

My wife's an exceedingly practical woman. I play her much, however, and humor her little ways. It's a reckless school that she benches me, and the young man in our neighborhood who said to me as I was distending my diaphragm with a gentle oxtail at the village tavern—who said to me in these very langwidge, "go home, old man, unless you want another teapot throwed at you by B. J." probably regrets hevin' said so. I said, "Betty Jane is my wife's front name, gentle youth, and I permits no person to alood to her as B. J. outside of the family circle, of which I am it principally myself. Your other observations I scorn and disgust, and I must polish you off." He was an able bodied young man, and, removin' his coat, he inquired if I wanted to be ground to powder? I said yes, if there was a powder grindist handy, nothing would ford me greater pleasure, when he struck me a painful blow into my right eye, 'cuz I was to make a rapid retreat into the fire place. I hadn't no idea that the enemy was so well organized. But I rallied and went for him, in a rather vigorous style for my time of life. His parents lived near by and I will supply state that fifteen minutes had only elapsed after his first hit, when he was carried home on a stretcher. His mamma met the solum procession at the door and after keorfully looking over her offspring, she said, "My son, I see how it is distinctly. You've been foolin' around a thrashin' mackeen. You went in at the place where they put the grain into the thinganyjig and let the hosses tread on you, didn't you, my son?" The pen of no livin' orthur could describe that disfortunit young man's situation more clearer. But I was sorry for him, and I went and nussed him till he got well. His regular original father had went to the war. I told him I'd be a father to him myself. He smid a sickly smile, and said I'd already been wuss than two fathers to him.

Anecdotes of Lafitte the Pirate.
At a meeting recently held at St. Louis, for the purpose of forming a historical society, the elders of the city related many reminiscences of the old times, among which was the following story of the pirate Lafitte: In those days there were three men in the village who used to recount their adventures with the pirates as members of his crew. They were once chased by an English man of war. Broadside after broadside was fired at the pursuer—every inch of canvas was spread to the wind—and every manœuvre known to an accomplished seaman was executed in vain—the Englishman was fast overhauling them, and their shot and grape told fearfully.

Lafitte himself was wounded in the leg. He jumped into a barrel full of flour to staunch the blood, and from that position waved his sword above his head to defiance and encouragement of his men. Still the man of war was gaining on them and pouring storms of iron into them and their rigging. Soon the shot gave out. "Charge the guns with dollars and doubloons!" cries Lafitte from the flour barrel, and in they went for there were plenty on board. The Englishman received the dose, and amazed and confounded at the extreme novelty of the missiles, were aground and quit the action. The pirate escaped.

Mysterious Disappearance.
A young lady named Merceella Simmons, has been missing from our neighboring village of Hawley for a week past, under circumstances which leave but little ground to doubt that she has either met with a fatal accident or been foully dealt with. On Wednesday evening of last week at six o'clock, she left the Millinery establishment of her employer, Mrs. Danlop, to go to her home, and since that time no trace of her can be found. It was at first feared that she had been drowned, as she was obliged to cross a small bridge on the way to her residence; but a thorough search of the river for miles below Hawley has failed to reveal anything to confirm that theory of disappearance. A belief that she has been abducted by some unprincipled villain is now becoming general.

She was a young lady of good standing in the community, and no efforts will be spared to clear up the mystery which attends her sudden disappearance.—Honesdals Herald.

If the United States were as densely populated as France, our population would amount to 628,000,000; if as densely as Belgium the United States would then contain 1,195,000,000 inhabitants—110,086,000 more than the population of the entire world in 1866.

Great Britain contains 235 persons to the square mile; Italy, 225; France, 180; Prussia, 179; Austria, 155; Spain, 84; Turkey, 18; the United States, 11; Russian Empire, 0. Russian Europe, 32, and Brazil, 3. The eight European countries named are said to contain over 270,000,000 inhabitants.

It is related of a son of Robert E. Lee that at a recent dinner party in Richmond, one of the guests proposed as a toast, "the Fallen Flag." Colonel Lee promptly placed his hand upon the glass and arose. "Gentlemen," said he, "this will not do. We are paroled prisoners. We now have but one flag, and that is the flag of our whole country—the glorious old stars and stripes. I can recognize no other, fight for no other, and will drink to no other."

A Boston pedagogue has been arrested at Irvington for mildly whipping a boy in his school so that he died on the 3d instant. He is to be tried for murder.

GROVER & BAKER'S SEWING MACHINES

WHERE AWARDED THE HIGHEST PREMIUMS

At the State Fairs of New York, Illinois, Virginia, New Jersey, Michigan, N. Carolina, Vermont, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Alabama, Ohio, Kentucky, Oregon, Indiana, Missouri, California.

At the Fairs of the American Institute, Franklin Institute, Maryland In-stitute, Massachusetts Mechanics' Association, Penn. Mechanics' Institute, St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanics' Association.

And at numerous Institute and County Fairs, including all the Fairs at which they were exhibited the past three years. First prizes have also been awarded these machines at the exhibitions of London, Paris, Dublin, Litz, Beauncon, Bayonne, St. Dizier, Chalons,

And they have been furnished by special command to the Empress of France, Empress of Austria, Empress of Russia, Queen of Spain, and Queen of Bavaria.

The Grover & Baker Sewing Machine is superior to all others for the following reasons:

1. They sew direct from the spools, and require no re-winding of threads.
2. They are more easily understood and used, and less liable to derangement than any other machines.
3. They are capable of executing perfectly, without change of adjustment, a much greater variety of work than other machines.
4. The stitch made by these machines is much more firm, elastic and durable, especially upon articles which require to be washed and ironed, than any other stitch.
5. This stitch, owing to the manner in which the needle thread is introduced, is much the most plump and beautiful in use, and retains its plumpness and beauty even upon articles frequently washed and ironed until they are worn out.
6. The structure of the seam is such that, though it be cut broken at intervals only a few stitches, it will neither open, run, or ravel, but remains firm and durable.
7. Unlike other machines, these fasten both ends of the seam by their own operation.
8. With these machines, while silk is used upon the right or face side of the seam, cotton may be used upon the other side without lessening the strength or durability of the seam. This can be done on no other machine, and is a great saving upon all articles stitched or made up with silk.
9. These machines, in addition to their superior merits as instruments for sewing, by a change of adjustment, easily and readily, execute the most beautiful and permanent embroidery and ornamental work.
