"WENT BACK ON THE SOLD-IERS.

Our cotemporary of the Montrose Republican last week, attempted a slur upon, and misrepresentation of the war record of General M'Candless, the Democratic nomince for Auditor General of this State, and we called the attent on of our State, and we called the attent on or our fin, E. Medium sars: "The political out look for the October election, as several times stated in these columns, indicates the election of General M'Candless. Perhaps the Medium should correct the statement made, as to the length of time General M'Caudless served in the army. It appears from the records that he was in every battle with the Pennsylvania Reserves, from the Peninsula to Spottsylvania. He was under McClellan from the first battle at Williamsburg, to the last great struggle in Virginia, under Grant. Surely a man who fought the battles of his country, in all the terrible encounters of the Reserves, from first to last, has undeniable claim to the titles of patriot and soldier; and as such he still holds a warm place in the hearts of the gallant soldiers of Psnnsylvania. Such men the people of this great Commonwealth delight to honor, no matter what political party may nominate them, and all the signs of the times now indicate that he will not be an exception. There are many here who always voted the Republican ticket; but who know and feel the necessity of a change, and who will dare to carry out their convictions at the polls. It is not endorsing the dogmas of the Democratic party; but it will be a rebuke to the faithless Republicans, as well as a solemn warning to the Democrats, to heed the popular voice, or their repudiation will as surely follow on the heels of success. The honest working masses, aye and the solid brains of the country too, will demand fair and equal legislation, and an honest administration of public affairs—if necessary by a separate organization."
