Figures do not Lie,

This old and off-repeated adage, was once sed to be a truth. But let me bring be fore the readers of the Democrat a few figure clipped from the New York Times of Augus 19th, 1872, and also a few undeniable facts, and then let the public decide whether the old maxim be truth or fiction. Were the people of Susquehanna to swallo all the distorted and exaggerated statements which are crowded into the columns of the N. Y. Times, without ever being remainded that were appointed and reports adopted, after which figures were easily made, and that seventythousand sallaried office holders were continually grinding out administration documents without a semblance of truth about them, they might easily be led to suppose any effort they might desire to make to cast off the chain that now hangs about their neck, dragging them along with the present corrupt Administration, would prove fatile; and in consideration of the us majorities which the editor of the Time heaps up before them, would rather withhold their ballot, or cast it with this pretended legion than suffer the ignominious defeat which the Times so lucidly pictures to them.

Appearances go a great way in the human character, but in figures they amount to nothing lawiew of this fact I submit the following estimate of the Times with another estimate of my own, which, when carefully examined by any faltering or timid Liberal, will show the usual inconsistancy of the Times editor. And the thinness of the material he uses to conceal. the real facts from the one hundred thousan dupes who read his paper, is actually disgusting when you once attempt to peep through it.-The estimate of the Times, I infer, was adduced from the returns of 1868, and he foots up the very modest inajority of about 23,000 for the State of Ponnsylvania, and in so doing displays an unpardonable amount of ignorance, as I will show by the following estimate of the Liberal strength of our own County of Susquehanna, based upon the census of 1870.

Susquehanna County has about two hundred and seventy school districts, and allowing one Liberal Republican for each district-and that would be modest for the Times, would give Pennsylvania 24,647 Liberal Republicans. But we will reduce this and ask for only one hun dred and ninety, and those we have, and that will give the State 17,605, allowing its populaon, according to the last census, to be -3,521,poo, in round numbers. Take this 17,003 Liberal Republicans from the old ranks, and fidd then the new, and it makes a difference of 85,210-sufficient to wipe out Grant's majority of 28,898 in 1868, besides leaving ample margin for possible disaffection among Democrats, clock, by W. C. T. Handrick, and Convention opened in due form, the necessary Committees many delegates reported a goodly number of Lodges hopefully laboring in the field, and sanuine in the expectation that the climax of the harvest will be Prohibilion.

At this point we were favored with the privlege of initiating into our noble order our much respected Rev. Bro. S. W. Spencer, of that place.

The public lecture of the evening, by J. Lorton, Dis. Deputy of Green Co., was well attended, Well-timed remarks were added by Elder Fish, and Bro. E. Weston, Delegate from the Luzerne and Wyoming District.

The second day was mainly occupied with solutions, viz.
