What We Want.

As we are about to enlarge the Democrat, our friends will naturally feel pleased and inquire whether they can be of any service to us. ,O yes! Every one can be of vital service-can aid us materially, without cost to themselves. How?

First, let every one see that his own paper is paid for up to January next; and second, get a neighbor or friend to subscribe for the paper. Along with such friendly acts, kind words and wishes will do very well; and both will be gratefully accepted.

We are authorized to announce that Excursion Tickets will be issued by the Erie Railway Company to all who wish to visit New York city on the occasion of the National Democratic Convention.-The tickets may be used going East from July 21 to the 6th, and returning until the 12th. Dreadful Accident. On Thursday last, Mr. Osterhout, of Overton township, on his way home from this place, accompanied by his wife and wife's sister, Valeskie Frankie, stopped at the watering trough, near Monroeton.-Mr. O. got out, leaving the two women seated in the wagon, when the horses started, and despite the efforts of the women became uncontrollable, and dashed off towards Monrocton. The women becoming frightened endeavored to save themselves by leaping to the ground. Mrs. Osterhout jumped safely from the wagon, but Valeskie was caught in the step by her hoop skirt, and dragged nearly three-fourths of a mile, her head and body upon the ground, the horses running at full speed, until they brought up against a stone post in front of the house of E. C. Sweet. The aniorunate girl was terribly mangled, and expired almost as soon assistance came. Her face and head was literally torn to pieces. She was about 24 years of age, had formerly resided in this place, and was much respected. Mrs. Osterhout was but injured. The remains of the unfortunate girl, but a few hours before in the full bloom of health, were placed in a coffin, and taken home by the afflicted and sorrowing relatives, who were almost heart broken by this sudden and unexpected bereavement. -Towarda Reporter farmer wishing a bay rake to come and get one, take it home and try it for two or three drys and if not satisfied to return it, and no charge will be made, unless the machine is broken. I have a large machine in operation at the factory, where each farmer can see it tried before boying. I also warrant and guarantee that any boy is years old, able to guide a horse, can do all the raking on a large farm just as early and quickly as a man. By referring to the above engraving, you will see that each Rike is provided with TWO FULL SITS OF TEETH, which work alternately, changing at each windrow-first one set then the other. The treth are so arranged that they cannot break. During the whole of last season, not a tooth was broken, while the machine was tried and tested in the hardest manuer. Farmers, look to your interest. This mache will see the difference between a boy's and man's wages. It will gather your hay and grain tree from dust and dirt. It will turn the underside of tha hay up to the san at each windrow, thereby enabling you to commence raking an hour earlier. It is made in the strongest possible manner, of hardwood and wrought irou, and has a tip top steel spring seat not surpassed by any in the country. It can be taken apart without removing a bolt or serew. It is made in the strongest possible manner. This machine was pathened alset year, and is nothing like my old rake, as

TEAM is the great propelling power of the age!—

"Business by Steam." mea s doing it with the spirit of enterprise—not slow but fast—Rapid sales at small profits, opposed to the old forg system of slow sales and large profits. Steam is not ras! Steam travels on land and water, but does not inflate balloons!—Steam means power, energy, life, activity, and throws down all opposing obstacles. The old fogles don't tike its firy speed, and are run down by its from wheels. But the people believe in steam—steamboats, steam cars, and steam stores, when they con find them.

We propose to show that business can be done on steam principles, without danger of explosion. Our safety valves are Good Goods at Low Prices for Cash, and we believe our New Stock can be sold out in "don ble quick time," and replenished again and again, if the people will only consult their true interests and patronize dealers who are cetermined to win customers by always giving the most for their money.
