

A. J. GERRITSON, Proprietor.

MONTROSE, PA., TUESDAY, DEC. 10, 1867.

VOLUME XXIV, NUMBER 50.

President's Message.

Fellow Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives :-Union, to which the President has so ofrelief from that anxiety in the reflection that the painful political situation, al though untried by ourselves, is not new in the experience of nations.

Political science, perhaps as highly perfected in our own time and country as in any other, has not yet disclosed any means by which civil wars can be absolutely prevented; an enlightened nation, however, with a wise and beneficent Constitution of free government, may diminish their frequency and mitigate their severity, by directing all its proceedings in accordance with its fundamental law. When a civil war has been brought to a close, it is manifestly the first interest and duty of the State to repair the injuries which the war has inflicted, and to certain as it was indispensable.

DISAPPOINTED EXPECTATION.

The expectations, however, then so reasonably and confidently entertained, were disappointed by legislation from which I felt constrained, by my obligations to the Constitution, to withhold my assent. It is, therefore, a source of prosecution. profound regret that in complying with the obligation imposed upon the President by the Constitution, to give to Congress from time to time information of the state of the Union, I am nnable to communicate any definitive adjustment satisfactory to the American people, of the questions which, since the close of the Rebellion, have agitated the public mind. On the contrary, candor compels me to declare that at this time there is no Union as our fathers understood the term, and as they meant it to be understood by us. The Union which they established can exist only where all the States are represented in both Houses of Congress, "where one State is as free as knowledged by a'l branches of the Fedanother to regulate its concerns according to its own will," and where the laws of the central government, strictly confined to matters of national jurisdiction, apply with equal force to all the people of ev-

still greater calamities.

THE CONSTITUTION.

more perfect Union between the States. implicit obedience to its requirements, in Constitution we are what it makes us. all parts of the country, will accomplish these great ends. Without that obedience we can look forward only to continual outrages upon individual rights, incessant breaches of the public peace, nationloss of our prosperity, the general corruption of morals, and the final extinction of popular freedom. To save our country from evils so appalling as these, we should renew our efforts again and again. To me the process of restoration seams perfectly plain and simple. It consists merely in a faithful application of the Constitution and the laws. The execution of the laws is not now obstructed or opposed by physical force; there is no military or other necessity, real or pretended, which can prevent obedience to er consideration, which, though of minor on whole masses, including the millions the Constitution, either North or South, importance is not of great weight. All the rights and all the obligations of States and individuals can be protected and enforced by means perfectly consist-mined that it shall be disregarded and violsted. The mere naked will of this govthan individual members of Congress are are perfectly innocent. (Many kept their in the progress of nations negroes have

The continued disorganization of the had the misfortune to differ from Con- pudiation of it is to be justified. gress, and have expressed my convictions ten called the attention of Congress, is without reserve, though with becoming not made to Rebels only. Thousands of character and temper.

THE PRESIDENT'S POSITION UNCHANGED. Those convictions are not only unchanged, but strengthened by subsequent events and further reflection. The transcendent importance of the subject will be a sufficient excuse for calling your attention to some of the reasons which have so strongly influenced my own judgment. The hope that we may all formally contion, is too natural and too just to be easily relinquished.

THE LATE INSURRECTIONARY STATES. It is clear to my apprehension that the States lately in rebellion are still memsecure the benefit of the lessons it teaches, as fully and as speedily as possible.— they cease to be so? The #Ordinances This duty was, upon the termination of of Secession" adopted by a portion-in the Rebellion, promptly accepted, not most of them a very small portion-of only by the Executive Department but their citizens were mere nullities. If we by the insurrectionary States themselves, admit now that they were valid and efand restoration in the first moment of feetual for the purpose intended by their peace, was believed to be as easy and authors, we sweep from under our feet the whole ground upon which we justified the war. Were those States after-ward expelled from the Union by the war? The direct contrary was averred by this country to be its purpose, and was so understood by those who gave their b'ood and treasure to aid in its

