Good Crops.

Our exchanges from different parts of this and other states agree in stating that notwithstanding the lateness of the season the yield of wheat for the present year promises to be much greater than that of any previous year for a long period. The heavy snows that have characterized the past winter have done much toward producing this agreeable result. If the past winter had been open and changeable large quantities of the wheat would have frozen out. But nature provided a soft warm mantle for the growing grain, and now the long cold winter being over, the fields in all sections of the country promise abundant harvests. In those portions of the West where spring wheat is principally sown present appearances indicate an abundant crop; while in Georgia and other States South the yield promises to be much larger than ordinary. The fruit crop, except in some localities, promises to be plentiful. The continued coldness of the weather until this late period having prevented the trees from prematurely budding, no material injury can well happen to them from the from the frosts which may come in the future.

Farmer's Wives.

Colman's Rural World says truly that there is no position more honorable and useful than to be the wife of an honest, independent, and thriving farmer in a country like this:

"To be the angel that flits through the garden, bidding the flowers bloom, and twining roses and honeysuckles around the bed room, or sweetening their fragrance with sweetest smiles; or spreading the snowy cloth beneath the old oak at the door to welcome her husband as he returns from his toil; or even tipping the cradle with her foot as she plies the dasher with her hand, or busily moves the needle, at the same time humming a joyous song of praise that she is the happy and beloved wife of an American farmer—one of the true noblemen of this free country, one that should by right, rank as the pride and glory of America."

This is all very well, provided the "angel" be not overworked and made the drudge of the family, which is too often the case.

From what we have seen of farmers wives, some of them have a pretty hard time of it. First up in the morning, and last to retire at night—very often no help, and a large family to feed—cows to milk—butter to churn—house to be kept in order—garden to attend to—clothing to make and mend, and children to mind. We hope none of the many farmers who take this paper allow their wives to be thus overlooked. There is happy medium between doing too much and too little work. Wives should have some spare time each day for recreation and rest, and an hour or so around the evening lamp to read, to talk, and amuse and instruct the little ones of the household. On large farms they are worth five times more as superintendents, or overseers, than as active workers. The most successful farmers are not those who work themselves and all about them to death.—Exchange.

—A young man who had been paying strict attention to a young lady, with a view to matrimony, or any other money she may chance to have, grew chivalric the other night, and offered to undertake almost any task, however difficult, to prove his love and devotion. "Bid me," said he with a truly nightly rhapsody (although he wasn't worth a rap,) "Bid me tame the lion in jungles, or restrain an office seeker on his way to Washington, and I will do it. Ask me to climb Mount Vesuvius (most and other time,) or to address a tumultuous assembly of women's rights women in opposition to female suffrage, and it is done. Command me that I should bring a snow flake from the torrid skies of Africa, or an iceberg from the sulphuric waves of——"

"Hold," cried the maiden, "you can more easily win my commendation and contribute to my pleasure. There is a youth, Weston is his name who started from Portland on the Maine, is even now stretching his legs with eager intent toward Chicago. Imitate his noble example, and—"

"What?"

"Walk!"

He pedestrianated.

BADLY SOLD.—The Noble county (Ohio) Republican says: One of our worthy citizens—a strict church member—was reading his church paper last sabbath; having occassion to lay it down for a moment a 'sporting' son-in-law substited in its stead the N. Y. Clipper. The old gentleman soon picked up the paper, and after adjusted his spectacles read an interesting account of a late prize fight. After reading the article, he laid the paper down, wiped his spectacles thoughtfully, and remarked to his wife that the Presbyterian was not the church paper it used to be, and that he would discontinue thking it when this year expired. Wife looked at the paper and soon discovered the imposition much to the old gentleman's gladness that the paper had not deteriorated so much, after all.

IMPEACHMENT EXPENSE.—A cotemporary, who has figured up the expense of the drama, says that, besides retarding legislation for a month, the impeachment business will cost the neat little sum of half a million. With the characteristic economy with which our officials at Washington love to do business, they have managed to make the one item of the printing of admission tickets to the trial cost of six thousand dollars.

RICHARD V. KENNEDY, Treasurer.

Treasurer's Office, Montrose, May 12, 1868.

SHERIFF'S SALES.

BY virtue of certain writs issued by the Court of Common Pleas of Susquehanna County, and to me directed, I will expose to sale by public vendue, at the Court-house, in Montrose, on Saturday, June 6, 1868, at 1 o'clock, P. M., the following described pieces or parcels of land, to wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land, with the appurtenances, lying and being in the township of Choconut, Susquehanna county, Penn'a, bounded and described as follows: On the north by lands of Asper Stanley, Martin Golden and John Marinan; on the east by lands of James Fitzmartin and John Gorman; on the south by lands of Patrick Donelly and lands of the estate of Caleb Carmalt, dec'd; and on the west by lands of the said Caleb Carmalt dec'd—containing about 100 acres, with 75 acres improved, one log house, two framed barns, and two small orchards.

