physical and vital world, as well as the course of civilization itself, would, at the current rates of progress, require o a carpenter, whose shop is at the end for their elimination a much more extended the next street, on the left.'

Oh! very well; that's all right. Bless here it may be remarked, that while in my heart ! what a deal of trouble I've had these superficial accumulations we find frequent traces of primeval man-his stone implements, tree-canoes, &c .- we rarely to John Tomkinson's movements, ascer an, or American species, and consequents. Upon my word, sir,' said Mr. Jones, tained the place of his death, and here I ly arose from various creative centres, or were merely time distributed varieties of tate? single and one-created form. Geology, as far as the facts have been collated, gives no countenance to the idea of a plurality of creative centres. On the contrary, the sameness of the stone implements, wherever they have been found, evinces a similarity of idea—the same conception and the same design. Those, therefore, who, disregarding the units of language, mental constitution and religious sentiment of the human race, will still contend for several creative centres, must seek oth-

Those Mechanics Again. The Boston Commercial Bulletin has found an acquaintance at the other end of "The regiments of the Northern army, the car, with whom he was busy discuss- it is well known, contain practical mechaning the war, when the bashful and very ics of every branch of trade, as well as arpolite conductor came around for his tists, mechanics, clerks, and men of every tickets and small change. Conductor walk of business; so that when a comman-stepped up to Jerusha, and said, "Your der wished a bridge built, a locomotive refare, miss!" And he said it in such a paired, or a pair of boots mended, he firds fascinating, tripping style, we thought it a ready response to his order of Carpenno matter of wonder that the maiden ters step to the front !" 'Machinists, two flowing when Judge B., arrived and askblushed slightly. She did not know he paces forward, march!' Shoemakers, to ed the landlord for a room.

look him in the gills! ing election Conversing for some time af Blacksmiths—Let him have it red hot! ter getting into bed, the Judge said

Barber-Our dander is up ! Now for a good brush! Give him a good lather- 'Ould Counthry' before ye'd been a Judge, Bakers-He (k) needs working over! Let's do him brown, boys! Glaziers Smash the awful set! Let's do our puttiest!

Lawyers-Be brief with him! Get his head in Chancery! Stick him with-the costs Machinists-Set his runing gear in mo. of the two armies often approach

Bill Posters—Stick him to the wall!

Musical Instrument Makers—His notes arms, and meeting each other half way—re all spoiled! String him up!

take a sociable drink! are all spoiled! String him up!

Marriage of Convenience. And it is just in this palpable approach to existing nature [the uppermost tertiadic ries] that we begin to detect the earliest trace of human species. First, and far back among the riversits and peat-bogs and cave-carths. We discover his made on the part back among the riversits and peat-bogs and cave-carths. We discover his made on the part back among the riversits and peat-bogs and cave-carths. We discover his made on the part back among the riversits and peat-bogs and cave-carths. We discover his made on the part back among the riversits and peat-bogs and cave-carths.

NO. 32

sustain. Side by side with these remains, ed as successor to a notary deceased on occasionally lie bones of the mamoth, rhinoceros, and Irish deer; but whether these may not have been washed up, drifted and re-assorted from earlier deposits is a question not always easily determined. mined. However the question may be ul-timately answered, one thing is certain minutes before you came who offered her a pension of four hundred francs a year, just as at a later period, and in the same region, he lassoed the wild horse, and impounded the usus and buffalo. With regard to this subject, however—viz: the first appearance of man—much unnecessary discussion has taken place, and a great deal of uneasy tenderness displayed. Like other events in geological history, we have at present no means of assigning to it. much. "I venture, however, to ask your Majesty to grant me the favor of suspending your decision for a week longer.

The delay was granted, but when the young man came for the fourth time, his Majesty could not help saying with some "It is useless, sir, to say anything more;

your rival has not hesitated to offer a pension of a thousand florins; will you do as much for the widow?" "I beg your parofficer not to read any more newspapers, don, sire, I will do more—I am about to and above all, no more despetches from marry her. Here is her written consent.