It cannot be said that a successful war, waged for the preservation of the Union, had the legal effect of disolving it. The victory of the nation's arms was not the disgrace of her policy; the defeat of Secession was not the triumph of its lawless principles; nor could Congress, with or without the consent of the Executive, do State legislatures or prevent them from anything which would have the effect, assembling; to dismiss judges, and other no halting place. The intermitted exer- majority of that class in wielding the powdirectly or indirectly, of separating the civil functionaries of the State and applicate of its power brings no sense of securi- er thus placed in their hands, cannot be States from each other. To dissolve the Union is to repeal the Constitution Union is to repeal the Constitution law; to organize and operate all the notion what more they will be called upon which holds it together, and that is a more than the power which does not belong to any declate the whole administration of their do- armed to plague them again. Nor is it partment of the government, or to all of them united.

This is so plain that it has been aceral Government. The Executive, my Federal Government or to any one of its the Constitution does not protect all it servitude that as a class they are as well predecessor, as well as myself, and the branches; not being granted, we violate protects none. heads of all the departments have uni- in the face of a positive interdict, for the formly acted upon the principle that the Constitution forbids us to do whatever Union is not only undissolved, but indis it does not affirmatively authorize even with one another, according to the terms of the original compact, would be the greatest temporal blessing which God, in his kindest providence, could bestow uphis kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be the greatest temporal blessing which god, in his kindest providence, could be th political absurdity.

The Judiciary has also given the sol-It becomes our imperative duty to con- emn sanction of its authority to the same sider whether or not it is impossible to view of the case. The Judges of the Su- not only objectionable for their assump. States to negro domination would beworse must be earefully guarded against the coneffect this most desirable consummation. preme Court have included the Southern tion of ungranted power, but many of than the military despotism under which The Union and the Constitution are in- States in their circuits, and they are conseparable. As long as one is obeyed by stantly, in banco and elsewhere, exercisall parties, the other will be preserved;— ing jurisdiction which does not belong to The Constitution commands that a reamy amount of military oppression for any and if one is destroyed, both must perish them, unless those States are States of publican form of government shall be length of time, rather than degrade themtogether. The destruction of the Conthe Union. If the Southern States are guarantied to all the States; that no selves by subjection to the negro race. stitution will be followed by other and component parts of the Union, the Con- person shall be deprived of life, liberty, They have been left without a choice. stitution is the supreme law for them, as or property, without due process of law; it is for all the other States. They are arrested without a judicial warrant, for bound to obey it, and so are we. The punished without a fair trial before an It was ordained not only to form a right of the Federal Government, which is clear and unquestionable, to enforce beas corpus shall not be denied in time of but to "establish justice, insure domestic the Constitution upon them, implies the tranquility, provide for the common de-fense, promote the general welfare, and serve its limitations and execute its guarserve its limitations and execute its guar- al. Yet the system of measures estabsecure the blessings of liberty to ouranties. Without the Constitution we lished by these acts of Congress does toselves and our posterity." Nothing but are nothing; by, through, and under the

We may doubt the wisdom of the law; we may not approve of its provisions, but they apply it binds them hand and foot a government exclusively their own, unwe cannot violate it merely because it in absolute slavery, and subjects them to der which they might manage their own seems to confine our powers within limits a strange and bostile power more unlimated affairs in their own way, it would become narrower than we could wish.— ited than any other now known among a grave question whether we ought to do al weakness, financial dishonor, the total It is not a question of individual, class, or sectional interests, much less of party predominance, but of duty-high and sacred duty-which we are all sworn to stitution with the cheerful alacrity of careful to protect. It denies the habeas perform. If we cannot support the Conthose who love and believe in it, we must give to it, at least, the fidelity of public servants who act under solemn obligations and commands which they duty is not the only one which requires er, or bill of pains and penalties, not up-

importance, is yet of great weight. OBJECT OF THE LATE WAR.

