Pemocrat. Montrose A. J. GERRITSON, Editor. TUESDAY, OCT. 16, 1866. The Elections-Past and Future.

The October elections are over, and although we have made a handsome gain over the results of former years, yet we lose the State by a small majority-how much we may not know until all the official returns are published. Eight or ten thousand will cover Geary's majority, while it may be much less. Last year we were beaten 22,000.

wish it might have been, leaves the future Our fields have yielded quite abundantly. full of hope for the Democracy. Such a gain in the face of the falsehoods, frauds, tend our railroad system far into the inand corrupt means used by the radicals, terior recesses of the country, while our shows that upon a renewal of the contest, we must win. It must be remembered that the federal patronage, power and influence, has been practically against us .--True, many removals have been made, but many yet remain to be made. Where recommend that Thursday, the 29th day Commerce. removals were made there has not been time to give full effect to the changes.-The money has been upon the wrong the people thereof, as a day of thanksgivside, and has been used with telling effect against us; for the radicals, hoping that their triumph would force the President to terms with them, have risked everything, and used money freely wherever it would tell for their benefit.

But though failing to win this time, the President and his friends will not hesitate what to do. The axe falls daily, and disunion heads roll off with pleasing rapidity; and within a month not a radical, maineth King forever; them that are high or low, will remain in office where a change is asked for. With the loss of patronage, the power of radicalism falls; and we have but to make good use of our situation to completely turn the tide in 1867, and 1868, and secure the election of a President by a vote of all the States .--This done, the radicals who struggle for disunion as their only hope to continue in [SEAL]and sixty six, and of the Indepenpower, will be found in a miserable miuority.

But the work for the future must begin now. Our people must have faith in the Union; keep in view the bright side of the prospect; stand firmly and earnestly by our organization and principles, and enter, at once and thoroughly, upon the work before us ... The pantamine bordocratic newspapers and documents must receive a more extended circulation, and the slanders and falsehoods of radicalism of the North are daily filled to overflowbe exposed and refuted.

share; and especially those who expect office from the President and his friends, must take hold of the work in earnest, and aid in securing the victory.

Thanksgiving Appointed. WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.

The following Proclamation has just been issued by the President of the United States :---"Almighty God, our heavenly Father, has been pleased to vouchsafe to us as a people another year of that national life which is an indispensable condition of peace, security and progress. That year from the old religious and social restraints. has, moreover, been crowned with many peculiar blessings. The civil war that so recently closed among us, has not been anywhere reopened.

Negro Lawyers.

A negro had the impudence to apply for admission to practice in the Criminal Court of the District of Columbia a few days ago, and a white man was mean enough to move to admit him. The name of the aspiring African is Jonathan J. Wright, late of Pennsylvania, and he is said to have been engaged in his profession at the bar of the Freedmen's Court in South Carolina. The court appointed three lawyers to examine into his qualifications. He will probably be admitted. as the Judge of that Court is a brainless Abolitionist; who was imported into the District during the war .- Exchange.

This is the same negro who was admitted to the Bar of Susquehanna county, in condition of their fellow men, wherever August, under the modern radical doc home may happen to be. We were ritrine of equality.

The same custom prevails still, and there are scores of men who employ themselves in manufacturing the stuff which is thus spread before the public. The habit of judging an entire people by specific instances of wrong doing is so general that it pays well for political effect to circulate these stories. A long Alabama or Mississippi is read with avidity, and accepted as proof of the utter demoralization of the entire State in which it is said to have occurred.

A careful sifting of the truth from the falsehoods now current leads to the conviction that the average of moral goodness and peaceable living is not higher at the North than at the South. If we were to judge by specific cases we should be compelled to give judgment against the North in the comparison, for the issues of the press from all parts of the North has proven to the proprietors of this intaken as proving the character of the entire North.
