Not Posted in History.
A youthful applicant for a certificate to teach school presented himself before the Superintendent School Committee of a town in Maine, and having answered correctly several questions in mathematics, he was asked—
"In what year did Columbus discover America?"
The young man paused, scratched his head,
and replied—
"Well, mister, you're got me now!"
"Was it before or after the birth of our Saviour?"
continued the committee man. The youth spent a moment in thought, and raising his huge forehead striking it upon the desk, exclaimed—
"You're got me again, by blazes!"
The certificate was not granted.

Port's Corner.

The Sabbath Bell.
How sweetly through the lengthened dell,
When wintry airs are mild and clear,
Floats chiming up the sabbath bell,
Its softened echoes to the ear.
"Come, gentle neighbors, come away!"
"So doth the welcome summons say!"
"Come, friends and kindred, 'tis the time!"
So seems to peal the sabbath chime.
Dane are the week's debasing cares,
And worldly ways and worldly will;
And earth's loud aspect weers,
Like heaven, so bright, so pure, so still!
Hark, how by turns each mellow note,
Now low, now louder, seems to float,
And falling, with the wind's decay,
Like softest music dies away.
"And now," it says, "where heaven resorts,
Come, with a meek and quiet mind,
Oh, worship in these earthly courts,
But leave your earth-born thoughts behind.
And, neighbors, while the sabbath bell
Peals slowly up the winding dell,
Come, friends and kindred, let us share
The sweet and holy nature there."
The Pilgrim Child.
A stranger child, one winter eve,
Knocked at a cottage maiden's door.
"A pilgrim at your hearth receive;
Hark! how the mountain torrents roar!"
But 'er the latch was raised, "Forbear!"
Cried the pale parent from above:
"The pilgrim child that's weeping there,
Is love!"
The Spring-tide came, and once again,
With garlands crowned, a laughing child
Knocked at the maiden's casement pane,
And whispered, "let me in!" and smiled,
The casement soon was opened wide—
The stars shone bright the lower above,
And lo! the maiden's couch beside,
"Stood love!"
And smiles, and sighs, and kisses sweet,
"Blessed brief Summer's careless hours;
And Autumn's labor-sons to greet,
Come forth with corn and fruit, and flowers,
But why grow pale her cheek with grief?
Why watched she the bright stars above?"
Some one had stole her heart—the thief
Was love!
And winter came, and hopes and fears,
Alone she sat her virgin hours,
But none were there to dry her tears,
Or brush her anxious brows to rest,
And after as the open door,
Loaned the wild roared from above;
But never to her cottage moved.
Come Love!

Precept and Practice.
A person of low free life
Was put to prove for noble preaching,
And many grieved to see such strife
Between his living and his teaching.
"My friends," he said, "the simple fact is,
Not you are I; both things do;
But I can preach and you can practice!"

Humble Origin of Great Men.
"Honor and shame from no conditions rise;
Act well your part, there all the honor lies."
Pope.