On the 22d day of July, 1861, Congress. stitutionally inflicted upon any portion of ent with the fundamental law. The declared, by an almost unanimous vote our people, no matter how they may courts may be everywhere open, and, if of both Houses, that the war should be have come within our jurisdiction, and prevented or punished by the proper justification and maintaining the Federal Constitution I have no desire to save from the proper distal authorities in a manner entirely and laws, without impairing the dignity, er and just consequences of their great its stability for more than ninety years. open, their process would be unimpeded. conducted solely for the purpose of pre-Crime against the United States can be serving the Union and maintaining the Territories, or Districts. dicial authorities in a manner entirely and laws, without impairing the dignity, practicable and legal authorities in a manner entirely and laws, without impairing the dignity, and rights of the States or of their great its stability for more than ninety years, practicable and legal authorities in a manner entirely and laws, without impairing the dignity, and rights of the States or of crime, those who engaged in rebellion while in every other part of the world all my opinion be an abandonment of the dumpy opinion be an abandonment of the dignity, and rights as freedmen. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them, would have described and legal and laws, without impairing the dignity, and rights as freedmen. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them, would have described and legal and laws, without impairing the dignity, and rights as freedmen. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them, would have described and legal and legal are and laws, without impairing the dignity, and rights as freedmen. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But the transfer of our political inheritance to them. But th Augre is, increiore, no reason why the individuals, and that when this was done against the government; but as a mode of similar experiments have failed. But if my opinion be an abandonment of the dument of law, still languishes, and can new constitution should not be obeyed, unless the war should cease. I do not say that the war should cease. I do not say that the war should cease to be fetting the constitution is personally binding on ation are the most unreasonable that if shall be disperseded and still be disperseded and still be disperseded and still have a should cease. I do not say that punishment, the measures under consider anything can be proved by known facts; the war should cease. I do not say that punishment, the measures under consider our fathers and to the rights of our child-tit shall be disperseded and still have a should cease. I do not say that punishment, the measures under consider our fathers and to the rights of our child-tit shall be disperseded and still have the still have a should cease. I do not say that punishment, the measures under consider our fathers and to the rights of our child-tit shall be disperseded and still have the still have the

yet a subject of profound and patriotic deference to the opinions of the Legislatrue men in the South were drawn to our tive Department.

without reserve, though with becoming not made to Rebels only. Thousands of character and temper.

But these acts of Congress confound true men in the South were drawn to our tive Department.

But these acts of Congress confound standard by it, and hundreds of thousnot only a failure but a fraud.

> Being sincerely convinced that these views are correct, I would be unfaithful to my duty if I did not recommend the repeal of the acts of Congress which a competent judicial tribunal. place ten of the Southern States under the domination of military masters. If calm reflection shall satisfy a majority of your honorable bodies that the acts referred to are not only a violation of the the Constitution, I dare not permit my- any present feeling. self to doubt that you will immediately strike them from the statute book. To demonstrate the unconstitutional character of those acts, I need do no more than refer to their general provisions.

cluded from that privilege; to dissolve change for the worse. point others without regard to State by for its subjects, for they can never mestic and local affairs according to the possible to conjecture how or where ry that had existed for generations. To-their provisions are in conflict with the they are now suffering. It was believed direct prohibitions of the Constitution. - beforehand that the people would endure impartial jury; that the privilege of hapeace, and that no bill of attainder shall be passed even against a single individutally subvert and destroy the form as have the protection of just laws for all well as the substance of republican government. In the ten States to which civilized men.

These are powers not granted to the is always unlimited and unrestrained.

