The constant iteration of the cry " Circulate Democratic papers," has, we be-lieve, done some good. We believe that a' more general conviction now exists with Democrats generally that it is their duty to aid in circulating sound papers, and in discouraging the circulation of unsound ones, than at any former time. But we are also convinced that in this raspect we are still far behind our opposents. They will rarely ever touch os read a Demoeratic paper, and while this is carrying bigotry too far, yet Democrats often err in exactly the opposite extreme. For some triffe they will be induced to subscribe for a paper that will poison the minds of their children, and make them inveterate abolitionists. It is no more than justice to that every man now publishes a Democratic paper, does
