It is not very likely that any of us will be called to endure more than good old Job. When earthly blessings were taken from him, he did not raise a great hue and cry, but patiently said, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

If ever we are so happy as to get to Heaven, then we may see that much which we call trouble and sorrow now. are really our greatest blessings; and our wtter min might have, been wrought in soul and body if circumstances had been as we so often 'blindly wished they might have been.

Then we shall see that, of all glad words of tongue or pen, the gladdest aro these. "It might have been."

Not the Lady.

A well known minister, walking along the street a few days since, met a lady for whom he had recently performed the marriage service. Desiring to renew the acquaintance, (for the lady had intersted im greatly at the time,) he accosted her with the remark : " Madam, did I not have the pleasure of marrying you a few days since i

"I was married a few days since sir." "Yes, I thought I was not mistaken ; I married you?" "Indeed." Well, I thought my husband was a much younger man than you are; but I have not seen enough of him to make his acquaintance thorou hly. By the way, my dear, my chignon is getting shabby; please give me some money to buy a waterfall." Evidently this was more than the minster bargained for, and with a hasty bow, "No, you are not the lady-I'm mistak-en," he took his leave.

A Colorado saloon-keeper said of a rough crowd: "I couldn't get their whisky strong enough for them, so after trying every way, I at last made a mixture of poison oak and butternut. That fetch-ed them. I called it the sheep herder's delight, and it was a popular drink. The first Pike I tried it on yelled with delight : the next one took two drinks and turned a double somerset in the road before the house. A peddler came along, and after he took several drinks of my sheep herder's delight he went off and stole his own pack and hid it in the woods." nnder