King William was so much diverted with this place-hunting expedient that he de-termined the Queen should immediately share his amusement, and the hero of the adventure accordingly had the honor of relating all the particulars to their majesties, who laughed most heartily at the story. This model place-hunter afterwards, became an exceedingly successful man in his business.

Questions for the People:

Will the civil war in which our country s engaged save the Union?
Will it preserve the Constitution?
Will it benefit the people of the North and West? Will it benefit the slaves of the South Will it restore the era of good feeling and friendship between the people of the various States which existed in the past? Has it not ruined the commerce of the country? Has it not decreased the value of farm products-of wheat, corn and market products? Has it not thrown thousands of men out of employment? Has it not thrown thousands of women out of employment? Has it not already brought lamentations and Mourning to the households of a great many? Will it not cause exorbitant taxation for years to come? Have we thus far derived any good what ever from this war?

Will not our troubles in the end have to be settled by a treaty of peace—a compromise between the sections? Would not an immediate, honorable peace be preferable to a continuance of the war? What are the American people fighting Is revenge so sweet as to recompense us for destroying ourselves in order to destroy the people of the South? PAT AND THE JUDGE. - Shasta being at the head of Wo-haw navigation, the hotels in this flourishing town were full to over-

The landlord greatly regretted the fact with Judge B. by reputation.

The Judge, making a virtue of necessity Carpenters-At him full chisel! Shave face, who waked Pat and told him who was to be his bed fellow. Pat was agreed. Tailors-Sew him up! Give him a good | The landlord retired, and the Judge com-Sailors—Smash in his top lights! Run and reminding Pat of the great honor of which he was about to be the recipient, Shoemakers-Give him a welting! and at the same time talking of the Ould Counthry" and preparing Pat to give to him, the Judge, his support at the com-

"Pat, you would have remained a long Painters A little more lead! Lay it time in the old country before you doubt "Yis, yer Honor," said Pat, "and I think yer Honor would have been in the

-too ?" The Judge walked up next morning and looked at himself in the glass to see whether a bad night's rest had injured his looks.

- A Funny War. - Letter writers from Western Virginia state that the pickets

JOB PRINTING of ALL RINDS.

DONE AT THE OFFICE OF THE DEMOCRAT

MEATLY AND PROMPTLY AND AT "LIVE AND LET LIVE" PRICES THE office of the Montrose Demograt

has recently been supplied with a new and choice variety of type, etc., and we are now prepared to print pamphil is circulars, etc., etc., in the best style, on short notice, Handbills, Posters, Programmes, ac.: Business, Wedding, and Ball CARLO

Jinstices' and Constables' Blanks, Notes Deeds, and all other Blanks, on hand, or printed to order Job work and Blanks, to be paid for on delivery.

TELEGRAPHICALLY DRUNK .- A citizen

Mr. Erskine, (arising painfully)—That's a mistake, a calumny beyond description. I was not drunk, I am not drunk, I shall not and will not be drunk. I never drink anything but water; ask Thompson. In order to prove to you I have my senses perfectly, I will proceed to sing the Star-spangled Banner without missing a note.

Gotspianohère?

The Judge—"Poor lunatic?"

Mr. Erskine—"Indeed, that's more'n likely. Reading the newspapers has brought me into this state. I like to know promises to give the Widow five hundred contradicts the first; the third contrayour liquor—you go swallowing, without knowing how much you take."

Judge—"So you have been mixing your liquor then?"

Mr. Erskine—" No! I've mixed my despatches. Oh! Telegraph! Telegraph!

you're my ruin !" Notwithstanding this ingenious systemof defence Mr. Erskine was sent to work

VERY POLITE.-The Duke of Ormond. who was a true patern of politeness, was visited a few moments before his death by a German Baron, who was one of the politest men of his country. The duke feeling himself dying, desired to be conveyed to his arm-chair, when, turning toward the Baron, he said—
Excuse me sir, if I should make some grimaces in your presence, for my physi-cian tells ine that I am at the point of death. 'Ah, my Duke,' replied the Baron, 'I beg that you will not put yourself under the least restraint on my account.'

This might be emphatically called 'running it (politeness) into the ground.'