It tramples down all those rights in which the essence of liberty consists, and which a free government is always most corpus and trial by jury. Personal freedom, property, and life, if assaulted by the passion, the prejudice, or the rapacity of the ruler, have no security whatever. It has the effect of a bill of attaindon a few individuals only but upwho inhabit the subjected States, and even their unborn children. These wrongs being expsessly forbidden, cannot be con-

On this momentous question, and some of pleage of the national honor, and I can able to bear arms were forced to rebellion been successful in their hands. On the foundations of society have been broken the measures growing out of it, I have not imagine upon what grounds the re- against their will, and of those who are contrary, wherever they have been left to up by civil war. Industry must be reorguilty with their own consent, the degrees their own devices they have shown a ganized, justice re-established, public cred-If it be remembered, this promise was of guilt are as various as the shades of their constant tendency to relapse into barbar. it maintained, and order brought out of standard by it, and hundreds of thous- them all together in one doom. Indiscri- gress has undertaken to confer upon them ands in the North gave their lives in the minate vengeance upon classes, sects, and the privilege of the ballot. Just released great men who formed our Constitution belief that it would be carried out. It parties, or upon whole communities for of from slavery, it may be doubtful whether originally. I confidently believe that their was made on the day after the first great fences committed by a portion of them as a class they know more than their anbattle had been fought and lost. All pat- against the government to which they cestors how to organize and regulate civ. task before them; but it is worse than riotic and intelligent men saw the neces owed obedience, was common in the bar- il society. Indeed, it is admitted, that madness to expect that negroes will persity of giving such an assurance, and be- barous, age of the world. But Christilieved that without it the war would end anity and civilization have made such proin disaster to our cause. Having given gress, that recourse to a punnishment so utterly ignorant of public affairs that our own competency. that assurance in the extremity of our cruel and unjust would meet with the con- their voting can consist in nothing more peril, the violation of it now, in the day demnation of all unprejudiced and right than carrying a ballot to the place where races in physical, mental, and moral charonce with our true interests, and with of our power, would be a rude rending of our own sworn duties to the Constituworld together. Our country would not consist in stripping whole States of cease to have any claim upon the confi- their liberties and reducing all their peodence of men. It would make the war ple, without distinction, to the condition of slavery. It deals separately with each individual, confines itself to the forms of law, and vindicates its own purity by an impartial examination of every case before

> If this does not satisfy all our desire with regard to Southern Rebels, let us console ourselves by reflecting that a free Constitution, triumphant in war and unbroken in peace, is worth far more to us national faith, but in direct conflict with and our children than the gratification of

TEMPORARY AND PERPETUAL EVILS.

I am aware it is assumed that this system of government for the Southern for if conferred upon persons who do not States is not to be perpetual. It is true that military government is to be only It must be seen at once that they are provisional, but it is through this temporauthorized to dictate what alterations ary evil that a greater evil is to be made shall be made in the constitutions of the perpetual. If the guaranties of the Conseveral States; to control the elections of stitution can be broken provisionally to liberty of which it should be the most State legislators and State officers, mem serve a temporary purpose, and in a part powerful conservator. bers of Congress and electors of Presi only of the country, we can destroy them dent and Vice-President by arbitrarily de- everywhere, and for all time. Arbitrary on your attention the great danger to be claring who shall vote and shall be ex- measures often change, but they generally apprehended from an untimely extension

It is the curse of despotism that it has mere will of strange and irresponsible power unrestrained by law may seek its day they are freemen, and are assumed agents sent among them for that purpose. next victims. The States that are still by law to be citizens. It cannot be prefree may be enslaved at any moment, for if sumed from their previous condition of

NEGRO SUFFRAGE.

