Put up the Bars.

After the milking was over Aunie would follow the cows Half a mile. down to the clover, And turn them in to browse.

Neat little figure is Annie, Handling the bars in the lane, Letting down ever so many Just in the sunlight's wane.

Wild roses blooming besids her Match not her cheek's lovely red; And the leaves trying to hide her, Dance at her musical tread.

Witching curls peep from her bonnet-Peep like bright birds from their nest And her heart-oh, to have won it!-Beats with gentle unrest.

Lips may be humming a ditty, And faces may show unconcern; But secrets there are—what a pity That some are too easy to learn!

Now while the robins are nesting Why does she wait in the lane? Though, if white arms need a resting, No one, of course, could complain.

Lights in the farm-house are gleaming, And bars must be lain in their place, But little Annie stands dreaming, A blush on her beautiful face.

Ah, merry eyes, mild and brown, Could you not tell why she wears now Just the least mite of a frown? Over the path by the hill-side

Is it late? Not that she cares now;

Some one would wander by night; Some one who came from the mill side, Lured by two eyes that are bright. Meadow and valley grow stiller

Under the earlier stars: Would it be strange if the miller Helped Annie to put up the bars?

Treason and Perjury Confessed. The following extract embraces the material portion of Thad Stevens' letter to Samuel Schock, dated Aug. 26, 1867: "You are right in supposing that Con gress made mistakes, as is the inevitable lot of man, but you mistake in supposing that there is any law to prohibit the removal of the District Commanders, without the consent of the Senate. Soon after the commencement of the last session of Congress I reported a bill from the Committee of the House of Representatives, which contained a provision prohibiting Senate. It passed the House and was sent to the Senate; the Senate struck it out and returned it to the House, who refused to concur in the amendment. The result was a Committee of Conference, where an animated contest ensued. There were several other questions in controversy between the Houses, which the House offered to yield if this could be granted. The Senate perseveringly re. A. B. As that would frustrate all our legis'ation it could not be allowed .-The House yielded, with a warning of the evils it would inflict upon the country.— Some of the members of the Senate seemed to doubt their power under THE CONSTITUTION WHICH THEY HAD JUST REPUDIATED, AND WHOLLY OUTSIDE OF WHICH ALL AGREED THAT WE WERE ACTING; else, our whole work of reconstruction was usurpation, or perhaps they had a desire to be thought to be gravely conservative and magnanimous. These ideas seemed to control the action of some half a dozen Senators who pre-

A more bold and unqualified confession of treason than this, to the Constitution which Stevens alike with his Radical compeers had solemnly sworn to uphold and maintain, was never written. Yet, notwithstanding this confession that the "reconstruction" acts were passed "wholly entside" the Constitution, the Radical leaders have the insufferable assurance to threaten impeachment in case the President shall fail to give force and effect to them. Of course such impeachment would also be carried on outside the Constitution.

-The negroes of Northern Texas have quit work, armed themselves and gone into camp, resolved to conquer the country, divide the land and other property, and govern to suit themselves.

—As predicted by many of our citizens and declared by several prominent Radicals, the Radical grand jury has ignored two of the bills offered against the persons charged with purloining records and books from the State offices. It is as confidently expected that those against whom true bills have been found will escape through the action of the petit jurors, nearly all of whom are Radicals, also .- Harrisburg Patriot.

Some time or other, "down will come baby, cradle and all."

THE POTATO ROT.—The recent spell of wet weather has injured the potato crop to a very great extent. The rot has appeared among the potatoes, and in some varities has already become quite destructive. A great many of those freshly dug are covered with small white specks, and many of them are quite rotten. In some patches mine-tenths of the potatoes are thus affec-

Patent Atmospheric CHURN DASH

J. Thomas'

Patented May 7, 1867.

The most Important and Valuable Invention of the 19th Century,

1. This Dasher is superior to any other, by being as simple as the old Dasher, and combining the atmospheric principles therewith, and the Butter Gatherer 2. It is superior to all others, inasmuch as the same power applied to this in like mechanical operations will make one fourth more reciprocations.

3. It is superior to all others, inasmuch as it produces the Butter in a much shorter time.

4. It is superior to any other, inasmuch as it produces a much better quality of Butter.

5. It is superior to any other Patent Churn, inasmuch as it is 500 per cent, cheaper than any other.

It is well known to Dairymen and others, that Butter is contained in minute globules or eachs, covered with a membrane, and requires the action of air to prepare the covering to be removed by friction. The Scientific American says:

"If cream is dashed against a hard substance, or mashed between bars or rollers, it breaks the globules and becomes oily, by destroying the grain. It should be thrown into currents and counter currents by the action of air, causing a friction by the action of the currents against each other, removing the covering without breaking or bursting the globules."

This is the principle which the inventor of this Dash endeavored to keep in view, and the result shows a much larger yield of Butter obtained in less time than by any other Dasher.

Experiments have proven that any other method except pumping air through the cream, will not penetrate sufficiently to oxygenize all the globules preparatory to concentrating the Butter. Throwing it into the air by clanpers or oid fashioned Dashers, does not sufficiently expose it to the air to bring out the Butter.

The above Patent Dasher has been purchased for Susquehanna County by the undersigned. The process of churning can be seen at any time, in a Glass Churn, at Baldwin, Allen & McCain's store. An agent will canvas the county soon as possible, to sell the Dasher for individual rights; also township rights will be sold. Montrose, July 23, 1867.—tf A. BALDWIN.
