this National Loan. Local Organization. The importance of local organization in the coming political campaign cannot be overestimated. The Abolitionists are desperate. They will use all means, fair and the power to fairly and honestly investigate the manner in which these men have robbed the public Treasury and appropristed the public funds to their own uses, into the bands of honest men, and not one

These facts are known to the corrupt and dishonest leaders of the Lincoln Abolition party ; and hence they cry "treason" at The treaty of peace has been signed, bethe men who ask for a change, and they sween Denmark on one side and Prussia will use money, power, bribery, bayonets, false returns, and all the appliances so well known to this infamons political organiza tion, to perpetuate the Lincoln dynasty.— This is their safety, their only escape from well earned and richly deserved punish-ment; for the re-election of Mr. Lincoln it is certainly as well as she could expect, will continue the system of shielding taking in view the great military power rogues, and punishing honest men, which has brought ruin and disgrace upon the nation. These are the motives which will control the Abolition faction in the approaching struggle ; and it now becomes the duty of the Democratic party to devise means to checkmate the designs of this at this office, at moderate prices.
