REPORT OF SOLON ROBINSON,

OF THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE,
UPON THE
VINELAND SETTLEMENT. The following is an extract from the report of Solon Robinson, Esq., published in the New York Tribuns, in reference to Vinciand. All persons can reach this report with interest. Advantages of Farming near Home—Vineland—Remarks upon Marl-Soil, its great, Fertility-The Cause of Fertility-Amount of Crops; Produced-

Cause of Fertility—Amount of Cropsi Produced—Fractical Evidence.

It is certainly one of the most extensive fortile tracts in an almost level position, and suitable condition for pleasant farming that we know of this side of the western prairies. We found some of the oldest farms apparently just as profitably productive as when first cleared of forest fifty or a hundred years ago.

The geologist would soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. The whole country is a marine deposit, and all through the soil we found evidences of calcareous substances, generally in the form of indulated calcareous substances, generally in the form of indulated calcareous substances, generally in the forms of ancient shells, of the terilary formation; and this marly substance is scattered all through the soil, in a very comminuted form; and is the exact condition most easily assimilated by such plants as the farmer desires to cultivate.

Marl, in all its forms has been used to fertilize crops in England, from the time it was occupied by the Romana; and in France and dermany a marl bed is counted on as a valuable bed of santre, that can be dug and carted and spread over the field. How much more valuable them it must; be when found already mixed through the sail theory and the string the saits. ing of takes percenty new and which can scarces; by considered in good arable condition—En.]

In other cases the corn drop of last year was followed with oats this season, not yet threshed, but will average, probably forty to afty bushels. Sweet pointoes, beans, mellous, and in fact, all vegetables, as well as young peach and other fruit trees planted this year, show a ery plainly that this iong neclected tract of land should remain so plonger, and there is now a strong probability that it will not; for ander the auspices of Mr. Landis, it will be divided into small lots, with roads located to accommodate all—the surveyor is now havy at this work—and all purchasers will be required to build neat confortable houses, and either fence their lots in uniformity; or agree to live without fence, which would be preferable, by which means a good population will be secured who will establish churches, schools, stores, mills, machine shops and homes—homes of American farmers, surounded by gardens, orchards, fields and comforts of civilized life.

If any one, from any derangement of business, is desirous of changing his pursuits for life, or who is 'from any cause desirous to find a new location and cheap home in the country, and who may read and believe what we have trily stated, he will do well togs and see for himself what may be seen within a two hours ride of Philadelphia.
