Congress has just passed a bill giving $100 bounty to all-soldiers who entisted after May 3d, 1801, and were mustered into the service before August 6th, 1861, for three years, and discharged before two years for disability, sickness included, and never received any bounty. To Break An Ox.

Some person, who has the credit of residing in Berks county, asks an exchange how to break an ox. To this question the editor replies: " If only one ox, a good way would he'to hoist him by means of a log chain attached to his sail to the top of a pole forty feet from the ground. Then hoist him by a rope, tied about the horns, so another pole. Then descend on to his back a five ton pile driver, and if that don't break him, let him start . a country newspaper and trust people for subscription. One of the two will do it sure."

A Large Pine Tree.

A pine tree was cut down a few days ago in East Bridgewater, reminding one of the "Olden time." It was one hundred and fifty feet in height, six feet in diameter at the top of the stump, about four feet from the ground. After rising about twenty feet, it divided into six branches, two of which had been broken off and were decayed. From the remainder, twentynine logs were cut, averaging about twelve feet in length. Such trees are not often found in this vicinity, and especially in these "latter H. N. T.

Early to Risc.

The venerable virtue of early rising, which has been so long recommended by the sweet singing of the birds, is lately receiving severe scientific knocks. It seems now to be the general opinion of the doctors that children should be permitted to sleep about as long as they please in the morning, and that jumping suddealy out of bed at daylight is bad for the yet known. health. The Massachusetts Legislative Committee on Labor having under consideration a ten hour law, was told by Lorenzo Lawton, of the great manufacturing city of Fall River, that "the girls of the poor man ought to lie in bou in the morning and snooze and stretch, and ing repairs. grow, just as daughters of the rich man do." Fire Without Flame. An experimenting chemist took a piece of Abreadbare cotton cloth, smeared it with boiled linseed oil, and placed it in the centre of a chest filled with paper and rags. Although the room was not tight and the weather cold, there was a smell of fire about the room in eight days. Unpacking it the experimenter found the rag half charred. In April he made a similar experiment with a pair of painter's overalls, which he rolled up with pine shavings and crowded in next to the roof boards of a loft. In a week, the smell of smoke alarmed a workscan in the next room, and the overalls were found to be on fire. A number of shops, barns and houses along the banks of Jacob creek were burned, and the tables, and outhouses of the Benham house. The fire extended over an area of several cres, destroying some forty houses, barns, etc., and some cight or ten stores.

The fire raged from two o'clock in the after oon until nine o'clock in the evening. The loss is very heavy, as very little of the contents of the houses on Jacob street were saved.

The depot and the Railroad buildings were threatened at one time, and only saved by great exertions. Everything was very dry and quite a breeze was blowing at the time. Two hand engines did consilerable to save the property, but the steam engine from Canandia-gua succeeded in checking the fire. Loss not

New Milford, May 4th, 1872.

New Milford M. E. Church. Mr. Eprron :- Rev. A. Brooks has attempted to reply to "Humanity." We recognize his right to reply; but we think that he should onfine himself to the vindication of his church, without meddling with the theological views of "the officiating gentleman." We are that gentleman. As we are very intimate with "Humanity," we shall take the liberty of analyzing the ministerial reply to his article.

Mr. Brooks asks "Humanity" to "show a single instance when the trustees have refused its (church's) use for such an occasion." The lve localist wrote the other day an item to the satisfactorily in his own words. "The sexton however did not conclude to open the church, and he was not obliged to do any thing of the kind by his contract with the church :" that is to publish, because the high moral tone of the with the trustees, "for they only are the proper paper had to be maintained in a town full of authorities." What kind of a contract has the eminary girls. Well, considering the frigid sexton made with the trustees? Have the trustees invested him with " all powers" or such occasions.? Mr. B. assigns the following reasons for no opening the church : " It is true that there are those in the M. E. Church, who are opposed to allowing the centleman who officiated at the funeral, preaching in their pulpit for the reason the M. E. Church; but the relatives of Mrs. Wellman applied for the use of the said church in the usual way, and they were refused its use The funeral procession arrived in New Milford about 1 p. m., and the church was not opened, a fire was not made, and the bell was not telled; and the friends had not time to run "all ove creation" after trustees and sextons who " could not decide" and who "did not conclude to open the church." Mr. B. has shown very plainly that the use of the church was refused to the relatives of Mrs. Wellman, and he has endeav ored to make an excuse for the trustee; but is s "too thin" for this age of the world.

Mr B. concludes his inconsistent and sef-con tradictory reply in the following kind words: "If those who are called to bury the dead, will employ accredited ministers of the gospel to officiate, I will assure them they can occupy the M. E Church, whenever they desire, and he member of the church will raise a single objection." Does the reverend gentleman make this liberal and noble offer on his own word? Did a late nearly as cleap as headed the trustees, duly consulted, and their conditions him to make this declaration? Is he there authority to speak in the matter.

Witalize the Hair.

Why does the hair become hard and dry—why does it hall out—why does it becomes gray? Simply because the life has gone out of it. The fibers draw sustenance from the scalp as the grass draws aliment from the soil, and when the supply of nutriment is cut off in c. her case the product withers and dies. At the first symtom of decay, therefore, the unful or half-fed roots of the hair should be refreshed and reinforced with Lvoy's Katuatasos, the only pi paration which will nourish the filaments and keep them in a vigorous condition after they have begun to suffer from a deficiency of their natural stimulant. As long as the Kathahron is faithfully used, with a proper degree of iriction, morning and evening, so long will it be impossible for the hair to whiten or fall out from the scalp.
