A HINDOO FABLE.

It was six men of Indostan, To learning much inclined, Who went to see the Elephant, (Though all of them were blind,) That each by observation Might satisfy his mind.

The first approached the Elephant, And happening to fall Against his broad and sturdy side,

At once began to bawl:
"God bless me?—but the Elephant Is very like a wall!"

The second, feeling of the tusk, Cried, "Ho! what have we here So very round, and smooth and sharp? To me 'tis mighty clear

This wonder of an Elephant Is very like a spear!"

The third approached the animal, And, happening to take The squirming trunk between his hands Thus boldly up and spake:

"I see," quoth he, "the Elephant Is very like a snake!" The fourth reached out his eager hand, And felt about the knee:

"What this wondrous beast is like Is very plain," quoth he:
"Tis clear enough the Elephant Is very like a tree!"

The fifth, who chanced to touch the ear, Said: "Even the blindest man Can tell what this resembles most; Deny the fact who can, This wonder of an Elephant Is very like a fan!"

The sixth no sooner had begun About the beast to grope, Than, seizing on his swinging tail That fell within his scope,
"I see," quoth he, "the Elephant
"Is very like a rope!"

And so these men of Indostan Disputed lond and long, Each in his opinion Exceeding stiff and strong, Tho' each was partly in the right, And all were in the wrong!

MORAL.

So, oft in theologic wars The disputants I ween, Rail on in utter ignorance Of what each other mean, And prate about an Elephant Not one of them has seen! Translated by John G. Saze.

A High Wind.

An old chap named Peter H-lived in an old, one story wooden house of not very extensive dimensions, and when it was subjected to the force of one of those burricanes so numerous of late years at the West, its power of resistance was insufficient to withstand so great a pressure, and it yielded to the point without a struggle; however, it was not upset or torn to pieces, but merely moved a few rods. In the course of the journey the stove spilt out, and the danger of conflagration was imminent. Old Peter was too much excited to notice the removal of his house, and seeing the necessity of immediately applying water to the burning Washington, Philadelphia. embers on the floor, he seized a bucket and darted off behind the house, when great was his astonishment to find all traces of the well obliterated. After looking in blank astonishment a moment, he called out to his wife, "Sarah, I'll be blaimed if the wind has not blowed the well clear out of the lot! there's not so much as a stone left!"

The passengers grumble a little, just as though they had any rights the company were bound to respect. The other day, when the conductor came along for the tickets, a dry old farmer said, as he banded over the requisite paper:

"See here, young man, ain't you made a mistake?" "Mistake! no! What d'ye mean?"

was the answer.

Journal says Mr. Hamlin is so set upon by office seekers that he has threatened to resign if the pressure does not diminish. What a commentary on "loyalty!" Never in the history of this country, have so many hungry and persistent office hunters been developed. The first class facilities for stealing, and the almost certain immunity from punishment—which are THE RUSH FOR OFFICE.—The Boston immunity from punishment—which are marked characteristics of modern Republican rule have assuredly largely augmented the number of applicants for office during the past few years. Crows and buzzards are sharpscented, and can smell corruption at almost infinite distances, and so it seems, is true of the "very loy-

Shame on them, one and all; on Johnson who has basely betrayed those who placed him in power, and to the negroes, to whom he offered himself as a Moses; on Seward, on Stanton, on the whole set, who have not the honor to resist him, and failing success, to abandon help to impeach him; and, alas, alas!-shame on the whole North, who not only permit for one moment wrong to go on, but actually hesitate to arraign this infamous agent at Washington."

This is the most horrible treason. Secretary Stanton should immediately incarcerate the vile Republican Copperhead in military prison, and order General Hunter or Gen. Lew Wallace to convict him of treason.

Montrose, Feb. '64. HISTORY OF THE WORLD.

BY PHILIP SMITH, B. A., ne of the principal contributors to the Dictionaries of Greek and Roman Antiquities, Biography, and Geography.

Plan of the Work. Blan of the Work.