Patriots and Traitors. In good old times, when we were a happy and united people, that man was regarded a patriot who loved his whole country, revered the Constitution, obeyed the laws and faithfully performed all his obligations as a citizen. He might support the Administration in power, or opose it, without having his lovalty to the Government or patriotism questioned. Men equally good and true were to be found on both sides. But in these troublous times, a somewhat different test of patriotism is sought to be applied. Loy-alty and disloyalty patriotism and treason, are not what they were in the palmy days of the Republic. We live under a new lispensation, and words have acquired an-entirely novel significance.

If, for instance, a citizen who used to exercise the largest liberty in abusing the President of the United States, ridiculing the Supreme Court, encouraging violations of the Fugitive Slave Law, advocating the 'irrepressible conflict," and hinting that in certain contingencies, the Union might slide, is now a fast friend of the Administration, in favor of gagging or hanging every person who ventures to whisper a word of dissent to its policy, he is a Patriot. He may not be remarkable for individual or official honesty-he may even be connected with fraudulent schemes to take money out of the Treasury-in plain words, he may be growing rich by the spoils of war, yet he is a Patriof .-He may encourage violations of the Constitution, infringements upon privato rights, turbulence and mob violence, and still he is a Patriot. He must have a keen scent for treason and Traitors. He must discover that his honest neighbors, who do not participate in his violence, are 'secessionists,' and mildly suggest hanging. If these neighbors should intimate that the President of the United States is not exactly a second Jackson, our Patriot will mark him as a suspicious' character; and if by any chance he should go so far as to express the obsolete opinion that the Constitution is the supreme law of the land, suspicion will deepen into absoluto conviction, and our patriot no longer doubts the necessity of establishing the guillotine to rid the country of pestilent Traitors.

On the other hand, if a man deplores the exercise of unconstitutional powers. he is a Traitor. If he doubts that war will accomplish the restoration of the Union, he is a Traitor. He may perform all his diffice as an upright and loyal citizen; he may never have been guilty of a disdonest, mean or discreditable action; he may have fought the battles of the country, and have contributed liberally of his means to sussain the Government and provide for the families of those who have gone forth to fight, nevertheless he is a Traitor. Our modern Patriot, with his pockets puffed out with plunder, says so, and who shall gainsay his word? Let the good citizen be a Democrat, and venture. tion! We'll start the driving wheel, other within speaking distance. After to declare that had his advice been fol-and he shan't break the connection abusing each other sharply, and using such lowed these things would not now be and again! lowed these things would not now be, and strung up for uttering treasonable lan-guage it will not be his fault.

Now, at this risk of being denounced

I read as follows:

Villin!—I yer you have been talking again me. When I sees you, I'll have a maryelong victory for Frank.—It was a maryelong victory for Frank.—It was a maryelong victory for Frank.—It was a maryelong victory for Frank.—It will give thre dolerato evirhudi wut will your mettle hows!

The next day she was up before the amory, a smooth of the shoot of Guardians. I remember there was onesiderable specially, and and there was oonsiderable specially for was a great discussion as to whether we should not forego seeing her; but we when the news reached me that Frank and Deborah were going to be married, I good order."

I read as follows:

Villin!—I yer you have been talking the sa maryelong victory for Frank.—I will give thre dolerato with and that every the how in the seeders with a day some ladies of Bellville went there to affirm that every citizen of this Free Republic (we are not your mettle hows!

Stage Drivers—Whip him into the trace was good and still the seeders with a day some ladies of Bellville went there to affirm that every citizen of this Free Republic (we are not your mettle hows!

The next day she was up before the subject to a jelly, as might have been expected, he stood and there was oonsiderable speciallying on the cocasion. Calls were make for the did not enlist; that the lawys was best when taken in home.

Lower the had a white upot on 1 of blind, your mettle hows!

The next day she was up before the subject to a jelly, as might have been expected, he stood a victor. Deborah got up quietly, and there was oonsiderable speciallying on the occasion. Calls were make for the did not enlist; that the was considered to a jelly, as might have been the dolerato with a public went that this is a day some ladies of Bellville went there to affirm that every citizen of this Free Republic (we are not your mettle hows!

The next day she was up before the subject the other was oonsiderable specially as the constitution, the had and the was of the public went that the was of the public went that