Taken in execution at the suit of Bartholomew Beecher vs. John Beecher.

—ALSO—

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate, lying, and being in the Township of Clifford, Susquehanna County Pa and bounded and described as follows to wit: Beginning at a stake and stones a small distance from a white ash tree running thence south 47 degrees and 20 minutes west 15 rodds and 22 links to a stake and stones adjoining lands formerly of Peter Gardner thence along said Gardners forty four and a half degrees west, 17 rodds to post adjoining lands of Peter formerly of A. Thompson thence along the same dagree ten chains and 72 links to a post. Thence south 44 and a ½ west 23 chains and 80 links to the place of beginning, containing 50 acres of land, about 15 improved, frame dwelling house, frame Barn and out buildings.

Taken in execution at the suit of C. W. Norton, vs. E. W. Tingley.

—ALSO—

On the premises, on Tuesday June 2d, 1868, at 1 o'clock, p. m.:

All that certain tract or parcel of land situate in the township of Franklin, county of Susquehanna and State of Pennsylvania, and bitted, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at a birch tree on the south side of Fall Brook, on the farm of Nathan P. Wheaton, known as the "Salt Spring Farm," near the northeast corner of the ice house, thence north 40½ east 20 7-10 perches (crossing Fall Brook and Silver creek) to the east old stone wall, thence by said wall and the fence north 73½ west 16 perches to the edge of the public road; thence along the said road south 8½ east 32 perches, and south 80 east 16 2-10 perches to the corner of a lot sold to John Cromwell; thence by said Cromwell's lot south 9½ east 21 perches to the centre of the creek; thence down the average centre of the creek, north 75½ east 21 perches to the east line of said Benton's whole farm, thence along said line south 2 west 10 perches to a post and stones near the top of the precipitous bank or bluff running along the south side of the creek; thence along the shoulder of said bank or bluff south 79 and 50 min. west 95 perches to a small hemlock stump for a corner; thence north 9 west 11 perches, to the place of beginning, containing fifteen acres and forty perches of land, more or less, embracing the "old salt spring" within its limits, and also the confluence of silver creek and fall brook; also the right of way for the parties of the first part and all guests and visitors in common with others as heretofore in passing and repassing from the spring near the west end of the lot, along up the bank of fall brook ravine, to and around the falls, subject to the reservation nevertheless in favor of Nathan P. Wheaton, his heirs, etc., as follows, to wit: The right of way, or privilege of crossing the lot as heretofore byarmed or way to and from the unsold woodland lying south of the same: Also the right to one sixteenth part of the profits of any mines, minerals, salt or oil, that may hereafter be discovered on the said lot, and further that nothing herein shall be so construed as to interfere with the water privilege heretofore granted to Luther Snow and now or late exercised by him of draining the creek near the lower end of said lot, and using the water as now or late raised for the use of the saw mill below it so long as required for that purpose, which right is to result to the said Wheaton, whenever abandoned by he present occupants, being the same premises heretofore conveyed by N. P. Wheaton and wife to A. H. Brummell and by A. H. Brummell and wife to the said Stephen and Salt Work Co. Also all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in said township of Franklin and adjoining the tract above described, and bounded and described as follows, to wit: Commencing at the south side of Silver Creek at low water mark in the line of the lands aforesaid, thence running west along the south side of Silver Creek at low water mark, seven rods and one-third to a stake and stones on the south side of silver creek; thence south six and ¼ rods to the line of said tract aforesaid; thence in a northeast direction along the line of said tract, ten rods to the place of beginning, being the same premises conveyed by N. P. Wheaton and wife, to P. J. Wall; and by said Wall conveyed to the party of the first part. Also, all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in said Township of Franklin, adjoining the two tracts above described, and bounded and described as follows: Commencing at a post on the north side of Fall creek, on the line of land conveyed to A. H. Brummell aforesaid, thence running north sixty-five feet to a post and stones; thence east fifty feet to the line of land conveyed to Brummell aforesaid; thence along said line and the place of beginning, containing about seventy nine rods more or less, being the same premises conveyed by said N. P. Wheaton and wife, to the parties in the possession of and now occupied by the parties of the first part by their mill works together with the buildings and erections thereon, tanks, block of kettles, engine, machinery, tubing apparatus, tools, wood cut, and drawn, including all the property of said party of the first part, real and personal, in and upon premises with all and singular the ways, waters, water courses, rights, liberties, privileges, improvements hereditaments and appurtenances whatsoever thereunto belonging, or in any wise appertaining, and the reversions and remainders, rents, issues and profits thereof, to have and to the said tracts of land aforesaid, personal property and fixtures, and hereditaments hereby granted or mentioned or intended so be, with the appurtenances unto the said Gardner Landon jr., and John Van Orden, their heirs and assigns forever. Taken in execution at the suit of Gardner Landon jr. and John Van Orden vs. Susqua. Salt works.

