Mr. Lincoln on Negro Equality.

We have shown, time and again, by citations from Mr. Lincoln's writings and speeches, that the pretense of the Radicals that they are the executors of his political will and testament, is utterly false. Presidency:

I am not, nor ever have been, in favor of making voters or jurors of negroes, nor of qualifying thein to hold office, nor intermarrying them with the white people, and I will say, in addition to this, that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which, I believe, will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality. And, inasmuch as they cannot so live while they do remain together, there must be the position of superior and inferior, and I, as much as any other man, am in favor of having the superior posi-tion assigned to the white race.

The Danger Ahead.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, (a Republican paper,) writes:

"The country may as well understand it now as to be compelled to learn it when too late, that the impeachment of the President means the inauguration of civil war, which must be fought out, not in the distant South, and along the Mississippi River, but in every city and village of the North, commencing in the city of Washington."

There is truth in the above. If we had a Constitutional House of Representatives to impeach, and a Constitutional Senate to try the President, it would be different. That officer could not and would not interpose anything to prevent it. But now it is folly to suppose that a Congressional Rump embracing only a portion of the States, which by pure physical force excludes the others from participation in its deliberations would be allowed to proceed further in its career of usurpation, by exercising the executive power also.

A full Senate to try the President wo'd consist of seventy-two members, two from each of the thirty-six States of the Union. To convict would require two-thirds, or forty-eight Senators. There are but fifty members of the Rump, all told, of whom not over thirty-two could be induced to sustain an impeachment.

Neither the President nor the country would allow its Executive to be removed from office by less than two-thirds of the Senate of the United States. An attempt to do so would be an act of revolution in the Government, full of personal peril to all engaged in it. The President is the representative of all the States, and will not be removed by any tribunal less broad and extensive than that .- Cincinnati In-

Nègro Suffrage.

The Iowa Legislature, which is made np of two thirds Republicans has passed a joint resolution amending their State Constitution, by extending the right of sufare distributing any amount of documents advocating the measure. Forney in his Press of this week speaks in the most laudatory terms, of the action of Philadelphianegroes, who have subscribed upwards of $2,000 to aid in distributing radical disunion documents throughout the Commonwealth. These conservative Republicans who are opposed to negre suffrage should make a note of this.

Congressional Courtesy.

The other day, while Senator Cowan, of Pa., was making a speech. he said-"This government of the United States. is a government of delegated powers." Mr. Howe-I should like to see the authority for that."

Mr. Cowan - I am aware there are and to legislate here upon this floor as if country. I know such gentlemen sneer; I know they snigger at this doctrine; and I know that a man has a right to snigger at his own disgrace and at his own ignorance. He has that right there is no doubt! I know of no provision in the Freedmen's Bureau Bill, and endorsing making just as big a fool of himself as he pleases. I do not know any law to the Legislative Axe-Grinding.

Special legislation is, and has long been, the peculiar curse of Pennsylvania. This one cause lies at the bottom of all the corruption at Harrisburg, and so long as there are no general laws under which railroad Here is another piece of damaging and as well as all other corporations may be conclusive testimony against them, which organized at will we must expect to see we should like to see somebody attempt men denouncing in vain the bribery of to answer or refute. It is an extract from members. It is for this reason more than a speech made by Mr. Lincoln at Colum. any other that we earnestly support the bus, Ohio, on the eve of his election to the | proposition to enact a free railroad law, feeling assured that this is the only policy calculated to clear the legislative halls of the corrupt agents of the great monopoly, and restore to us our ancient freedom once more. Some efforts have been made in this direction of general laws that serve to show the attempt to be worth pursuing and very likely to be successful. When the Hon. Samuel J. Randall was a member of the State Senate, he presented and had enacted into a law a bill to establish a system of free banking in the Commonwealth. The Hou. Hiester Clymer subsequently presented and had enacted laws providing in the same manner for the incorporation of all kinds of mining and manufacturing companies, and additions afterwards made to these laws greatly enlarged their scope. The next step taken was in the shape of an amendment to the Constituton of the commonwealth prohibting the Legislature from passing acts in any case where the courts had jurisdiction under the laws of the State. These measures covered a wide field and obviated the necessity for an immense amount of special legislation. It must be remembered also that general laws had long before been enacted, authorizing the courts to incorporate building or land companies, and to charter library and other literary associations. Thus gradually we have gone on, making progress in the right direction, relieving the Legislature of much of the vast amount of business pressing upon it at every session, and at the same time furnishing facilities to the people to carry on their business affairs without ununccessary expense or delay. Why then should we apprehend any obstacle in attempting to procure the en actment of a free railroad law? We know that the monopoly will oppose it. But it will be heartily and earnestly sustained by all the other leading railroad corporations in the State; and the experience we have had in the cases just cited ought to encourage us to go into the struggle manfully.

At every succeeding session of the Legislature the annual message of the Governor contains a paragraph condemning special legislation, and urging the Legislature to set its face resolutely against the injurious policy. Yet each Legislature that is so admonished goes on just the same as before to repeat the scenes of axe grinding and corruption, and special legislation rules the roost. It is not to be forgotten however that, bad as are these bodies, the members feel impelled at every session to pay enough respect to public opinion, to pass some one or two bills of real utility, seemingly to atone for the rest of their record. This is the way in which the previous general laws have been passed, whenever a member could be found sufficiently energetic or public spirited to prepare and urge such a meas-

There is therefore no adequate reason frage to negroes. In Michigan, where the us, and if we can but secure a hearty co-Republican disunionists have entire conoperation throughout the State in the trol, at the recent local elections, the ne- effort to compel all the legislative candigroes were permitted to vote for the first. dates to put themselves down in writing time. The Miner's Journal, of Pottsville, as committed to vote for and sustain a a radical disunion sheet, publishes the above with warm words of approval. The of the power of the agents of the Geary party are evidently preparing the monopoly. We hope, however, now that people to bring about the same result in the members of the last Legislature have this State. So confident have they be-come, and so sanguine are they of ulti-they will be called to a strict account for mately bringing the principle of negro their course in failing to enact the law at suffrage to bear in Pennsylvania, that they the session just closed. All of them, or nearly all of them, are candidates for renomination, and all should be put upon their record and compelled to explain it, and if they cannot do so satisfactorily they should be thrown overboard.

We are pleased to observe that in the western part of the State, this is being done very generally. The papers of Pittsburg, Bedford, Somerset and other parts are canvassing the votes and acts of their Senators and Representatives in very plain terms, not hesitating, as was quoted n the last Germantown Telegraph, to mention names and demand explanations. This should not be mistaken for mere personality, since it is the constitutional right of every citizen to discuss and investigate the legislative course of his own immediate representatives. It is this great great many people who do not understand right that we now invoke, not for the that; and who really come here and at purpose of venting spleen on any one man tempt to be Senators of the United States, or knot of men, but to purge the Legislature of this commonwealth of the corrupt they were members of Parliament, and as influence of a despotic and overshadowing if they had omnipotent power over this railroad monopoly and to rid ourselves of its tools .- Germantown Telegraph, > Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, now Foreign Minister, has written a letter home severely condemning the course of the President's policy generally. Mr. Clay was one of the earliest of the champions of the anti-slavery cause, but he cannot endorse the Radical programme.
