BUSINESS CARDS.

HEGARRATT DEALER in Flour, Feed, and Med. Instroll and Dairy Sail, Timothy and Cover Seed, Groceries, Provisions Frank Fish, Petrolpain Oll, Wooden and Stone wate, Yankee Socians, &t. &c. 127 Opposite Instruction Depot, New Millord, Rei. 1870 Med 8, 1953-17.

LATHROP, TYLER & RILEY, Paris, President Company of the Country of the

D'R LERS in Dry Good, Grocertor, Hartiware, Redy Wade Clothing, Books & Shoos, Hats & Cape, Wood & Willow Ware, Iron, Nalls, Sole & Upper Leath-er, Fish, Flour and Salt, all of which they offer at the ETLOWest Prices. A April 6, 1863. y.

EVAN JENKINS. FOR SUSQUEHANNA COUNTY. (Post Office address, Dundaff, or South Gibson, Susq's County, Penn's.).

Feb. 3, 1853.—1950 HENDY DRINKER.

ww. Huntting Cooper...... WM. H. COOPER & CO. BANKERS -Montrose, Pa. Successors to Post Coope & Co. Office, Lathrops new building, Turnpike si. J. B. M'COLLUM.......D. W. SPARLE.

McCOLLUM & SEARLE, TTORNETS and Counsellors It Law Stontrole T. Once in Enthrops' new building, over the Bent.

DR. H. SMITH & SON. TURGEON DENTISTS, Montrose, Pa.
Somet in Lathrops' new building, over the Bank. All Dental operations will be performed in good style and warranted.

JOHN SAUTTER, 1 2 % TASHIONABLE TAILOR.—Biontrose, Pa. Shop over I. N. Ballard's Grocery, on Main street. Thankful for past favors, he collects a continuance pledging himself to do all work satisfactorily. Cutting done on short notice, and warranted to fit. Montrose, Pa., July 2th, 1860.—tf.

P. LINES TASHIONABLE TAILOR.—Montrose, Pa. Shop in Phoenix Block, over store of Read, Watrous & Foster. All work warranted, as to fit and finish. Cutting done on short notice, in best style. jan '60

JOHN GROVES. ASHIONABLE TAILOR.—Montrose, Pa. Shop fear the Baptist Meeting House, on Tumpike trees [All orders filled promptly, in first-rate style. Cutting done on short notice, and warranted to fit.

L.B. ISBELL, REPAIRS Clocks, Watches, and Jewelry at the shortest notice, and on reasonable terms. All work warranted: Shop in Chandler and Jessup's store, Montrouse Pa. oc25 tf

WM. W. SMITH, CABINET AND CHAIR MANUFACTURERS. Fool

MANUFACTURER OF DOOTS & SHOES, Montrose, made to order, and repairing done neatly. ABEL TURRELL.

DEALER in Orace, Medicines, Chemicals, Dye Stuffs, Glass Ware, Paints, Olls, Varolsh, Window, Glass, Groceries, Fancy Goods, Jewelry Perfuert, Ec.—Argent for all the most popular PATENT MEDICINES,—Montrose, Pa. aug. tf

DAVID C. ANEY, M. D., I AVING located permanently at New Milford, Pa.
I will ettend promptly to all calls with which he may be favored. Office, at Todds' Hotel
New Milford, July, 17, 1862.

MEDICAL CARD.

DR. E. PATRICK, & DR. E. L. GARDNER

TATE GRADUATE of the MEDICAL DEPARTMENT ATE GRADUATE of the MEDICAL DEPARTMENT AS OF YALE COLLEGE, have formed a copartnership for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, and are prepared to attend to all ducliness faithfully and punctually, that may be intrusted to their care, one terms commensurate with the times.

Discussing and deformities of the EYE, surgical operations, and all surgical diseases, particularly attended to two discover Webb's Store. Office hours from Same to 9 pm. All sorts of country produce taken in payment, at the highest value, and cash mor hervesed.

Montrose, Pa., May 7th, 1862—tpf

FIRE INSURANCE.

THE INSURANCE CO. OF NORTH AMERICA, AT PHILADELPHIA, PA., Has Established an Agency in Montrose.

The Oldest Insurance Co. in the Union. CASH CAPITAL PAID IN. $500,000 ABSETS OVER $1,200,000

THIS rates are as low as those of any good company in a New York, or chewbere, and its Directors are among the first for hanor and integrity.

