Capt. Swipes and the Loyal Union League.

Mr. EDITOR :- Podunk has spoke. Podunk is loyul. Likewise she is Unionand to some extent she is League. Last night was, as the Parson trooly said on that occashun, a memorable epoch in the history of Podunk, and not only of Po-dunk, but of the world. Futoor generations will revele the day, babies yet unborn will have a big time on it, and the almauacs of the futoor will make mention of the occurrence which made it-sellybrated. Them's the minister's langwige.

I went over to the school house last nite, and found a smart sprinklin' of a crowd into that edifis. The room was geogeously lited with kerosene lamps and candles which the thoughtful libural ity of a good many folks endoosed 'em to bring along. After we'd had time for a general how do-do, Square Dobb called the meeting to order and ses he : '

'Feller citizens, as the time have arroven to organize this meetin', I would move that our distinguished feller citizen-distinguished ekwally for the intelleck he's got in him and for his many virtoos-I say I'd move that our distinguished feller citizen Capt. Ethan Swipes take the cheer and preside over this meetin'. Those in favor say I; contrary, by the same sine. It's carried. Capt. Swipes, the voice of this assemblage calls you to preside over its deliberashuns.

Ses I, 'She shan't call twict. Lo, here am I,' and walked magesticul up to the master's desk, and rappin on to it, ses I, 'Ahem !-- the meetin' will come to order !"

Then I sot down and looked dignified for about a minute and a half, and then ses I severele.

'Order, gentlemen, order !' addin' be ninly, 'Square Dohed will explain the objeo of the meetin.'

The Square got up and ses he:

Mr. Chairmrn, the call for this meetin' is as follows:

* The loyal citerzens of Podunk and all others in favor of detainin' this Union and expressin' this unholy rebelyun, is invited to meet at the school house this evenin' for the purpose of forming a Loyal Union League. Rally, freemen of Podnnk !-Your kuntry calls! Shew your colors and give rebelyun its death blow ! When Podunk speaks let rebels tremble !"

'Mr. Chairman, the crisis have arroven The eyes of the world is onto us. The times demand that every citerzen should show his hand! Our kentry is in danger, and there's no way to save it but for us, citerzens of Podunk, in solemn council assembled, to declare in thunder tones that we are loyal. Let us speak in such a way to-night' that Jeff. Davis and his satullites will know that Podunk harbors no trayturs. Our kentry is in danger! She needs troo sons. Let's show her that she's got 'em in Podunk, by formin' a Loyal Union League. I'd like to hear from Parson Twitter.'

Here the Square sot down, and the Parson got up and squared hisself for a sermon. The minnit he opened, the folks began to lay back jest as they do on Sundays and before he got thru, there wan't ten wide-awakes in the house. The Parson closed by readin' the follerin': Whereas, This is the hour of our kentry's peril, and whereas in these times he who is not for me is agin me, and he that soweth not my clothes, searcheth a board therefore, Resolved, That we, the loyul citerzens of Podunk, whose names are here sined, declare that we are patriots, et settery, and that those whose names are not sined are sympathizers with rebelyun. Resolved, That for the purpose of tes tifvin' our affection for this guv'ment and hatred for treason, we hereby form our-selves into a Loyal Union League, and pledge ourselves to keep on doin' so until the last rebel is exterminated, and the last traytur dies of old age. Square Dohed he seconded the resolushuns, which he sed had the raal, patriot ic ring into 'em, and he called for the ouestion. Jest as I was goin' to put it, a young feller in the back part of the room got up and ses he, 'Mr. Chairman, if resolushuns would have killed rebels, they'd a been resolved out of existence mor'n a year ago. We citerzens of Poduak hev expressed our unalterable devotion to the Union twenty seven different times, and jest as many times hev warned Jeff. Davis and his fel ler trayturs that this unholy rebelyun must be crushed, and fowl treeson exturpated-But somehow they don't seem to mind the reslushuns we pass, nor the speeches we make, and I kinder begin to suspect that they've got used to 'em, and we'd better try something else; so I move to amend the resolutions by adding: And whereas, That as the rebels air in arms, and won't listen to reason, nor take in a rashunal idee unless you first make a hole in their heds for it to get in; and whereas, the kentry has got to hev more sõlgers, therefore, Resolved, That the members of this League hereby volunteer for the war.' And on this I call the question.' I put the questyun, and the way the boys yelled 'I' was a sin. So, ses I; 'I guess tain't worth while to call for tother side; it seems to be unanermus.

After he and his friends had gone we bassed the follerin':

Resolved, That this crowd hain't got no three hundred dollar sneaks in it, but that we'll stand our draft, and chivaree every man that wont go when he's drafted, but crawls out through his puss strings. Then we adjourned, and I'm in doubt whether I'm a League or not, ' but certain

A PLAIN EPISTLE TO UNCLE ABE.

