As we have adopted the motto, doctors all seemed so unanimously agreed "Honor to whom honor is due," we deem as to the disease as they do in reference to it but just to call the particular attention this matter. I never saw a case or knew of the people to it. We have compared it of one where the doctors seemed so unancarefully with other statements in our do in this matter. I never knew a case exchanges, from other counties, and we where they were so unanimously agreed find none that are so concise and plain, that the disease ought to be alleviated as and in which every item of expenditure they are in this; and I neuer knew a case is so fully and intelligently accounted for, divided as to the sort of palliatives that without any sweeping item of " incidental expenses," so suggestive of some criminal or evasive leakage. We notice that some of our cotemporaries have criticised quite severely the loose manner in which their with the aumouncement of the massacre county statements have been made. A Wail.

Geary's veto of the Metropolitan Police Bill has had a most disastrous effect upon certain Radical journals in the Western part of the State. The Pittsburg Gazette, which boasts of being the "oldest" Republican newspaper in that city, gives way to the gloomiest forebodings and indulges in a prolonged wail, from which we make the following extract :

The Republican party of Pennsylvania has lost its control of the Legislature, and it has lost the Governor whom it elected. We have been sold out of both, and by traitors in our own house hold. Henceforth let our Republican friends know each other! We are strong, only without the traitors, not with them. All who are not with us are against us. It is high time that we take this as the point for a new departure in state politics.