CHARLES PLATT, Sec'y. ARTHUR G. COFFIN. Pres. Montrose, July 15, '62. BILLINGS STROUD, Ag't.

HOME INSURANCE COMPAN

Of New-York. CASH CAPITAL, ONE MILLION DOLLARS. 81,481,819.27. ASSETTS 1st July 1860, LIABILITIES, " J. Milton Smith, Sec'y. Chas. J. Martin, President. John McGee, As t. A. F. Wilmarth, Vice "

Policies issued and renewed, by the undersigne at his office, in the Brick Block, Muntrose, Pn.

nov29 y BILLINGS STROUD, Agent.

S. M. Pettengili & Co., Boston, are our agents for the Montross Democration and subscriptions for us and are pathorized to take advertisements and subscriptions for us at our lowest rates.

REMITTANCES To England, Ireland and Scotland. A BRAHAM BELL'S SON'S DRAFTS, in sums of one pound and upwards, payable, in all the principal sowns of England, Ireland and Scotland, for cale by WM. H. GOOPER, & Co... BASKERS, SO—69

HAZLETON

Ambrotype and Photographic Artist, Montrose, Pa Pictures taken in all kinds of weather, in the bas

THE DYING SUMMER.

Dying Summer's gently gliding Into Winter's frigid grave; While the falling leaves are hiding Bezuties that around her wave t

Still are geins of beauty glowing, As the grove she tesselates. With the floral wonders growing, Wonders that her life creates

Rich and gorgeous is the pillow, Where she lays her dying head, Midst the gold-fruit ripe and yellow, And the flowers blue and red.

Happy Summer; bright and airy. Brilliant, transient-linger still; With thee, life and fay and fairy Vanish all from mount and rill!

Roses sweet with dew drops weeping, Woo thee lovingly to stay; Stilly streams and cascades leaping, Bid thee not in haste away.

Laughing hours of sunny gladness, Fall winds still will blow away; Leaving leaves to sigh in sadness, As they wither day by day.

While the sultry Autumn's breathing, Perfume from each dewy flower, Summer's hand is gently wreathing Garland's for her parting hour.

Youthful June and July glories, With their beauties pass away; Serve but as Memento Mories Of all pleasures bright and gay!

THE DOCTOR'S FORTUNE,

On his door there was a finely polished orass plate, inscribed,

MR. SAMES WOODFIELD,

Surgeon. When he first came to this small country pride at the brass; for he was a young ed to future radiant with as bright a lustre as its own. Somehow, unfortunately, that future still continued to shine in use for him to wish there had been a those who could not afford the fees?

tractive to the physician. pose," muttered James, grinning at the and he must make the most of it. obnoxious ungons which brought the It was nearly two years since the pol-Doctor's furniture, "because he lived at ish of that brass plate had aroused so comthe other, and now he has actually follow- placent an expression on James Wooded me here. Well, I suppose there's field's face, and he was still, to use a sigroom enough for both; at any rate it nificant phrase, struggling to keep his cannot be worse with me than it has been head above water. His friends, too, if he man or two, no patient has troubled me." ine his personal appearance, might have ... And then he went to sit at the table of observed that there was a slight tendenhis little study and be miserable, which cy about the corners of mouth to curve was of no use either. But the fact was, downward, and altogether a want of clashis eyes, glancing from time to time thro' ticity about the man very different from some luxurious couch or chair peeping friends as he had, however, were either from under its cover; of massive picture unobservant or not sufficiently interested frames and costly mirrors. And he could in him to trouble themselves about his it. not help reverting to certain golden vis- looks, and he went on his way drearily, ions of his own whose brightness had far with such hope as he could summon to his ded by this time, and left them before help. He had gone so far as to confess him only the pale ghosts of what they that the whole affair was a decided failure.

once were. Then that carriage of the He was at times miserably depressed and doctor's was the very thing he had in anxious, almost ready to give up altogethdulged himself in picturing as fit for er; but if he did that, what was to be gain to his forchead, and his eye caught cure." somebody. And as the thought occurred come of him? A portion of his capital the little scar. A cold perspiration broke to him, he sighed ditterly; for the time was gone already; must be throw the oth- over him, and a single ejaculation passed when that somebody might be the rolling or after it? He might try and try, and his lipsgenius of his house—even this little den; yet have no more chance than that un-seemed so far off as to be almost mythi- lucky fly on the window had of eventually young philosophers "the way of the a professional point of view, Dr. Heath world," and the cared very little, if at all, for them.

