Horrible Murder in New York.

Shortly after midnight, on Thursday, Mr. Benjamin Nathan, a banker, residing at No. 12 W. Twenty-third street, New York, was murdered in his sleeping chamber, by robbers. An evening paper of that city says :--

As the details of the crime became This va not fight if the lawless savage was to be known, it is apparent that for atrocity the murder is unparalleled in this city Since the murder of Helen Jewett, and later, that of Dr. Burdell, and old Mr Rogers, in Twelfth street, no crime of a similar nature has been committed in this city that presents so many revolting features.

From another source we learn that Mr Nathan returned to the city yesterday from his country residence for the purpose of attending to-day some commemorative religious services on the death of his mother, to-day being the anniversary
