reafe. lyteg, The New Bonnet. After Governor Gilmer, of Georgia, returned from office, be went to his old bome in Lexington. He had a penchant for old irons, such as plough shares, old carriage irons, grindstone cranks, old shovels, and the olds and ends of plantation tools. Attending the sales of estates, he accumulated an ox cart load or two of U. S. Auctioneer.

Nov. 19m8 Friendsville, Susq'a Co. Pa. such stuff which he dumped down in a corner of his yard near his dwelling, very much to the annoyance of his wife. The pile kept increasing. She determined to make away with it, and one day (Sheriff's sale day) sent it to the court yard (with the knowledge of the Sheriff, who loved a joke) to be sold to the highest bidder. Governor Gilmer that morning rode out of town a mile or two, and was returning asthe: Sheriff was proceeding with his sales. Catching the eye of the Governor who was looking on, he pointed out to him the lot of old iron, and requested him to make a bid for them.

"Ten dollors! ten dollars!" repeated the Sheriff-(nobody bids more)-"they are yours, Governor."

Delighted with the purchase, he paid ten dollars, and left them in the yard for future movement. The Sheriff paid the len dollars to Mrs. Gilmer. In a few days she bought a handsome bonnet, and the Governor, admiring it very much, said : "My dear, where did you get that pretty bonnet? It is beautiful and becomes you." "Don't it, husband, don't it! I bought it with the ten dollars you paid for your own old iron trash!"

The Governor wilted-he was sold by his own wife.

But time cured the chagrin, and the good Governor had frequently to join in the laugh at his expense over this little in--The indelicacy and impropriety of Ben Wade's persistence in sitting as a judge on the impeachment trial are glaring and disgraceful. Would any Court permit the plaintiff, in a suit of ejectment to sit as a juror or judge on the trial? If Mr. Johnson is deposed Mr. Wade succeeds to his office. Can the injustice and infamy of such conduct be pictured in colors too strong?—is it possible to exaggerate the degree of the odium and dis-honor that will be attached to it when it appears on the page of impartial history? And yet, utterly atrocious and indefensible as it is, on any rational grounds, partisan madness attempts to excuse and justify it.
