

Montrose Democrat.

A. J. GERRITSON, Editor.

Thursday, March 24th, 1864.

A Campaign Club was formed in New York, Friday night, which nominated Fremont for President, and exhibited a strong opposition to Old Abe. Greeley & Co. were managers.

The passage by Congress of a bill authorizing Greenback Chase to sell and speculate in Gold, which was to bring it down to a greenback-level, has as yet done nothing but unsettle the market and raise the price of everything except greenbacks.

The act of Assembly authorizing township officers to levy a tax to pay volunteer bounties, has passed the House, will no doubt pass the Senate and become a law, there being no opposition. So let the school directors or supervisors go on and pay the bounty so as to avoid an unfair draft.

We publish to-day the able address of the Democratic members of the State Senate, published the morning after the caving in of the Republican majority of that body, by their consenting to proceed to the election of Speaker. The address is a complete vindication of their course on the Speaker question, and we ask for it an attentive perusal.

Elections were held on the 18th in Harrisburg, in Norristown, and the little abolition village of Huntingdon. Harrisburg and Norristown went Democratic by heavy majorities, a gain of about 500 over last year, but the abolition telegraph suppresses the news. Huntingdon was saved by 47 votes, and it is telegraphed as a great victory, when the truth is it shows a great loss to the miscegenation party. As a general rule the telegraph is used to conceal facts, and make political capital for africanism.

We learn that a bill will be offered in the Legislature to raise the pay of the Members from $700 to $1,000 for the session—usually about 100 days, counting Sundays. Besides this the members are allowed all the stationery they choose to use, $25 in cash "for stationery," and a fat mileage; so that the pay of member for 3½ months time—besides getting free passes over all the railroads.

The Republicans have a majority in both branches, and can control this measure; and while their party persistently defeats every effort made by the Democrats in Congress to increase the soldiers' pay, they should vote solid against adding largely to their own comfortable salary.

An act has passed the Senate and has been referred in the House, to so change the charter of the City of Washington, that negroes can vote if they have been in the city a year, and pay one dollar school tax. As there are some ten thousand negroes, including convicts, in the city, who would thus be made voters, the question is an important one, as it gives the African race control of the federal capital. This raises a distinct issue between the friends and opponents of negro equality. Every miscegenation advocate and apologist will approve the measure, and the friends of the white race will oppose it; not merely because the theory and practice is wrong in this instance, but for the immensely greater reason that if the country now quietly acquiesces in this bold negro-equality stride, the party in power, bent as they are on making this a general policy, will fasten the odious idea upon the people. This negro policy must be repudiated at once and emphatically, or the end will be the prevalence of the detestable doctrine now so strenuously urged as the ne plus ultra of "loyalty" by many leading organs of the Administration.

The Last Slander of McClellan.

In view of the circulation of this outrageous slander, and others like it, the Evening Post, a radical abolition journal, remarks as follows: "As we never gave circulation to the story that General McClellan and Lee had held an interview after the battle of Antietam; we are not now particularly called upon to notice the refutation of it; but we cannot refrain from remarking upon the facility with which certain editors of newspapers admit such ridiculous and improbable tales to their columns. A poor, drunken creature at Washington, tells somebody something about persons of distinction, and instantly, no matter how absurd it may be in itself, it is transmitted by telegraph to this city, and published the next morning to hundreds of thousands of readers. There ought to be in every journal one man at least with discernment enough to suppress these idle rumors, which are too often calumnies."

McClellan Meeting in New York.

A large and enthusiastic meeting in honor of General McClellan was held at the Cooper Institute on the evening of the 17th inst. The hall was densely packed, and large meetings were held outside, the greatest enthusiasm prevailing throughout. Speeches were made by Lieutenant Governor Jacobs, of Kentucky, Hon. Amos Kendall, Hiram Ketchum, Jr., A. Beaming Norton, of Texas, and Colonel Max Langenschwartz. A great many military officers and soldiers were present, who cheered loudly whenever General McClellan's name was mentioned.

General McClellan.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, a Republican journal, having copied the late slander upon McClellan, had an editorial last week as follows: "The charge against General McClellan, to the effect that he had a secret interview with General Lee the night after the battle of Antietam, has turned out to be wholly without foundation. The matter was supposed to have assumed a tangible shape under the authority of a Mr. F. Waldron, who furnished the statement for publication. We doubted the truth of the rumor, notwithstanding it was thus apparently vouched for, and it has now entirely exploded. Waldron refuses to make oath to the statement, and it is stated that the detectives having him in charge have got a confession from him in writing that he was drunk when he told the story of the interview between McClellan and Lee. So thus ends a rumor which was calculated most unjustly to damage the reputation of the distinguished General who signally defeated the Rebel armies at South Mountain and Antietam. It is somewhat singular that the persons to whom the story was told in the first instance did not know the condition of Waldron, and give no credence to the tales of a drunken man."

Millinery and Straw Goods—every variety—opened out, at H. Ward's. See advertisement.

