Bothering a Witness:

About twenty years ago, when President Pierce and the present Senator Clark stood at the head of the Hillsborough bar, in New Hampshire, there was a upon the docket a celebrated suit called the "Horse Case . This action was brought by Smith and Jones, livery stable keepers, against one White, to recover the value of a pair of horses alleged to have been killed by the defendant while conveying an insane man to the asylum at Concord. There was plenty of proof that the horses died soon after their arrival there; but the defeudant took the ground that they died of disease and not from being overheated, and that a sufficient time had been allowed them to travel that distance with ease. Then is became necesssary to show the jury the time of starting and the time of arrival. Many citizens were brought forward, among them a tall, bony, slab-sided, lank, sleepy looking fellow, who offi-ciated as hostler at the hotel. I give you the substance of the concluding portion of the examination:

"What time, sir, did I understand you to say it was when the horses were driv- Auctioneer, and Insurance Agent, en up to the stable?"

"Just as I was goin' to dinner." "What time was it when you went to dinner the day before-by the clock?"

" Just twelve." To minute, sir?"

"Yes sir." "What time was it when you went to dinner that day—by the clock?"
"Ingu twelve."

"To a minute?".

"Yes, sir." "What time did you go to dinner the day before that—by the clock?"

"At twelve." "To a minute, sir?"

"Yesysir."
"And what time did you go to dinner a week previous-by the clock?"

"At twelve." To a minute, sir ?"

"Yes, sir." "Now, sir, will you be good enough to tell the jury what time you went to dinner three months before the last date -by the clock?"

"At twelve." "To a minute, sir?"

"Yes, sir." "That is all, sir," replied the counsel, with a gleam of satisfaction on his face and a glance at the jury, as much as to say, "That man has settled his testimony, gentlemen." And so we all thought, till just as he was leaving the stand, he turned to his questioner with a curious, comical expression on his face, and drawl-

That ere clock was out of kilter, and has stood still at 12 o'clock, for the last six months.

There was a general roar in the gallery where I sat. Mr. Clark sat down, and I noticed that the judge had to use his handkerchief just then.

Radical Love for Soldiers.

The New York Citizen, the organ of the soldiers, and defender of their claims for consideration at the hands of the Radical party exposes, in a plain, powerful style, the boasted regard of that faction for the veterans of the late war and their families. In a recent article that paper points out the manner in which the late attacks upon executive patronage are made to operate to the evident prejudice of the soldiers. The Citizen cays: "Being unable to remove the present incuming una ing unagle to remove the present incumbente, though they have fattened in office for the past six years, the President is of course powerless to roward those who have bled and suffered for the country in the field.

A CURIOUS CASE.—The Chicago, husband who went away on business January 31, and came home February 16, to find that his wife had got a divorce from him meantime, and married another man, was only a sample case. The only witness against him, the charge being cruelty, was the new husband. As some atonement, this is the third case noticed within a week where courts have set aside their decres of divorce after one of the parties had married again. There is a fourth case, which equally illustrates the looseness of our marriage laws, where a man, as a mere practical joke, obtained the legal separation of a newly married couple, by acting as attorney for the gentleman, whom he made the plaintiff in his absence on the wedding tour. On his return he found the decree on his office table, and learned that for the latter days honeymoon he had been illegally cohabiting with his former wife, and was obliged to take out a new license and get married again. Lord Brougham once said in Parliament, not half the people knew whether or not they were legally married.

The Grover & Baker Elastic Stitch Sewing Machines re superior to all others for the following reasons: 1. They sow direct from the spools, and require no revinding of thread.

2. They are more easily understood and used, and less liable to derangement than any other machines.

3. They are capable of executing perfectly, without change of adjustment, a much greater variety of work than other machines.

4. The stitch made by these machines is much more firm, elastic and durable, especially upon articles which require to be washed and ironed, than any other stitch. 5. This stitch, owing to the manner in which the under thread is inwrought, is much the most plump and beautiful in use, and retains this plumpness and beauty even upon articles frequently washed and ironed until they are worn out.

6. The structure of the seam is such that, though it be cut or broken at intervals of only a few stitches, it will neither open, rair, or ravel, but remains firm and durable.

durable.
7. Unlike other machines, these fasten both ends of the sam by their own operation.
8. With these machines, while silk is used upon the right or face side of the seam, cotton may be used upon the other side without lessening the strength or durability of the seam. This can be done on no other machine, and is a great saving upon all articles stitched or made up with silk.

made up with silk.

9. These machines, in addition to their superior merits as instruments for sewing, by a change of adjustment, easily learned and practiced, execute the most beautiful and permanent embroidery and ornamental
