Be Prepared for the Storm.

The following good advice is from the Chicago Tribune:

" Money is cheap and abundant. A paper dollar is depreciated to forty-four on a future day at a specified price; it is cents, gold value. Currency is plenty, the interest of the delivering party in the intervening period, to depress stocks, and easy, is the prevailing feeling. But soon of the receiving party to raise them. The er or later, the present abnormal conditions of things will terminate accordance to the deliver and the other to the delivering party in the intervening period, to depress stocks, and of the receiving party to raise them. tion of things will terminate perhaps gradually, perhaps suddenly. The values of all commodities, including money, are fearfully "watered," but when the crash comes the water will be bailed out, leaving only what is represented by the gold standard. Men are walking on high stilts, and are making long, but insecure strides. But all must dismount, one of these days, and come down until their feet touch the earth. Many will be precipitated beadlong who now tower alofa on their stilts. Wise and prudent men will prepare in time for the inevitable change. The class who will suffer by the termination of the war are those in debt. A merchant with a stock of goods on hand, worth say $50,-000, and half paid for, will realize enough therefrom to pay what he owes. When still in debt for them from five to ten thousand dollars, and this debt he must liquidate, principal and interest, with gold, or its equivalent, or go into bankruptcy.

The consequence of the end of the war with the debtor class will be to increase every man's debts about 125 per cent.-An obligation of $4,000 will become, in practical effect, $10,000-that is, it will require property or labor now worth in currency $10,000 to pay it. A note outstanding drawing ten per cent. interest will then draw what would now be equivalent to 25 per cent., or thereabouts, to say nothing of the principal of the note, the difficulty of whose payment will swell in a corresponding ratio.

PETROLEUM.

Seven years ago, Venango county, Pa., was regarded as one of the poorest, as it is one of the smallest counties in the state. More than one third of its entire surface could have been purchased for less than three dollars per acre. Its best improved farms would bring little if anything over thirty dollars per acre, and its entire in-dustrial products did not exceed three hundred thousand dollars. Choice oil lands sell now readily at from three hundred to five thousand dollars per acre, and they have been sold as high as forty-five thousand dollars per acre. The yield of oil from the county during the year was over fifty millions of dollars, or greater than the entire coal and iron trade of the entire state of Pennsylvania, and should the present price of oil be sustained, the product will be nearly eighty millions of dollars the coming year.

That oil, as an article of commerce and exportation, is to become of the first importance is very certain. Its uses everywhere are daily multiplying, and the demand for it augmenting in the same proportion. It is rapidly displacing all other substances as a lubricator. As an illuminator outside of cities and towns, where there is no gas, it has taken the place of everything else heretofore employed for that purpose. In time the same will be the case in Europe. Predictions are now made that it will be extensively consumed in the production of gas especially in the towns remote from the coal mines, as there will be a great saving in the difference of the cost of transportation. Nor is it at all unlikely that it will be applied to generating steam in ocean navigation.

There need be no fear of the failure of the supply. The extent of the oil bearing territory and the richness of the deposits, is such that it may be considered inexhaustible. Since the original discovery in Pennsylvania, oil has been found in Western New York, Western Virginia, and Ohio. Fine surface indications are also said to have been discovered on the Pacific coast .- Journal of Commerce.

There is a gentleman in St. Louis, Missouri, who has two bushels and a half of children. His name is Peck, and he is the father of ten boys and girls. Four pecks make one bushel.-Mo. Demo.

There is a lady in West Liberty, Ohio, who has favored her husband with thirty six dozen children at three births. Her name is Gross, and each child is a grossa gross is twelve dozen.-Toledo Blade.

A citizen of Urbana, Ohio, was presented by his wife with a child, some months ago, and he has been the father of one more every morning since. Of course his name is More. Urbana Union.

There is a farmer in Putnam county, N York, who has a mile and a half of children. His name is Furlong, and he has 12 children. Eight furlongs make one mile. -Leader.

Brooklyn, N. Y., claims to be shead of you all, gentlemen. We have a lady here who has presented her husband with two leagues of children. Her name is Miles, and she has been the mother of six little Miles. Three miles make a league. - Eagle.

There is nothing unusual about any of those children, though. When we were taking the census, for 1860, we found a plain farmer in Lenox, Susq'a county, Pa, who had seven remarkable children. Part of them were girls, yet all were perfect mechanics when only seven years of age! Their father's name was Carpenter, and all the babies were carpenters. Montrose

One of Lincoln's postmasters, Mr. Lyman North, in Allegany county, New York, has been convicted of stealing the postage stamps off of letters mailed at his office, and destroying the letters. When detected he confessed his guilt. He is 60 years old, and worth twenty thousand dellarge.

The singular epithets of "bulls," and "bears," were first applied to stock speculators, on the London Exchange, about 1834. When two parties contract, one to deliver and the other to take stocks habit of that animal to pull things down with his paws, and the latter a bull, from the custom of that animal to throw up an object with his horns.

HANOVER, Pa., Feb. 16, 1839.

Dear Sirs:—Having realized in my facility important benefits from the use of your valuable preparation—Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—It afforts me pleasure to recommend it to the public. Some aght years ago one of my danghters seemed to be in a dedine, and little hopes of her recovery were entertained. I then procured a buttle of your excellent Balsam, and before she had taken the whole of the contents of the buttle there was a great improvement in her health. I have, in my individual case, made frequent use of your valuable medicine, and have always been benefitted by it.
