

The Military Reconstruction Bill.

We agree with the National Intelligencer that the bill which passed the House last Thursday, will make the blackest record which ever stained the records of a free people...

The bill which passed by a vote of 109 to 55, hands one third of the people of this country over to military government. For the rule of law, it substitutes the will of an officer...

Macshane, the Harrisburg correspondent of the Cambria Freeman, makes the following reference to the members, in his last letter: Our African friends, or the sons of Ham, are getting in better odor every day...

Such a bill makes a mockery of free institutions. It despoils all the great safeguards of popular liberty. It tramples on the freedom of the press. It annihilates the right of free assemblage...

Allegheny county is represented in the Senate by Bigam and Graham, and between the hams she is well taken care of. The former has been elected twice, which subjects his constituents to the charge of Bigamy.

R. L. Jones, son of Hon. J. Glancy Jones of Reading, is the youngest member, and, by the way, a young man of much promise. Morrow B. Lowry is the oldest member. He is always calm, and yet always ruffled...

Samuel C. Wingard, Esq., of Lycoming, formerly of Cambria, is regarded as the most eloquent man in either branch, and Peter F. Collins, of Cambria, is the best looking man in either branch.

William A. Wallace, of Clearfield is the best Parliamentarian; Mr. William Jenks, of Jefferson, the best logician, and Mr. Davis, of Berks, the most ready debater.

Hon. Louis W. Hall, speaker of the Senate is quick, but always frank and candid, and is considered the Hall of the Senate. Mr. Glass, speaker of the House, is active and energetic, but one of the members from the same county is called Stack.

Feb. 17—In the Senate, the Senate amendment to the bankrupt bill was insisted upon, and a committee of conference agreed to. In the House, the Senate amendments to the invalid pension bill were concurred in.

not appreciate the peril, and comes to the rescue until hours after the mischief is perpetrated. The effort to fix criminal responsibility upon the President is perfectly abortive, and all the quibbling distortion of Mr. Eliot and his co-laborer cannot pervert the simple facts so grossly as to plausibly impugn the conduct of the National executive in the slightest.

Superior Rights to Negroes. Every Republican, except one, in the State Senate, voted for the bill making it an offense punishable by fine and imprisonment, for any incorporated railroad company or its employees to refuse the admission of Negroes into any passenger car.

Feb. 17—In the Senate, the Senate amendment to the bankrupt bill was insisted upon, and a committee of conference agreed to. In the House, the Senate amendments to the invalid pension bill were concurred in.

The Journal was then read and the House proceeded to the consideration of the military reconstruction bill, the question being upon the motion to concur in the Senate amendment. The vote was taken and resulted, yeas 73; nays 97; so the amendment was not concurred in.

Feb. 20—The House, soon after assembling, took up the military subjugation bill. Mr. Shellabarger's amendment was adopted—yeas, 98; nays 70. The house then concurred with the Senate amendment as amended by Mr. Shellabarger, by a vote of 125 to 46.

The Senate received the announcement by the Clerk of the House of the action of that body upon the military reconstruction bill. The house amendments being read, Mr. Williams moved that the Senate concur.

Radical Love for the Boys in Blue. Our "boys in blue" should note the action of the United States Senate in the matter of confirming appointments made by the President. During the recent political canvass the radicals made direct appeals to the soldiers, declared they should be preferred on all occasions in the distribution of official patronage, and proclaimed that the "boys in blue" were the wards of the nation, and should be taken care of as such.

The Cleveland Plaindealer, while speaking of the rejection of Colonel Moe, as Marshal of the Northern District of Ohio, sums up the recent doings of the hopeful cabal that are now ruling the Senate. Colonel Moe, says the Plaindealer, is not the only soldier who has felt the vengeance of the Senate.

Whitewashing Done Here. The report and "testimony" of the Committee appointed to find out nothing in relation to fraud and corruption in the election of Simon Cameron to the U. S. Senate, takes up just two columns and one half of Simon's own organ.

In all parts of the nation the Radicals are engaged in teaching the people to disregard the decisions of the highest judicial tribunal of the land. The official correspondence and inquiries into the alleged flaunting of a Confederate flag in Richmond, develops the fact that some children found in an outhouse an old regimental flag (not a Confederate one) and played with it, the older members of the family knowing nothing of the affair until their attention was drawn to it by angry letter from General Granger.

Two brothers, named William and Chas. C. Lowry, aged respectively sixteen and fifteen years, were drowned in the Holland street dock, Lake Erie, on Friday afternoon. An Englishman having purchased a small demijohn of whiskey, and being a member of the "Sons of Temperance," he undertook to disguise the drinker in a bag; but the bag not being long enough to cover the neck of the bottle, an Irishman who happened to be present, suggested as a means of reducing the size of the package, "to take a few drinks out of it."

