—The Ohio people seem bent on having a sensation. The late conspiracy having proved a tame affair...

—The government surgeons who examine drafted men have received a new set of instructions...

—A Northern farmer who has two of his sons drafted, may have to mortgage his farm to raise $600 to save them from death...

—There is many a true heart in the North and South, that yearns for the re-establishment of the old government...

—There is an evident desire on the part of a large number of the southern people to return to the Union...

—Pennsylvania has furnished over two hundred thousand troops. The New England States combined have not furnished more than one hundred and fifty thousand...

—They have one preacher in Boston who is a great curiosity in his way. The antiquated old chap positively refuses to preach on politics...

—A drunken man made a speech from the window of Major General... the other evening in Washington...

—A republican army officer, indignant at the manner in which the war has been managed, recently remarked: "If this war had been under the control of the Democrats, the rebels would have been driven into the Gulf of Mexico long ago..."

—We are informed by dealers in cloth that the high price of that article is not due to the extravagant rates the workmen charge...

—The great plot in Ohio, prepared to operate upon the New York election, and therefore forwarded by telegraph, has exploded...

—This sentence, from the National Intelligencer, may be adopted by every Democrat: "We profess no loyalty save that inspired by love for the Union, the Constitution, and by respect for the Laws. Who profess more have done."

—Ben Butler, who perpetually sneers at woman and virtue, says: "There are three degrees of comparison, man, woman and the devil." We think there are four degrees—woman, man, the devil, and Ben Butler.

—The late draft in Connecticut yielded 130 conscripts, and 1,548 substitutes; 956 paid the $300, 781 never reported, and there were 82 conscripts and 18 substitutes deserted.

—The machinists of the Novelty, Ena, Neptune, and Morgan Iron Works, in New York, have struck for higher wages, and ceased to work...

—The creatures chosen by Lincoln for the mock trial and banishment of Vallandigham, were fit tools, and should be remembered in connection with Abe. One was the keeper of a house of prostitution, and another was detected in peeping into a respectable woman's bedroom...

—We have already spoken at length of the pretended election in Maryland. But we have other developments, and still worse ones if possible.

—The first section of General Schenck's order, which he issued without consulting either the President or Governor Bradford, authorized the provost-marshals to arrest, at their discretion, whomsoever they saw "approaching any poll or place of election."

—In California any stipulated rate of interest is lawful, and the current rates are often fearful. In January, 1861, (not yet three years ago) Daniel K. Vance borrowed $1,300 of Morris Wise, payable on demand, with compound interest at 8 per cent per month...

—A correspondent for a Hamilton paper from Meade's army, writing of the causes of the glorious retreat of the army of the Potomac in October, says: "The trouble is, thousands of officers and men of Meade's army have been sent into Pennsylvania and Ohio to carry the elections tomorrow for the administration. Lee evidently knew this fact, and expected it was feared last week, when so many soldiers were seen going to Pennsylvania, that Lee would attack Meade, and the administration was warned of it."

—So the army was weakened by picking out Republican voters, over 30,000 of whom were sent to vote for Curtin in the meantime. Lee attacked the remainder which was left behind, and defeated them, retreating nearly sixty miles into the defenses near Washington, burning up their supplies and allowing the rebels to destroy our railroads and seriously retard army operations for the season.

—The time was in this country when, if a President had attempted to carry a State election by such use of the army, he would have been carried and hung to the nearest tree, by common consent of the people. Exchange.

Radicals Fight on Neither Side.—Gen. Rosecrans, in his speech before the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, said: "Converse with a rebel and he will tell you that he is sorry the war was begun. They will tell you as their Rebel General Adams said, 'I notice that the extreme men who brought on the war are not fighting its battles. The planters and the people on the border have only acted with reference to the protection of their property. I see that the best blood of the country is being shed in a war that the victims did not bring about.'" —What the Rebel General said is as true of the North as of the South. Truly, the best blood of the country is being shed in a war that the victims did not bring on."

—The Secessionists of the South were, like the Abolitionists of the North, professional agitators; whose strength lay in their tongues. Thus far these men have held back and refused to serve in the field.

Apportionment of Representatives.—The assessors of the various boroughs and townships of the State are this year required to make duplicate alphabetical lists of the names, surnames and occupations of age of twenty-one years and upwards, male or female, resident with their respective districts...

—The Rebel Opinion of Rosecrans.—Merrill, Lincoln is helping us. He has removed from command the most dangerous man in his army, and put two fools in his place. A variety of mean and damaging pretenses for Rosecrans' removal have been published by the Yankee Press. But the true reason is the fact that he failed at Chickamauga, and the Abolition Government adheres to its system of dismissing every General who incurs defeat.

Rosecrans, thus retired, is unquestionably the greatest Captain the Yankee Nation has yet produced. His performance in the field are too fresh in the memory of every reader to necessitate recapitulation. We may, however, mention in proof of his intellectual ability, that he graduated fifth at West Point, in a class of fifty-six, in which Gen. G. W. Smith graduated eighth, and Longstreet fifty-fourth.—Richmond Examiner, Oct. 26.

GIVING THEM ROPE.—Said a merchant of Philadelphia, to a Democrat, who expressed his intention to vote for Curtin, "I am surprised at your course, for the Republican party is sending the country to the devil as fast as it can go."