A Draft for 200,000 More Men.

War Department, Adjutant-General's Office, Washington, March 15.—General Order, No. 100.—The following is an order by the President of the United States: Executive Mansion, Washington, March 14, 1864.—In order to supply the force required to be drafted for the navy, and to provide an adequate reserve force for all contingencies, in addition to the five hundred thousand men called for February 1st, 1864, the call is hereby made and a draft ordered for two hundred thousand men for the military service of the army, navy, and marine corps of the United States.

THE WAR.

Blockade-running having re-commenced on a grand scale at Charleston, four or five war steamers are to be sent to reinforce the blockading fleet.

Vicksburg dates of the 10th states that the troops at that place are in expectation of another expedition at once. There was quite a battle at Yazoo city on the 5th when the negro troops stationed there and the rebels who made an attack on the place. The rebels gained possession of part of the city, but the gunboats coming to the aid of forces, they were driven back.

The Philadelphia Inquirer (Republican) says of Kilpatrick's raid: "These detached flying expeditions are really productive of no substantial benefit to our cause. The hopes of the people are excited to great expectations by the eclat which attaches to bold and daring adventures, but when they return, and the plain unvarnished tale is told, a sense of disappointment overcasts the bright visions so fondly indulged in as the start."

General Sherman's official report of his late expedition gives details of the movement corresponding with the reports already published. Gen. Butterfield states our loss in the combined advance at one hundred and seventy, and the general results were the destruction of one hundred and fifty miles of railroad, sixty-seven bridges, seven thousand feet of trestle-work, twenty locomotives, twenty-eight cars, ten thousand bales of cotton, several steam mills, and over two million bushels of corn.

The Navy Department has received the details of two expeditions sent out from the gun-boat Tahoma during the past month, the objects of which were successfully accomplished, having marched through swamps and dense woods a distance of four miles. They destroyed the Rebel Government's salt works at St. Marks, Florida. They were seven miles in extent, and connected with them were, among other things, three hundred and ninety salt-kettles, one hundred and seventy furnaces, and one hundred and sixty-five house and shanties. Similar works, ten miles distant, shared a similar fate. The property destroyed is estimated at two millions of dollars.

There has been a complete re-organization of the commands of the Federal armies. General Grant has been made Commander-in-Chief of all the armies, with Halleck as Chief-of-Staff. The headquarters will be in the field. Gen. Sherman is to command the Western Department vacated by Grant, consisting of East Tennessee, Chattanooga, Vicksburg, Arkansas, &c. Gen. McPherson succeeds Sherman at Vicksburg, and Gen. W. F. Smith in a few days will take command of the Potomac. General Wallace is to take charge of the Shenandoah, superseding Kelley.

Many inquiries have been made at the War Department to-day, (16th) by members of Congress especially, in relation to the last call of the President for 200,000 men. The answers are that the men are necessary for the purposes of the war, and that, should not the result of this call be satisfactory, another requisition may be anticipated. The War Department officials are engaged in adjusting the quotas of the various states and precincts, but it will be two weeks before definite conclusions can be arrived at.

A despatch from Admiral Porter, announces a series of small skirmishes fought by seamen from squadron and negro troops at Waterproof and other unknown places on the Mississippi. Two admissions made by the Admiral are of far more importance than all of his fighting. He says "the negro troops of Waterproof have been committing many outrages," and all through his despatch admits that the negro are good for nothing as soldiers.

There is a report that the stench of dead horses and mules in the Federal camps at Chattanooga is becoming too intolerable to be borne. Fifty thousand of them died of starvation during the winter, and the unburied carcasses lie decaying on all sides.

General Kilpatrick says that General W. F. Smith will certainly supersede Meade. He will be placed in command as soon as Grant determines to move.

The President has nominated him for a Major General in the Regular army, in order to place him above all rivals. General Kilpatrick has been indulging in another raid. The one just completed by him, although not so ambitious as his recent ones on Richmond, has been most completely successful, and everything was accomplished as laid down in the preconcerted programme.

The expedition embarked at Gloucester on transports, going to West Point, and thence to King and Queen county. About the first thing was to lay in ashes King and Queen county court house. Not a building was left standing. The ruin of the town was complete.

It is denied now that Longstreet's army has left East Tennessee. Longstreet himself went to Richmond, but his army, under command of Buckner, is still confronting Schofield, and preventing any material advantages secured by the garrison of Knoxville.

The Confederates in their recent raid upon Suffolk, captured one cannon and a large quantity of supplies. Their loss at the battle of Olustee, in Florida, as officially reported in Southern journals, was one hundred and thirty-nine. The Committee on the Conduct of the War, are still pursuing the investigation of the Florida disaster.

Hardly a day passes that we do not hear of fresh outrages committed by Abolitionists upon the persons or property of Democrats. This is particularly the case in Ohio.

Hardly a day passes that we do not hear of fresh outrages committed by Abolitionists upon the persons or property of Democrats. This is particularly the case in Ohio.

The Free State Governor of Louisiana.