The act for the more efficient government of the Bureau of Revolutionary Statistics (known as Thad. Stevens' military statistics bill) was passed in the House on Sunday morning at 6.15, by a vote of yeas 29, nays 13. The radicals do not seem to "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy."

The House of the "West Virginia" Legislature have transferred the capital of the bogus State from Wheeling to Morgantown. Professor Bache, for many years Superintendent of the Coast Survey, died at Newport, Rhode Island, on the 17th from softening of the brain.

P. T. Barnum—the great humbug—has been nominated for Congress by the Radicals of the Fourth Connecticut district. After the radicals had better hold their tongues about John Montrose.

Nicely Trapped. A memorable incident took place last night in the Senate, Mr. Henderson, of Missouri, was denouncing the South for having rejected the constitutional amendment, when Mr. Doolittle quietly interrupted him with the question, "How has the South rejected it?" By their Legislature. The words were hardly out of his mouth before he felt himself entrapped, and quick as thought the Wisconsin Senator demanded, "How can they have Legislatures unless they are States, and if they are not States, why censure them for rejecting the amendment?"

Radical Morality. Governor Stone, of Iowa, is in a pretty fix. Last year a committee of the Iowa Legislature was appointed to investigate a deficiency of $35,000 in the Governor's accounts, and took the testimony of Governor Stone. Recently the same matter was brought before a referee, and the Governor again called as a witness, when he swore to the contrary of what he had previously testified before the committee.

The Great Humbug for Congress. A recent telegram from Connecticut announced that P. T. Barnum, famous for his woolly horse and patent mermaid, had been nominated for Congress by the radicals of the Fourth District of that State. Mr. Theodore Tilton, of the New York Independent, in view of the great showman's probable success at the polls, suggested "that inasmuch as Congress is something of a humbug, it is just the place for Barnum." For once we agree with Mr. T.

Specimen of Political Priests. The Yankee Reverend Joel Lindley, who beat his little three year old child to death in a flagellation lasting two hours and a half, says: "I never could have punished my child for an hour or half an hour, or anything like it, in anger, and to have done so would have been monstrous." Had the fellow been in anger there might have been some extenuation, but when he says—"I was not angry or in a passion in all this" he proves himself to be one of the most cold blooded, cruel brutes that ever cut a throat.

It is stated that President Lincoln, on being asked by a Bostonian, appointed Mr. Bancroft, a now dead, collector of Boston, replied, "Sir, it has recently been officially declared in Massachusetts, if I am not mistaken, that non-residence is not a disqualification for office." "This alleged joke" had reference to the election of Butler to Congress from a district in which he did not reside. This is clearly illegal; but a Port Collector need not be a resident. Hamlin, of Maine, held the office under Lincoln.

Singular Fact.—The Youth's history of the war says: One singular fact in connection with the death of Mr. Lincoln was that no coroner's inquest was held on his body; no legal evidence taken as to the manner of his death, nor was a single person accused of connection with it ever brought into a court of law nor is there to this day any legal testimony whatever, as to the manner of his death, the cause of it, or who killed him.

The radical mayor of New London, Connecticut, has been fined for illegally selling liquor. A few days since, two gentlemen of Chicago came near fighting a duel because one of them paid the fare of the other's wife in a street car.

While a young man in Wisconsin was enjoying a tete-a-tete with a young lady, the green eyed monster in the shape of a rival rushed in and stabbed him in the back and neck. At Honesdale, Pa., on Friday, while a salute was being fired over the grave of Captain Joseph Scovier, of the Twelfth Pennsylvania heavy artillery, a cannon was discharged prematurely, wounding three men, two of them fatally.

The charter election in Syracuse resulted in the choice of a Democratic Mayor and a majority of the Common Council. Sumner was once sharply criticised as a man who would see the negro starve unless he could confine him to bread of his own particular baking. Time between Omaha and Salt Lake city now is only eight days. Three of them are occupied in the trip from Omaha to Denver, and the remaining five from Denver to Salt Lake city. In the eight days' travel there are 300 miles of railroad and 900 of staging—total, 1200 miles. A little boy in Wisconsin was being put to bed the other night about dark, when he objected to going so early. His mother told him the chickens went to bed early and he must do so too. The little fellow said he would, if his mother would do as the old hens did—go to bed first, then coax the chickens to come.

FOUTZ'S CELEBRATED HORSE AND CATTLE POWDERS.
