

MY CASTLE.
BY FRANCIS DE HAES JANVIER.
"The rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell; and great was the fall of it."—MATTHEW, vii, 27.
I built a castle, where the sunny sea
Tossed its bright billows in the summer
air;
A noble castle,—fashioned regally,
With lofty towers, and portals wide and fair.

The rarest marbles paved its spacious halls;
Grand arches spanned each ceiling's
stately height;
With rich mosaics glowed its paneled
walls;
And through stained windows, poured prismatic light.

I filled it with the choicest works of art
That taste, and skill, and labor, could supply;
With treasures gleaned from every famous mart;
With all the luxury that wealth could buy.

And there, unmindful of the perished past,
Or what, in the dim future, might befall,
Within the present, beautiful and vast,
I bade my heart be happy—and abide.

But suddenly, the sky was filled with gloom;
A fierce convulsion shook the thickening
air;
And thunder-tones pronounced dread
words of doom.

Traced, on the darkness, in the light-ning's glare!

The raging ocean, with a fearful swell,
Swept, through the tempest, deluging
the land;
And, reeling from its base, my castle fell,
For I had founded it upon the sand!

The storm was spent—and, with a sullen
moan,
Back, from the ruin, rolled the waves
once more;
And, sorrow-stricken, I went forth alone,
A hopeless outcast, on a dreary shore!
WASHINGTON, D. C.

Anecdote of Dean Swift.
The eccentric Dean Swift was walking in the Phoenix Park in Dublin, when a thunder shower came on, and he took shelter under a tree where a party were sheltering also—two young women and two young men. One of the girls looked very sad, till as the rain fell her tears fell. The Dean inquired the cause, and learned that it was their wedding day; they were on their way to church, and now her white clothes were wet and she couldn't go. "Never mind, I'll marry you," said the Dean; and he took out his prayer book, and then they were married, and their witnesses being present, and to make the thing complete, he tore a leaf from his pocket book, and with his pencil wrote and signed a certificate, which he handed to the bride. It was as follows:
"Under a tree, in stormy weather, I married this man and woman together, Let none but Him that rules the thunder Put this man and woman asunder."

Impeachment.
The impeachment business becomes more and more contemptible. The committee continues its labors in search of charges with a desperation which failure daily renders more apparent. Months ago the cry went forth for the removal of the President for offenses which were imputed to him. Then evidence was sought in support of these charges, and now the charges themselves are abandoned. Else why this hunting for fresh "crimes" and other grounds of arraignment? If the indictment drawn by Ashley and Butler were tenable, think you we should hear of the eager inquiry for witnesses on matter not yet a week old? The latest story is that General Burton, who took Jeff. Davis to Richmond, is to be examined, with the faint hope of gathering support from the talk of the ex rebel chief. Mr. Seward, too, is to be examined on matters equally novel and nonsensical. All together, the committee finds itself in a tight place—with a strong desire to impeach, but without proof or even charges to warrant impeachment. Some of its witnesses are represented as having attempted to prove too much, General Baker being the author of the number. The whole affair offends the public nostrils as a nuisance.—New York Times.

THE PICK OF WITNESSES.—Under the head of "Potter county witnesses," the Venango Republican tells us that not long since a lawyer friend of theirs had occasion to arbitrate a cause on the east fork of the Sinnemahoning, in Potter county. The tough swearing of the witnesses on the other side prevailed against him, and he lost his suit. He was consoled by a native, who said to him: "Why'n-h'll didn't you let me know you was comin'?" Knox (the other lawyer), he come on here a week ago, and had his pick of witnesses!"

A SUBSTITUTE FOR PRAYER.—A priest was called upon to pray over the barren fields of his parishioners. He passed from one inclosure to another, and pronounced his benediction, until he came to a most unpromising case. He surveyed the sterile acres in despair. "Ah," said he, "brethren, no use to pray here; this needs manure."

—The proprietor of a cotton factory puts this notice on his gate: "No cigars or goodlooking men admitted." In explanation he said: "The one will set a flame going among my cotton, and the other among my girls. I wou'd admit such dangerous things into my establishment. The risk is too great."

GROVER & BAKER'S SEWING MACHINES.

WERE AWARDED THE HIGHEST PREMIUMS
At the State Fairs of New Jersey, Michigan, N. Carolina, Vermont, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Alabama, Ohio, Kentucky, Oregon, Indiana, Missouri, California.
At the Fairs of the American Institute, Franklin Institute, Maryland Institute, Massachusetts Mechanics' Association, Pennsylvania Mechanics' Institute, St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, &c.

And at numerous Institute and County Fairs, including all of the cities at which they were exhibited the past three years. These machines have also been awarded these prizes at the exhibitions of London, Paris, Dublin, Litz, Besancon, Bayonne, St. Dizier, Chalons, &c. and they have been furnished by special command to the Empress of France, Empress of Austria, Empress of Russia, Empress of Brazil, Queen of Spain, and Queen of Bavaria.

The Grover & Baker Elastic Stitch Sewing Machines are superior to all others for the following reasons:
1. They sew direct from the spools, and require no re-winding of thread.
2. They are more easily understood and used, and less liable to derangement than any other machines.
3. They are capable of executing perfectly, without change of adjustment, a much greater variety of work than other machines.
4. The stitch made by these machines is much more firm, elastic and durable, especially upon articles which require to be washed and ironed, than any other stitch.
5. This stitch, owing to the manner in which the under thread is interwoven, is much the most plump and beautiful in use, and retains its plumpness and beauty even upon articles frequently washed and ironed until they are worn out.
6. The structure of the seam is such that, though it be cut or broken at intervals of only a few stitches, it will neither open, run, or ravel, but remain firm, and durable.
7. Unlike other machines, these fasten both ends of the seam by their own operation.
8. With these machines, while silk is used upon the other side without lessening the strength or durability of the seam, cotton may be used upon the other side without lessening the strength or durability of the seam, and is a great saving upon all articles stitched or made up with silk.

9. These machines, in addition to their superior merits as instruments for sewing, by a change of adjustment, easily learned and practiced, execute the most beautiful and permanent embroidery and ornamental work.
GROVER & BAKER S. M. CO., 483 Broadway, New York, 730 Chestnut street, Phila.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Amusement, Operatic, railroad cars, Charles Street, arm chairs, for promenade and horse drives, as this can be folded when in use to occupy a small space, and is equally so when only as a silk or muslin dress, as a valuable quality in crinolines, not found in any other spring skirt.
Having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For ladies who are young and who are superior to all others.
They will not bend or break like the single spring skirt, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape, three or four ordinary skirts would have been there as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are made of double springs, but twice (or double) covered, preventing them from wearing out when dragging down steep hills, &c.
The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies, and is universally recommended by the Fashionable. To enjoy the following inimitable advantages in crinolines, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and trim, durability, economy, beauty and economy, inquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition be particular to notice that skirts offered as "Duplex" have the red stamp, viz: "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Skirt Springs" upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also notice that every hoop will admit a pin being passed through the fabric, revealing the double (or double) springs braided together, therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other skirt.
