AMERICAN Waltham WATCHES

The true value of Machinery applied to Watchmaking is not that by its use Watches are made rapidly, but that they are made correctly. Very few people know why a Wattham Watch should be superior to any other. In the first place, at Wattham the Watch is regarded as only a machine, on mechanical principles.—
If the watches are good, it is because the machinery is good. Of course there must be no defect in the principle or plan of the movement—no mistake in the sizes or shapes of the pieces of which it is composed—nothing wanting in their properties, and no error in their positions. These points once thoroughly settled, it rests wholly with the machinery, constructed with infinite diversity of form and function—expressly for the purpose, to produce the finished pieces. By means of multiplying guages and picroscopes, tests and inspection for the detection of wear in the cutting tools, and for faults or flaws in steel or stone are made to accompany the work in every stage from beginning to end—as a necessary result, the watch goes together a perfect machine. Every part is found to fit properly in its place. Every pin may be pushed till it pinches, and every screw turned home. Instead of a sluggish and feeble action, the balance, even under the pressure of the lightest mainepring, vibrates with a wide and free motion, and the beat has the clear ringing sound always characteristic of the Waliham Watch. The machine is a timekeeper from the start.

This system is unknown in foreign countries, and is entirely original with the Waitham Company. The Company claim that by it they produce watches that cannot be equalled for every quality which makes a watch valuable. Simple in plan and correct in principle, the movement is not only beautifully fluished, substrated accurate and chean by the melion in the mister. cannot be equali- of for every quality which makes a watch valuable. Simple in plan and correct in principle, the movement is not only beautifully finished, substantial, accurate and cheap, but is uniform in the minutest details, not easily damaged, and when repaired always as good as new. There are different grades of finish in the different varieties of watches made by the Waltham Company, as there are different sizes and shapes to suit all fastes and means; but every Watch that bears the genuine trade-mark of "Waltham" is guarantied to be a good one, and nobody nees be afraid to buy it.
