Cranberries at Susquehanna

Mr. Charles Miller, of the firm of Curtis & Milher Bankers, at Susquehanna Depor, has utilized with Cranberry bushes. He has raised nearly 100 bushels to the acre this year, and when the ushes come to maturity, they will produce 150 bushels to the acre. What is still more encouraging, is the quality of these berries. On a visit to that place, a short time since, we saw some of these berries, and we unhesitatingly pronounce them the largest and finest quality of visits Susquehanna, to call and examine them. Friend Miller has our congratulation on his ex-

There is the highest authority for saying, that an incalculable amount of injury is done to the eve sight of the children during their school years. The range, acuteness, and endurance of vision are all decreased, by a too close application to books in improperly lighted schoolhouses. In order to prevent these evils the mischievous pranks indulged in. Most of these were of an innocent kind, but a few cases of malicious mischief have also been brought to our refice. Several windows were broken by having small stones thrown through them. In a lantances front door steps were removed, some of them three or four steps in height. Had the infinites of the houses from which the steps were proved stepned suidenly out of the four were removed stepped suddenly out of the front door, serious occidents might have resulted . Ingenious.

The restless Yankee has set his wits to work again, and this time with the intention of imposing upon the trusting nature of trees. The bare condition of the trees during the bleak months of winter strikes him as being far from pleasing to the general eye, and proposes to remedy it by a system of steam pipes twining ing the roots of shade trees, and kept warm by steam from an ordinary furnace boiler. He doubtless thinks he may thus cause the trees to imagine themselves in the midst of summer, and to suppose that the bleak winds of December are merely passing eccentricities not worth noticing, and above all, not of sufficient consequence to cause them to cast off their summer attire. We do not believe that the treess can be imposed upon to this extent; but the intention of the ingenious inventor, who, by the way, dwells in Connecticut, is none the less com-mendate. If this gentleman would turn his mind to some means of persuading flies and mosquitoes that winter reigns all the year round he would confer a greater benefit on his suffering species than by trying to take advantage o

Local Jealousy.

We last week copied a short article on "local pride," and below give a paragraph on "local jraiousy," which should be carefully read by every business man:

Anniversary of the Reformation.

Thursday the 7th was the 355th Anniversary of the Reformation. It was on October 31, 1517, that Martin Luther took his public step in the great Protestant Reformation by nailing up his niecty-five these on the door of the church at Wittenberg. The Lutherans in various parts of the country celebrated the anniversary by convening in their churches, and hearing sermen, the Almighty Dollar is not made for the grave. Enjoy yourselves as you go through the world; lend your neighbor a helping hand, for you may need it in return some day; and when the time comes for you to be laid away 'among the rude forefathers of Hamlet,' let the urn of your ashes be blessed with memory of deeds of kindness you have done toward your fellow men. Business can be made a pleasure when menwish to make it so, but local jealousy must not be admitted into either bussiness or local circles. It requires an uhlimited effort, trre; but the ultimate result will prove a mutual benefit to all."

That Soldiers' Monument.

"Soldiers' Monument" myth, during 'a long berries we ever raw. It will pay any one who time past, that our motives might not be mis construed into a political design. As there are no parties up for office, save it may be for a Post Office, and we can clearly be "counted out" as to any designs upon that, hence we shall take the responsibility of calling attention to it at this time. It has become a burning shame to the Boro of Montrose, that so many public enterprises have gone "where the wind listeth." We personally feel it, perhaps more than some others, from the very prominent part we have taken in these enterprises, by virtue of our position as a journalist, in urging our citizens to act in the matter. First upon the list is the "Soldiers" hight should be sufficiently strong, and fall on Monument," which ostensibly is called a counthe table from the left hand side; and as far as ty affair, and for which a large sum has been possible, from above. The student should sit staght, and not have the book nearer to the eye than ten inches at the least. Besides this the book should be raised 20 deg. for writing and about 40 deg. for reading. The proper light is most easily obtained if the school room is of an oblong shape; the windows being in one of the long sides, and the desks arranged parallel to the short walls so that the light falls from the left side. The desk of the teacher should be placed near the short wall toward swhich the scholars look.

Hutlow E'en Tricks.

As has been a custom from time immemorial, the Boys played all manner of pranks on quiet bouse-keepers on Thursday. Door bells were known against front windows, and many other mischigvous pranks indulged in. Most of these were shortled to that fund, did it from patriotic motives, and for no other purpose, and type flowers of an innocent kind, but a few cases of market for the shorts of some managing that the "Statute of Limitations" shall but their claim. The People's Stump of the Age.

The Government endorsement, which legalizes the sale of Plantation Bitters is not the only stump affixed to that famous VEORTABLE TONG. It bears, in addition to that official sanction, the still more valuable stump of public approbation. This inestimable voucher of its rare properties as a Tonle, Corrective and Alterative, is of much earlier date than the Government credential; for millions of sick persons had pronounced it the Grand Specific of the Age long before Congress thought of taxing proprietary medicines. It is unnecessary to repeat, in detail, the properties of this wanderful Vegetable Invigorant. The best reference that can be offered to those who desire the full particulars of its virtues, is the General Public. Ask those who have tried it as a remedy for dyspepsia, consulpation, biliousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility, rheumatism, sea sickness, low spirits, or loss of vital power, what Plantation Bitters has done for them, and be governed by the response they make to your inquiries.

Tar Cordial,

Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public that Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, for Throat and Lung Diseases, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons actually benefitted and cured at his office. While he publishes tess, so say our reparters, he is unable to supply the demand—It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping cough, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and