It is manifestly and avowedly the ob. makes our land the home of his choice. ject of these laws to confer upon negroes soluble. Congress has submitted an by express words or by clear implication. the privilege of voting, and to disfranchise That such is not the present "state of the Union" is a melancholy fact, and we all must acknowledge that the restoration of the States to their proper legal relations with the Federal Government, and to the Constitution to the Constitution as a nections with the Federal Government, and to disfranchise dence of five years nor the knowledge of our institutions which it gives, nor attachment to the Constitution, we desire to use does not such a number of white citizens as will give and the principles of the Constitution, we the former a clear majority at all elections in Southern States. This, to the minds of some persons, is so important, that a function. If they were not States, or bitical crimes. By that crime the constitution are the only conditions upon which the can be admitted to citizenship. He function. If they were not States, or bitical crimes. By that crime the provided of the privilege of voting, and to disfranchise dence of five years nor the knowledge of our institutions which it gives, nor attachment to the principles of the Constitution, we the former a clear majority at all elections in Southern States. This, to the minds of some persons, is so important, that a function. If they were not States, or by the constitution are the only conditions upon which the can be admitted to citizenship. He function. If they were not States, or by the constitution are the only conditions upon which the constitution are the only conditions upon which the former a clear majority at all elections in Southern States. This, to the minds of the constitution are the only conditions upon which the former a clear majority at all elections of the constitution are the only conditions upon which the former a clear majority at all elections or institutions are the only conditions upon which the former a clear majority at all elections or institutions which it gives, nor attached to the former a clear majority at all elections or institutions which the former a clear majority at all elections or institutions are the original tions with the Federal Government, and function. If they were not States, or litical crimes. By that crime the enewith one another, according to the terms were States out of the Union their con-

> of absolute rule, for undelegated power permitted to do evil that good may come. But in this case the end itself is evil as The acts of Congress in question, are well as the means. The subjugation of Negro suffrage was established by act of Congress, and the military officers were low. commanded to superintend the progress of clothing the negro race with political privileges torn from the white man.

NEGRO SUPREMACY.

The blacks in the South are entitled to be well and humanely governed, and to their rights of person and property. If it were practicable at this time to give them

But, under the circumstances, this is only a speculative point. It is not propos- table for probation and preparation. ed merely that they shall govern themselves, but that they shall rule the white race, makeand administer State laws, elect shape, to a greater or less extent, the fusuch hands? The peculiar qualities which should characterize any people, who are fit to decide upon the management of public affairs for a great State, have seldom been

combined. A WHITE MAN'S GOVERNMENT.

ernment, or of some one or more of its personally bound to pay a public debt branches, is the only obstacle that can created under a law for which they votexist to a perfect Union of all the States. ed. But it was a solemn public official A large proportion even of the persons dent government of any form has ever ed at a time peculiarly unpropitions. The

In the Southern States, however, Conthe blacks of the South are not only re. form it for us. Certainly we ought not gardless of the rights of property, but so to ask their assistance until we despair of

IMPORTANCE OF THE BALLOT.

of the elective franchise is the highest at to only its own interests—for it will retribute of an American citizen, and that, cognize no common interest—and create when guided by virtue, intelligence and patriotism, and a better appreciation of yet witnessed. Already the negroes are our free institutions, it constitutes the influenced by promises of confiscation and true basis of a democratic form of govern- plunder; they are taught to regard as an ment, in which the sovereign power is enemy every man who has any respect lodged in the body of the people-a trust for the rights of his own race. artificially created, not for its own sake, but solely as a means of promoting the general welfare; its influence for good must necessarily depend upon the eleva- fields of the South grow up into a wilderted character and true allegiance of the ness. Of all the dangers which our naelector; it ought therefore to be reposed in none except those who are fitted, morally and mentally, to administer it well, justly estimate its value, and who are indifferent as to its results, it will only serve to place power in the hands of the unprincipled and ambitious, and must eventually end in the complete destruction of that

I have, therefore, beretofore urged upof the elective franchise to any new class in our country, especially when the large expected to comprehend the duties and responsibilities that pertain to suffrage of persons were held in a condition of slaveinformed as to the nature of our government as the intelligent foreigner who

In the case of the latter, neither a residence of five years nor the knowledge of ground for the belief that he will be faithcharacter, and thus to give reasonable excuses a wrong because of its purposes to ful to the obligations which he assumes as a citizen of the Republic.

> Where a people, the source of all political power, speak by their suffrage thro' the instrumentality of the ballot box, it trol of those who are corrupt in principle and enemics of free institutions, for it can only become to our political and social system a safe conductor of healthy popular sentiment when kept free from demoralizing influences. Controlled through fraud and usurpation by the designing, anarchy and despotism must inevitably fol-

In the hands of the patriotic and worthy, our government will be preserved upon the principles of the Constitution in- terest. If we repudiate the Constitution herited from our fathers.