But he did not tell her so. He held a for him.

And then he saw Mr. Percival Heaththe doctor's only son-ride up to that door on a horse, which drew him, in spite of himself, to the window, and made his eyes glisten.

"A splendid animal!" soliloquised the "A splendid animal !" soliloquised the tlemen looking mournful in funeral suits, surgeon, who kept no horse—pretty well, there was nothing for him to do but watch he thought bitterly, if he could keep himself. "That's the sort of thing I should like now; make perfect action, first rate, latter alternative, and as he turned he beand a fine-looking, fellow on him, too. I came aware of Master Cadger caressing wonder if Mr. Percival goes in for the the door-handle, and seemingly awaiting profession. Perlinps he'll be good enough his pleasure. to take the house next door to mine." And Jumes, returning to his writing materials, put them away bastily. answer as punctually; but she must wait another post this time. To day he could town—that is to say, when he first setlied there as a professional man—he had been in the habit of passing in and out of grimness of sarcasm that he thought she that door often, and of looking with some would put it down to his being so busily derstood it.

By a peculiar jerk of his thumb Master
Cadger appeared to intimate that whe was Dr. Heath: At least so James inthat door often, and of looking with some would put it down to his being so busily
derstood it.

"To day he could
By a peculiar jerk of his thumb Master
Cadger appeared to intimate that whe was Dr. Heath: At least so James inthat door often, and of looking with some would put it be in the being so busily

"To Heath! Going away?" pride at the brass; for he was a young engaged with his patients that he had no man, only just beginning life, and it was very possible that the shining plate point greatest evil. He had too much time, and did not know what to do with it.

He had established a slight acquaint ance with many of the townspeople; and, the distance, and the days and weeks and among others, with Mr. Percival Heath, months that began to drag rather heavily over the young surgeon seemed to not, perhaps, under the circumstances, bring it no nearer to him. It was very have much in common, since a struggling odd. He had been told on all sides what man has little sympathy to spare for a faa promising opening there was in Hollow- vorite of fortune. And he was wont to country patients sent for you." leigh for a surgeon; he had congratula- think that on that young fellow everyted himself that the absence of M. D. af- thing smiled, insomuch that it was a mar ter his name was of no consequence—a vel to find him so little spoiled and so full mere sound, often unsought by the great- of life and energy. Mr. Woodfield won-But the most provoking part of the filled hopes. Why should they? He was thought of him in his struggles and unfulwhole affair was, that James Woodfield nothing to them. Dr. Heath had a perhad scarcely had time to settle in his new feet right to take that house if he chose. house before this Dr. Heath, seeming sud- Possibly, indeed, if he had remained at Cash Faid for Mink, Muskent, and all kinds of the large and handsome house exactly opposite to that shining new brass plate. A good assortion of Leather and Boots and ly opposite to that shining new brass plate. It was of no use, for James to untried surgeon, in preference to a well-montrose, Feb.6th.

A. P. & L. C. KEELEE

did not suit him, had actually fixed upon made little difference to James. Everbo-dy would have gone to him just the same —for why should people consult a young, shared the first at the Douter's constantly on hand.

A. P. & L. C. KEELEE from behind the window curtains, of no tain days gave consultations gratis to school opposite, an asylum, anything, in Dr. Heath had done this for years; and on him with a very heavy oppression; it its lawn stretching down to the river on surgeon in town was no reason for the the opposite side, which had proved so at discontinuance of a charity. He began to think it was a mistake to come to Hollow-"I chose this end of the town on pur- leigh; neverthelesss the thing was done,

-for, except a poverty-stricken old wo had possessed any near enough to examescaping the bloated spider on the watch

scriptions to write, and nothing particular be saw the carriage, which was the ideal crive him so the form of his visions in that deposit the ladies of Dr. Heath's family to a screening shift, he couldn't help it. Nothing who was only a visitor, report had deci
Well, he couldn't help it. Nothing who was only a visitor, report had deci scriptions to write, and nothing particular be saw the carriage, which was the ideal crive, him so the couldn't be to be bound?

