Tattlers. It is a great thing to mind one's own buiness," said a cartain philosopher; and be was right. It is a great thing to let other folk's business alone, and this much is implied by the maxim above quoted.-In fact there is hardly a class of pests in modern society-and they are, numerous -80 superlatively contemptible as that class known as tattlers, or meddlers in in other people's business. We don't admire a thief; we have no affinity for gamblers; we abominate drunkards; and have no respect for misers; but either of these are first class gentlemen in comparison with the inquisitive, jealons minded tattler, who goes mousing about in a garb of social respectability, poking his nose or fingers into the affairs of his neighbors, and seizing upon every circumstance that comes, within the wide swoop of his remorseless curiosity, for the purpose of making capital against those whose characters he cannot understand, because it is pure and above impeachment. These mischief making busy-bodies, are simply an unmitigated nuisance, and should be frowned upon by all sincere lovers of social peace and happiness. The man or woman who can find no better employment than tattling, had better jump into the nearest body of water, and become food for respectable fishes. In that way the finny tribe would gain a little in their the tribulation of the majority of cases will effect a rosiler commissary department, and society above water would be immensely purified.

Some years ago an old sign painter, worked two days at it, and at the end of CHILBLAINS, FROSTED FRET, AND INSECT the second day the pastor of the church came to see how the work progressed .-The old man stood by, smoking a short pipe, as the reverend gentleman ran his eves over the tablets.

"Eh !" said the pastor, as his familiar eye detected something wrong in the wording of the precepts; "why you care-less old person, you have left a part of one of the commandants entirely ont; don't you see ??

"No; no such thing," said the old man, putting on his spectacles; "no; nothing left out-where ?"

"Why, there," persisted the pastor; "look at them in the Bible; you have left some of the commandments out."

"Well, what if I have?" said old Ob stinacy, as he ran his eye complacently over his work, " what if I have? There's more there now than you'll keep !" Another and more correct artist was employed the next day.

BEWARE OF FIRES. The time having arrived for the use of stores, too much care cannot be taken to guard against fires. Yourstove pipes should be carefully examined, and where necessary repaired, riveted, or wired up; and great care should be taken that there is no wood in contact with the pipe. Defective flues should be put in order, and care taken that the ashes are deposited in such way DR. SWEET'S Infallible LINIMENT that no accident can occur.

TO HORSE OWNERS!

Dr. Sweet's Infollible Liniment for Horses is unrivalled by any, and in all cases of lamoness arising fr-m sprains, bruises, or wrenching, its effect is magical and certain. Harness or saddle galis, scratches, mage, etc., it will also care speedily. Ringbone and spavin may easily be prevented and cured in their incipient sta-ges, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a "adical cure." No case of the kind, however, is so despe-rate or hopeless but it may be alleviated by this limiment and its faithful application will always remove the lame-ness and enable the horses to travel with comparative case.

Every Horse Owner

should have this remedy at hand, for its simely use at the first appearance of lamoness will efficiently prevent those formidable diseases, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sore Eyes.
From Harvey Sickler, Eag, the able editor of the Twi-hannock Democrat, Pennsylvania.
"Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They reputily spirad until in they formed a loathsome and virulent soic, which cor-ered his face, and actually blinded his eyes for some days.
A skilful physician applied nitrate of filver and other ren-edies, without any spinarent effect. For filters days we guarded his hands, lest with them he should tear open the lactering and corrupt wound which covered his whole face. Having tried every thing else we had any hope in giths loadide of potanh lotion, as you direct. The two began to heal when we had firshed the second. The child's was well when we had firshed the second. The child's rest will when we had firshed the second. The did's was well when we had firshed the second. The did's rest will when we had firshed the second. The did's rest was well when we had firshed the second. The did's rest well when we had firshed the second. The did's was well when we had firshed the second. The did's rest will when we had firshed the second. The did's rest was well when we had firshed the second. The did's rest borhood predicted that the child must die.", Syphilis and Marcurial Disease, From Dr. Hrum Sloat, of St. Louis, Missori.