Since Sir Walter Raleigh colaced his imprisonment in the Tower by the composition of his "History of the World," the Literature of England has never achieved the work which he left unfinished. There have been "Universal Histories," from the bulk of an encyclopædia to the most meagre outline, in which the annals of each nation are separately recorded; but without an attempt to trace the story of Divine Providence and human progress in one connected narrative. It is proposed to supply this want by a work, condensed enough to keep it within a reasonable size, and yet so full as to be free from the dry baldness of an epitome. The literature of Germany abounds in history—such as those of Mailer, Schlosser, Karl Von Rotteck, Duncker, and others,—which at once prove the demand for such a book, and furnish models, in some degree, for its execution. But even those great works are somewhat deficients and furnish models, in some degree, for its execution. But even those great works are somewhat deficient in that organic unity which is the chief aim of this "History of the World."

that organic unity which is the chief aim of this "History of the World."

The story of our whole race, like that of each separate nation, has "a beginning, a middle and an end." That story we propose to follow, from its beginning in the sacred records, and from the dawn of civilization in the East,—through the succeive Oriental Empires,—the rise of liberty and the perfection of heathen polity, arts, and literature in Greece and Rome,—the change which passed over the face of the world when the light of Christianity sprung up—the origin and first appearance of those barbarian races which overthrew both divisions of the Roman Empire,—the annals of the States which rose on the Empire's ruins, including the picturesque details of medieval history, and the steady progress of modern liberty and civilization,—and the extension on these influences, by discovery, conquest, colonization, and Christian missions, to the remotest regions of the earth. In a word, as separate histories reflect the definition into one view the several parts which assured by form one great whole, moving onwards, under the guidance of Divine Providence, to the unknown end ordained in the Divine purposes.

No pains will be spared to make this history scholar dained in the Divine purposes.

No pains will be spared to make this history scholar like in purpose and popular in style. It will be founded on the best authorities, ancient and modern, original and secondary. The vast progress recently made in historical and critical investigations, the results obtained from the modern science of comparative philology, and the discoveries which have laid open new sources of information concerning the East, afford such facilities as to make the present a fit epoch for our undertaking.

The work will be divided into three Periods, each complete in itself, and will form Eight Volumes in Demy Octavo.

THE LONG ARM CHOP. It is put up in neat pound papers, 60 pounds in a box. It is rapidly becoming a favorite Tea with the commity. From present appearances it is destined not only to become a great favorite, but standard Tea, in consequence of its fineness and sweetness of flavor and great strength—which makes it

The Most Economical Tea in Use.

The Most Economical Tea in Use.

We have long made it a study to furnish a Tea which would suit all varieties of tastes, but never until the production of our Long Abr Coro have we felt that we had attained that much desired and long sought for object. The Long Arm Chop is a Black Tea with Green Tea sinvor, and can be relied upon for its uniform purity and healthy effects. This Tea is composed of the choicest leaves, and cured without coloring matter of any kind, and in précisely the same manner as if prepared for native consumption. It is consequently more wholesome and delicate in flavor than the artificially colored Teas. Natives of Tea countries never color teas artificially nor sort them into Gunpowders, Imperials, Hysons, Twankays, &c., for their own consumption: they do so only when preparing them for other markets. It will be perceived, therefore, that the Long Arm Chop combines the virtues of all the varieties of original and natural Teas.

It is the alm of The Great American Tea Company in introducing this Tea to the public to make it mutually advantageous to them and ourselves.

ET The Company warrant this tea to all tea dealers, and the dealers extend the guaranty to consumers, that if the tea is not perfectly satisfactory it can be returned and the money refunded.

It does not contain mercury, and hence an absence of the difficulties that in such a variety of ways occurs, or are liable to occur with the agent.

Its Qualities and Advantages.

This filling is designed for making perfect and durable plugs, as a substitute for gold where economy is an object; and for inferior material where the Teeth can be saved, and not for temporarily stopping those which are diseased and worthless.

Assuming then that it be skillfully used, the Plastic Metallic Filling possesses advantages above every other material but gold for filling Teeth while it can be ematerial but gold for filling Teeth while it can be emmaterial but gold for filling Teeth, while it can be employed in many cases where gold cannot. It can be introduced with facility and accumtely secured. It molds closely to the walls of the cavity without recession or shrinkage, forming a perfect plug, solid throughout, thus excluding air and moisture.

Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMEOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA.