The little scan had been left by the bites to flow in a marvelous tide to wards the couldn't help it. Nothing who was only a visitor, report had deci
Well, he couldn't help it. Nothing who was only a visitor, report had deci-

But the doctor's reception-rooms faced the lawn, so that after the arrivals were over, and he had counted some dozen of ladies in the gossamer attire which needs to be made fire-proof, and as many genthe flickering lamp outside, or turn to the interior of his little room. He chose the don't you want, you rascal? Why

"Kuock, sir," interposed Master Cadg-In general, Margaret got, her letter er, briskly: "Did, sir, if you please; about once a week as regularly; as the wouldn't make you hear. It's only a parcountry paper came out, and he got his ky as has been telling me he's going away."

By a peculiar jerk of his thumb Master

"Dr. Heath! Going away?". "Yes, sir! Leastways he's going to foreign parts, and can't come back not in a day exactly, you know.".

"Well," said Mr. Woodfield, collecting himself, "what has that to do with me?" "Nothing, sir. It's only as the party is always doctoring, and was anxious in case she might be took sudden and no dactor to be had. I told her you would be at home, unless, to be sure, some of the as the doctor entered.

"That will do," said James. "You can into the servant's face.

field's heart did bent with a spectral hope. you." est men. And besides, there was already dered too, sometimes, as he looked at the If the dector was going abroad might a physician of old-standing in Hollow- large house opposite, if its inmates ever there not be a chance for him? It seemed forward. He seemed to have risen with strength of mind and body strung up to only reasonable to suppose there would, the occasion out of his despondency into that extreme pitch of exaltation and full since if people were ill a new doctor must a man of iron nerves and indisputable aube better than none.

The fates were surely in league against a deputy behind him.

Mr. Percival Heath was walking down the Hollowleigh road towards the town. He walked slowly, for he had an unusual sense of discomfort which he could neith. fascinated. er shake off nor analyze. It weighed upterror; vague, unreasoning, but overresult. He could not make it out. He had thought to shake it off in the open sir, but it seemed to get worse instead of better, so he had turned back towards home. Was he going to be sill? He had been scar, to his forehead confusedly. As he it strongly. Exert it first to believe that to be expected that the long strain left no did so he reached a point in the road all you see or feel is, in fact, delusion; ex- impress upon James. Woodfield, but if is where the river, running parallel with it, ert it, above all, to keep as quiet as possi- had been doubly long and doubly hard he became suddenly visible by the lowering ble. The will may be overrated as well would have undergone it gladly for the of the roadside hand. of the roadside bank.

Mr. Percival started back with a pang immense, power. If you feel that you are

And more than all he dreaded that gurgling water. He was horribly afraid of it. He stood still and put his hand up a-"Good God!" It was no irreverent outburst lightly spoken. It was -no one, however, could were better than sad or grambling ones; and the web his eyes traveled as the fly stricten words were meant to express, or as a corpse, and coloring the faintest dimness was visible on the glass and the web his eyes traveled as they are glass words. Which the man held to his lips.

And or grambling ones; and the web his eyes traveled as they are glass words. Which the man held to his lips.

Percival's mind—a suspicion that a fate before the window, he, having no pre- lished himself, to that house opposite; and more possible and more possible than anything he could constitute the man held to his lips.

Will he ever get over it, sir l'out all directions partients haven sorietions to with anything he could constitute the man held to his lips.

would come tills time but the beginning:

Why own dear little Margaret — such a long the girming, littinity lists, in side, and all the chapeliness common to beginning.

But, for all, that, we must feel sewind, and forested the would read dipy what that wis 'fore, in side you concerning these two adjectives, were though our flargaret, may paye and the would make the feel of the would read the would read the world of t

Mr. James Woodfieldwas in the little room called by courtesy his study. He had been there pretty mearly all day, not having spirits, perhaps, to get out. By a singular coincidence the subject be had been studying, and which had raised considerable interest in his mind; was a cure drawn forth all his strength; he was so that had been performed in India of a case sorry for her, thinking, perhaps, for a of hydrophobia. He had made himself moment of his own Margaret under such pretty well master of the details, and it circumstances, that he did not dream of was a certain psychological feature that occupied him when after the customary knock, Master Cadger ushered in Dr. Heath's servant.

sindy, and the second parties as each dynamic Mr. Woodfield was sensible of a strange thrill through all his nerves as hedistened, and a single phrase out of that flamphlet which he had been reading, kept repenting itself like an echo in his brain.