It follows, therefore, that in admitting to the ballot box a new class of voters, not qualified for the exercise of the elective ernment instead of adding strength and our promises; besides, if we now acknowldurability.

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE.

I yield to no one in attachment to that expel them from it and hand them over rule of general suffrage which distinguish- to be governed by pegroes, the moral duso, or whether common humanity would es our policy as a nation. But there is a ty to pay it may seem much less clear.

not require us to save them from them- limit, wisely observed hitherto, which I say it may seem so, for I do not admakes the ballot a privilege and a trust mit that this or any other argument in which requires of some classes a time sui- favor of repudiation can be entertained as class, wholly unprepared by previous ha- ancial honor of a great commercial nation, bits and opportunities to perform the trust largely indebted, and with a republican Presidents and members of Congress, and which it demands, is to degrade it, and shape, to a greater or less extent, the fu-finally destroy its power, for it may be agents of the popular choice, is a thing of tures destiny of the whole country. safely assumed that no political truth is such delicate texture, and the destruction Would such a trust and power be safe in better established than that such indis- of it would be followed by such unspeakcriminate and all-embracing extension of able calamities, that every true patriot popular suffrage must end at last in its must desire to avoid whatever might exoverthrow and destruction.

al authority which promises to better, the ments. Business in the South is paralyz-It is the glory of white men to know condition of the negroes in the South, by ed by a sense of general insecurity, by a encouraging them in industry, enlighten- terror of confiscation and the dread of ne-confusion.

To accomplish all these ends would require all the wisdom and virtue of the descendants will be equal to the arduous

The great difference between the two acteristics, will prevent an amalgamation or fusion of them in a homogenous mass. If the inferior obtains ascendency over I need not remind you that the exercise the other, it will govern with reference such a tyranny as this continent has never

If this continues it must become worse and worse until all order will be subverted, all industry cease, and the fertile tion has yet encountered, none are equal to those which must result from the success of the effort now making to Africanize half of our country.

MILITARY RECONSTRUCTION.

I would not put considerations of money in competion with ustice and right, but the expenses incident to reconstruction under the system adopted by Congress aggravate what I regard as the intrinsic wrong of the measure itself.

It has cost uncounted millions already, and if persisted in will add largely to the weight of taxation already too oppressive to be borne without just complaint, and may finally reduce the treasury of the nation to bankruptcy.
We must not delude ourselves. It will require a strong army, and probably more governments after they are established. The sum thus thrown away would if properly used, form a sinking fund large enough to pay the whole national debt in less than 15 years.

It is vain to hope that negroes will maintain their ascendancy themselves .-Without military power they are wholly incapable of holding in subjection the white people of the South. I submit to the judgment of Congress whether the might, by possibility, impair the confi-That confidence can only be retained by carefully inculcating the principles of justice and honor in the public mind, and by the most scrupulous fidelity to all our engagements of every sort.

Any serious breach of the organic law, persisted in for a considerable length of time, cannot but create fears for the stability of our institutions. Habitual violations of prescribed rules; which we bind ourselves to observe, must demoralize the

Our only standard of civil liberty being set at naught, the sheet anchor of our political morality is lost, the public conscience swings from its moorings, and yields to every impulse of passion and inwe will not be expected to care much for mere pecuniary obligations.

The violation of such a pledge as was made on the 22d day of July, 1861, will franchise, we weaken our system of govedge that the national debt was created not to keep the States in the Union. as the tax-payers were led to suppose, but to sound; its influence on some classes of To give it indiscriminately to a new minds may well be apprehended. The fippose it to the slightest danger.

. I repeat my willingness to join in any . The great interests of the country replan within the scope of our Constitution quire immediate relief from these enact-

THE SOUTHERN TRADE,