Hon. Michael Hahn, recently elected Governor of Louisiana by the radical Free State party, appears to be a man who carries his principles (if he have any) very loosely about him. Before the election, which took place on the 22d of February, he addressed a "Free State" meeting at Baton Rouge, in the course of which address he declared, "I have done my best to restore our State, to the Union, and do not care from whom the best plan comes, whether from Lincoln, Banks, Durant or Flanders. I accept the nomination of the Free State ticket for Governor; and, if elected, there shall not be a slave left within the State."

Only two years before, this same Michael Hahn made a flaming speech to a rebel regiment, about marching to the field, on the occasion of a flag presentation, in which he said: "Brave sons of freedom, accept this glorious flag! Bear it proudly as the emblem of Southern liberty and Southern institutions! Flaunt it in the faces of the cowardly, Abolition, Yankee vandals.—Strike down and crush the Yankee thieves when they assail it. Remember the infamous nigger thieves, and water our soil with their polluted blood," &c.

Gant, the newly fledged rebel Abolition orator, according to his confession, helped to "do" only one "whining Yankee," but this neophyte, Hahn, Governor of the "Free State" of Louisiana, only two years ago recommended the annihilation of the whole batch.

Miscegenation.

When extracts from the new Abolition tract on "Miscegenation" were first published, it was naturally inferred by many that the thing was a hoax, intended by many to burlesque the extravagance of Wendell Phillips & Co.; but the developments of the last few weeks furnish abundant evidence to prove that the views set forth in that pamphlet are shared by a large part of the Abolition party, and to justify the expectation that in a few years "the sublime commingling of races, of which the Boston orator speaks, will have been accomplished."

On Thursday the bill to authorize Nevada to form a state government was passed. The Colorado bill was also passed after some debate. The Nebraska bill was passed after the rejection of an amendment requiring a census to be taken.—Three new States are thus on a fair way to admission. The bill authorizing a territorial government in Montana was also passed. Abyssinia and Fred Douglass (there being a great deal of negro in the bill) were proposed as good names for it, but the House preferred Montana.

According to published reports, the difference in price between Federal and Confederate bonds is but nominal.—Confederate bonds sell in Europe at 67-8, and Government bonds at 60.

The President personally solicits support to the bill for the decapitation of generals, and says no one shall be hurt by it but General McClellan, whom he desires to get out of the army.

The municipal election of Rock Island resulted in the choice of the Democratic ticket by 177 majority, being a Democratic gain of 150. The City Council stands 7 Democrats and 1 Abolitionist. The contest was fought on national political issues, and the Democratic triumph is complete.

Colonel McCallum has informed the locomotive builders of Patterson, N. J., that unless they would at once proceed to furnish the government with two hundred locomotives, he should have to seize their shops and run them upon government account. The companies have promised to comply with the demand.

When Abe Lincoln first heard of the defeat of his Florida Haying expedition, at Olustee, and the heavy slaughter that followed, he burst out with the funny joke: "It seems to me that there are no heads down in Florida except 'dead-heads.'"

Of course every laurel man in the room had to join Lincoln in his laugh over the butchered victims to his political schemes; and no doubt Lincoln enjoyed his wicked fun as much as he did when driving over the fresh graves after the battle of Antietam, he slapped Ward Lamon on the neck and asked him to amuse the party by singing the negro melody of "Jump Jim Crow." Shame on the fellow that laughs over the slaughter of our brave boys.

The Richmond Whig, said by abolition organs to have declared that "slavery has stabbed itself to death," &c., denies the story, and argues a contrary doctrine.

The new Presbyterian Church at Elmira, which cost $35,000, was burned down last week, while a sanitary fair was holding therein. Insured only $10,000.

The 60th Reg. P. V. V., which was to have moved from Harrisburg some days since to the field, are still in camp at that city, the order for their removal, which emanated from General Burnside, having been countermanded. The regiment will remain here for several weeks, and a number of promotions are on the tapis. All the Penna's regiments attached to the 9th army corps will rendezvous there, where they will organize for some special expedition.

The New Nation, a radical paper recently started in New York for the purpose of advocating the claims of Fremont to the abolition-republican nomination, contains in its last issue a severe and tiling article against Mr. Lincoln. It reviews his administration for the purpose of showing that Mr. Lincoln is "the least honest and most dangerous" man in the country. The article is significant in showing the opinion entertained by a portion of the abolition republican party of Mr. Lincoln.

"If in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the Constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be NO change by usurpation; for though this, in one instance, may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free Governments are destroyed. The precedent must always greatly overbalance in permanent evil in any partial or transient benefit which the use can at any time yield."—Washington's Farewell Address.

An officer in a New York regiment, engaged in the recent Florida fight, writes as follows to a relative in this city:

I have had my foot shot off and may lose part of my leg, all for being a delegate to the first political Convention of Lincoln held in Florida.

It appears, from official documents in the State Department, that during the year ending with December, 1863, nearly 200,000 foreign immigrants arrived in the United States.
