

The Fight at Fort Pickens.

EXTRACTS FROM A PRIVATE LETTER.

At ten o'clock on the morning of the 22nd, the Richmond opened a bombardment of Fort Pickens and the neighboring sand batteries. For a while everything went on swimmingly; but the enemy opening a powerful rifled battery on the ship, the conflict grew serious.

"I had been complimenting the captain of one of our guns, for the accuracy of his aim, when a shell from Fort Pickens bounced through our bulwarks and took the poor fellow head square off. His brains and blood were scattered all over my face, blinding my eyes and making my brain reel.

"We had thirteen men serving that gun. Of these six were wounded and one killed outright. The spectacle was one of the most horrible imaginable.

"The firing continued all day, and was resumed by the enemy next morning. By this time, however, we had moved beyond range of their guns, but the Niagara was still doing her best to silence them.

"Up to this time, Fort Pickens has lost but one man killed and seven wounded. Some idea may be had of the weight of the rebel metal in the fact that when the shell, alluded to above, struck, the explosion raised the ship out of water, and made her stagger like a drunken man.

"Another shell burst six feet below the water line, causing the ship to leak freely, but by the aid of the steam pumps we think we can keep her free.

"We have inspired, but have not destroyed, and cannot destroy, Fort Pickens, until we have rifled guns. The smooth bore guns which we are obliged to use is no match for the rifled cannon of the enemy, and the sooner the Government acts upon that truth the better.

"The Niagara, all the while, was at some distance outside the bar, and cannot be much injured.

"To-morrow (23d) we intend to renew the bombardment, with the determination to whip or be whipped.

"The Richmond, previous to coming here, was employed in the blockade of the Mississippi passes. During her absence from there, we have learned that several Rebel vessels have managed to go to sea.

"A Spanish vessel had come down with a number of Spaniards on board, who were obliged to escape from New Orleans to avoid imprisonment.

"The fugitive report that the most vigorous preparations were being made by the rebels to rebel attack. They had three iron-steam tugs, ready to start at a moment's notice, and twenty guns of the heaviest calibre. They were also constructing additional steam rams and fire rafts.

Glasgow, Mo., Dec. 8th.—The notorious marauder, Captain Sweeney, and his band of robbers, who have, for some time past kept this section of country in terror, were captured, yesterday, at Rogers' Mill near here, by a detachment of cavalry under Capt. Merrill. Sweeney's pickets were surprised and captured, and his whole band, thirty-five in number, taken without firing a gun.

"On Tuesday night the rebels sallied out of the woods, some 7 or 8 miles above Romney, and captured some wagon trains killing two men and wounding several others. They burned one or two of the wagons and started off with the horses.

"A party was soon dispatched from Romney after them, but did not succeed in overtaking them. The Union scouts in the neighborhood of some property belonging to a Mr. Pomeroy.

"The transport Atlantic on her return to Port Royal, will take out a printing press, cases, type, &c., with a view of starting a newspaper, to be conducted under the supervision of General Sherman. A proper person will be selected as editor and it is contemplated to issue a weekly sheet, which shall express the sentiments of the Government, and at the same time aid in suppressing rebellion on the soil of the Palmetto State.

"The Secretary of War recommends the annexation of all the counties on the eastern shore of Maryland, viz: Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne, Talbot, Caroline, Dorchester, Somerset and Worcester, and the counties of Northampton, Va., to little Delaware. This would make Delaware quite a large State, extending into the Ohio, and the Delaware bay on one side and the Chesapeake on the other. Maryland, the Secretary says, could be compensated by the annexation of all of Virginia lying east of the Blue Ridge. This would include Richmond, Petersburg, Lynchburg, Norfolk and Portsmouth—the largest cities in the State—and embrace about fifty counties of its most populous part, being something less than half of the whole of Virginia. It would seem to us better to leave this matter to the States after the rebellion is crushed.

Hon. David Tod, Governor of Ohio, has ordered that the Cleveland Herald, a violent abolition newspaper, shall no longer be allowed to be on the cars of the Cleveland and Mahoning railroad, of which he is the President.

Gov. Tod gives as his reason that the course of the Herald is highly destructive of the best interests of our Government.

The effect of the President's message, and his modification of Secretary Cameron's report relative to the disposition of the slaves in the South, is said to have been very marked in Kentucky. It has given confidence and strength to the Union men—a fact which is indicative of a like result all over the South. If the administration confine themselves to preserving the integrity of the Union and maintaining the constitution and the laws as the object of the war in spite of the factious opposition of the abolitionist traitors, who are urging them to a different course.

—There is no war news of importance this week—only a few trifling skirmishes in different quarters.

—Deaforth has been permanently taken possession of by about 1000 men, under Gen. Stevens. No enemy make their appearance, but small parties approach at night to scorch or destroy the property left by the rebels.

—The President declines make public any communications from England, &c., in reference to the Mexican invasion.

—Letters from Europe state that the administration is becoming disposed to accept foreign intervention with reference to a separation. Dr. Russell is authority for this.

—It appears that the frauds in buying horses for the war are more flagrant than at first supposed. Middle men make 10 to $1500 per week, re-letting contracts.

—Letters from Havana still speak of a continued running of the blockade by the rebel supply ships.