I have a message, Uncle Abe, For your own private ear, As I can't get to Washington,

And as you won't come here, I'm forced to put it into type,

With circumspection meek, As bashful members often print,

A speech they do not speak. My head is nigh to bursting, Abe, My very eye-bails throb,

To see what pesky work you make About that little job,

Which you and Bill, and Horace G. Agreed so nice to do, In less than "sixty days" from date

Some twenty months ago!

We gave you heaps of soldiers, Abe, To help you smith the foe;

A string of warriors that would reach From here to Mexico.

We packed them off with spades to die And trusty guns to shoot, With haversacks to grace their backs,

And fifes and drums to toot.

You saw these mighty legions, Abe, And heard their manly tread;

You counted hosts of living men, Pray can you count the dead?

Look o'er the broad Potomac, Abe, Virginia's hills along,

Their wakeful ghosts are beck'ning you Two hundred, thousand strong !

We gave you several shillings, Abe,

To pay your little dues; Enough to buy a dozen shirts, And sundry pairs of shoes,

We gave you cattle, horses, mules, And wagons-full a score;

And several cannon with a voice Loud as a bull could roar.

Now what I'm after, Uncle Abe, Is simply to find out,

What you have done with all this 'ere, And what you've been about!

If unto Cæsar you have given, All that is his concern.

Then Mrs. Cæsar wants to know What you have done with hern.

I know you're young & handsome, Abe, NATIONAL COMMERCIAL COLLEGE And funny as your Pol,

A peer exalted, great and high, A Ruler seven foot tall.

You're big enough, if only smart, To manage all the gang, And tho a little green—you'll rise,

When you have got the Hang !

You told us that the Locos, Abe, Were rascals to the core, Because they made so free a uso

Of Uncle Samuel's store. Full sixty millions in a year!

Embraces Book-keeping for every variety of business, in its most adproved forms, —Penmanship, the celebrated Spencerian system, —Conmercial Calculations, Commer-cial Law, Basiness correspondence, Arithmetic, Lectures, These Institutions possess a national reputation, and guarantee greater facilities for preparaing young if on for the duties of the counting house, and business generally, than any- other similar schools in the country. Now wasn't it sin For Democrats to squander thus The darling people's tin? And are you not deserving, Abe, Both gratitude and grub, For having stopped this wicked leak In Uncle Samuel's tub? The sage who did the woundrous deed Is fit for saints to sup; It only costs two millions more To plug the vessel up.

The most popular monthly in the world.—New York Observer. We must refer in terms of culogy to the high tone and varied excellences of Harper's Magnzine—a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and gen-eral reading of the day. We speak of this work as an ov-idence of the American People; and the popularity it-has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood ents; and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophic quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great, power in the dissemination of a love-of pure literature. Thunken's Guide to American Literature, London. No Magnzine in Europe or America is so well known; nobe has half as many readers; and we may safely say, nobe has received so large a tribute of admiration from the cultivated classes, that delight in a healthy, diversi-fied elevating periodical literature. It is the foremost Magnzine of the day. The fireside never had a more de-lightful companion, nor the million a more enterprising friend, than Harper's Magnzine.—Methodist Protestant, (Baltimore.)

You said the South had ruled us, Abe, Some fifty years in peace, And that the time had fully come,

When their vile reign should cease That you were bound to take the helm,

The sinking ship to save, And put her on another track-

And-I rather think you have!

You're out of luck, entirely, Abe, The engine's off the track ;

The boiler's burst, and there you lie, A squalling on your back!

The excise man is at the door.

Contractors cry for pelf; You're blind and stupid, deaf and lame

Nor very well yourself.

Your Cabinet is feeble, Abe, And dull as any dunce;

And if you have an ounce of brains,

You'll ship them off at once; Send Stanton to the Feejee Isles,

Give Welles and Chase the sack, Swap Halleck for a Hottentot,

And send for LITTLE MAC.

That you have done the best you could,

To make the rebels rue it, And if you knew what next to do,

You'd go right off and do it ! Now that's the very thing, Abe,

That makes this din and clatter,

You don't appear to "see it," Abe, And that is what's the matter !

The nigger's in the wood-pile, Abe,

As shy as any trout; Do you think the Proclamation, Abe, Will smoke the weasel out?

You want to free the darkies, Abe, At least I so construe it;

The difficulty seems to be, To find out how to do it.

The way, dear Abe, is mighty dark, And bothersome to see ; I think you'll have to give it up,

And let the darky be.