Without a word he followed the man across the street into the hall, where he had seen so many gossamer-robed ladies and black-coated gentlemen, up the wide, semi-circular stair-case, which might almost have swallowed up his whole house, and into young Heath's room.

Mr. Percival gat on the bed in his shirt sleeves, and he was trembling all over, and shrank back with an expression of torror

"You'll do," he said : "Come

He turned the door-key softly and went James Woodfield. No sooner was his ing at him with eyes scared and bloodhope conceived, than a rude hand dashed shot," you see I know you; keep off for it to the ground. Dr. Heath would leave your own sake. Let no one come near might or might not be mesmeric-James patient's face while he felt his pulse, and purpose must keep him, if possible, by Mr. Percival returned the gaze like one

"Listen to me," said James, still with his hand on the young man's wrist, and ed. fact, but that commodious residence, with the fact of the rash appearance of a young was like nothing he could think of but still looking at him with the same steady eye. There is proof that the dog was each time to the manifest terror and dispowering terror; springing from no cause mad. You are strong and healthy. You trust of the servant, who thought Mr. that he could discover, and pointing to no have nover been a drinker or tampered in any way with your constitution?".

"Then there is hope for you. The virus will have less chauce, and my treat upon saving the patient. Night and day ment more. Are you capable of follows he was with him; his own air and manner as underrated; but it is an instrument of great reward of the result,

Swear to kill if you cannot cure." spoke to him calmly and hope James, responded: "The means I am one restored from the dead. about to use are certain death or certain

"Did they ever cure?".

"Yes." the servant, horror-stricken, "Sir," said the servant, horror-stricken, you have bled him to death !"had about his lips, "only to death's door." Mr. Woodfield into partnership, which offer, however, James did not accept, stricken words were meant to express, or as a corpse, and colorless; and only the and this reticence probably added no being ceremonious. "My dear young lady," said James

"I have heard of one recovery from such a seizure, and only one. The means that "Beg pardon; sir, party wouldn't wait effected that recovery I am using must see you directly."

The rest of Master Cadger's speech, have telegraphed for Dr. Heath, but have telegraphed for Dr. Heath, but they which was irreverent, was spoken to him were uncertain of his address; and is self in the surgery, while Mr. Peroival's might never reach. Sir you must save the doctor in his him? The little hand was clinging to his still, and absolutely wringing it in the intolerable misery of this sudden blow. She had been so bappy yesterday!

She had been so bappy yesterday!

"It is in bigher hands than mine," said

James, gravely. But be comforted.

tell you the truth, I have hope.

" Tliank you, doctor God bless you, had broken into sobs, and she had turned away from him harriedly. James went on into the sick room. which was still quiet as he left it. At another time the possibility of the tele-gram reaching Dr. Heath and bringing him home to interfere with the case might Mr. Woodfield turned and looked full have been disheartening, but he had now no space to think about it. He was like one in a trance; the strangeness of his It is not to be defied that Mr. Wood- sit down there, out of sight, till I want owing his first serious case to Dr. Heath's son never even struck him then. He was so resolute to keep his nerves, his whole belief in his own power, on which he be lieved that power in a great measure to "Woodfield," said Mr. Percival, look depend. When the patient awoke to consciousness the doctor's eye must meet his; must communicate by a power which did not stop to argue that-to him some James never once took his eyes off the of his own calmness and concentration of that mesmerid sympathy, from those scared, wandering glances into the distant corners where shapes of horror lurk-

> And again the bleeding was repeated, Woodfield certainly meant to kill his master. But! James persevered. His whole heart was in the case; his whole will set blessed hitherto with such vigorous health that he knew nothing about illness.

He raised the hand that had been bound up, and on which there appeared a slight strong-minded. Exert your will. Exert

When Dr. Heath came home in horriit.

Behind him came two men with some dogs, and he was afraid of them also; know the dog was mad. Promise me one afraid of the men, but more so of the dogs.

And more than all he decoded that

And at sonce he hurried across the street to the little house opposite, from a window of which James saw him coming, and hastened to receive bim.

The outpouring of Dr. Heath's gladness is of little consequence. AIt was rumored "No," replied James, with a whitening afterwards that he had offered to take Mr. Woodfield into partnership, which Was on everybody's lips. Patients began to flowin a marvelous tide towards the