Henry VIII. and Catharine Parr. An Historical Novel. By L. Muhlbach. 1 vol., 12mo. Cloth, $2.00

PROMINENT CHARACTERISTICS.

I.—They are Instructive. "As purely literary works, these historical romances possess a high degree of merit. They read like genuine histories."—Catholic World.

"They are correct descriptions of the countries and the people described."—Herald.

II.—They are Entertaining. "We regard these books as among the best and most entertaining novels of the day."—Springfield Republican.

"The reader is at once fascinated and held spell bound until the volume is completed."—Erie Press.

"There is no dull chapter in it."—Utica Herald.

III.—They are Mirrors of the Times. "No one can peruse them without conceding the author's great skill in grasping and delineating the characters which figure conspicuously in them.

"The study which enables the author to delineate so accurately the emotions and incentives to action which moved men and women of a past age, must be close and untiring, and Louisa Muhlbach shows in all of her works a perfection which carries the reader into the very presence of the characters represented."—Syracuse Journal.

IV.—They are Historically Correct. "Historically correct, and as entertaining as many of the volumes of Sir Walter Scott."—Providence Herald.

"Louisa Muhlbach must have carefully and diligently studied the secret histories of the times and countries of which she writes, and her task is done well and effectively."—Worcester Spy.

"Louisa Muhlbach has labored so faithfully and successfully to reproduce a complete picture of past times and events."—Utica Herald.

V.—They are Original. "It has agreeably surprised readers to find a new writer with such constructive genius and knowledge of character as Louisa Muhlbach possesses."—Public Ledger.

"Each succeeding novel adds to Mrs. Mundt's reputation as a writer of historic fiction."—N. Y. Times

VI.—They are full of Incidents. "She is not only the skilful writer, but a most learned artizan."—Christian Witness.

"There is seldom any straining after effect, but it is really wonderful how Madame Mundt manages to sustain and increase the interest to the end."—City Items.

"The word painting of the authoress is much more effective than the best efforts of the engraver."—Illinois State Register.

VII.—They contain anecdotes of Courts. "Scottish history offered no fresher and more romantic material to the magic working hand of Sir Walter Scott than she finds in the annals of the German courts."—Evening Gazette.

"There are not to be found anywhere in humanity's rich, ungrudging garb magnificent, witch-like, thoughtful, mighty lord-and-master-ship who, like Chronicler, Hyperman and Austrian courts of the 18th century, in their dress, their manners, their modes of thought, their language, they are almost as much separated from us as fifty-and-hundred thousand years."—Observer.

VIII.—They tell about Emperors Kings and Queens. "We learn from her not only how Frederick William and Frederick the Great, Joseph the II, Voltaire, Rousseau, Baron Trenck, the Empress Catherine, walked and talked in their grand roles, but how they powdered their hair, flirted, and took snuff."—Reporter.

"The choice of her subjects exhibits her genius. She takes the time of Frederick the Great. Joseph the II. for example and upon the back ground of facts which the curiosities of the periods afford, she embroiders the bright and sombre colors of the light and shade of her picture, with the skill of a consummate artist."—The Eagle.

IX.—The style is Interesting. "The style of this writer for purity, perspicuity, and elegance, is something greatly to be commended. It is free from inflations, mannerisms and tricks of every kind."—The Argus.

"The translation is done into easy, idiomatic, pleasant style. The original and the story is full of movement and crowded with instructive and entertaining incident."—The Chicago Post.

"The interest of the book does not depend upon its characters nor its incidents, nor yet on its charming style but in its general harmony of composition."—Day Book.

X.—Every body is reading them. "Our people seem to have stopped reading French novels, and English works are complained of as dull. Miss Muhlbach precisely supplies the public want.

"The novels of Clara Mundt are being read by every one."—Times.

"Muhlbach's novels have a world wide reputation, and are read with avidity, as fast as issued from the press."—Springfield Republican.

"They are winning a wide and deserved popularity in this country."—State Journal.

LOOM FOR FARMERS.

INDUSTRY and ECONOMY—the road to wealth. The Farmer raises all the material to clothe his family. Why should he sell that material and buy it back again, paying the manufacturer a large profit and four or five additional profits, besides transportation charges, Government taxes, &c., all of which he could save, amounting to half the cost of his store goods, each year by making his own goods at home, which is now made easy by Mendenhall's Improved Self Acting Hand Loom.

It is the most simple and reliable Loom ever invented. It will make a greater variety of goods with less power than any other loom. All the operations of weaving are performed by simply turning a crank. From 12 to 20 yards of Jeans or Satinet, and from 20 to 35 of Linsey &c., can be woven per day.

By late Improvements

Rag Carpeting can be rapidly woven with the Fly shuttle, weaving from 20 to 25 yards per day.

This loom will furnish profitable employment in every neighborhood in weaving cloth and carpeting for customers.

For circulars, price list, and samples of cloth woven on the loom, address, with stamp.
