

The Legal Profession.

There is no profession which should engender higher or purer aspirations, or which may be fraught with greater good to human society, or be more elevating and ennobling to its disciples, than the legal profession; and yet, perhaps, there is no other at the present time, which stands condemned by the public generally as does this profession, on account of its base prostitution by those who have taken its mantle upon them, and are using it as an engine of power to cloak and practice venal and mercenary trickery.

It is not that the profession is in itself corrupt, but that it has become a mere tool in the hands of those who have taken its mantle upon them, and are using it as an engine of power to cloak and practice venal and mercenary trickery.

In the Thanksgiving proclamation of Gov. Edwin McCook, of Colorado, one of the causes enumerated why the whole people of the Territory should give thanks to Almighty God, is the fact that "the people have renounced to us another four years of Republican government."

Party Name.

SENATOR THURMAN, of Ohio says the Pittsburg Post, is to-day one of, if not the foremost and safest leaders of the Democracy in the country.

Free, independent thoughts is the very essence of Democracy and true Republicanism. It created the Democratic party in the beginning; it has maintained it ever since. It gave rise to the LIBERAL REPUBLICAN ELEMENT of to-day, and to it we must look for accessions in the future.

THE ADVOCATES OF CENTRALIZATION are likely to become more audacious than ever in their attacks upon local self-government. Exactions of combined wealth and corrupt use of money in elections are likely to become established usages if not speedily rebuked.

Pending the discussion, which took unrestrained range, an eccentric Liberal Republican made a violent speech, calling the Democratic party a putrid corpse and attributing the late defeat to the stench attaching to the name Democrat.

ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME would smell as sweet, 'twas also true that the Democratic party would smell as vile with another name, 'twas already putrid. It might be true that parties, like men were doomed to die, but his hand should never help the death of the Democratic party.

FULL returns of the votes for and against the constitutional amendment removing the election of State Treasurer from the Legislature and vesting it in the "qualified electors," have been published. There were 481,620 votes cast in favor of the amendment, and 4,393 against it.

It was intimated before the Presidential election that, in the event of General Grant's triumph, the colored element would demand a seat in the Cabinet, and their claims are being pressed thus early in the person of Langston, one of the colored professors of Howard University, who is urged by Fred. Douglass and others for the Attorney-Generalship.

THE following passage occurs in an address just issued to the people of Ohio, by the Democrats and Liberal Republicans: "Condemn as strongly as you will those men who sold their votes, but be charitable to your old friends, who, under circumstances of difficulty and embarrassment, differed from you in opinion."

ON the partisan action of the radical majority in the constitutional convention the Germantown Chronicle justly remarks: "The constitutional convention has begun in a very bad way, by surrendering to the party caucus. It is a matter of no possible consequence to the public to what party the officers of the convention belong, but the proceedings of yesterday are of very great importance, as indicating the spirit by which the delegates are governed."

ONE of the most touching instances of gratitude is alleged to have occurred at Lock Haven the other day. A little boy, the child of a wealthy mother, tumbled into the river. He was rescued by a workman, and restored to his parent. The woman gave the man a three cent postage stamp, and said she would glad to have him come up to her house and sit out in the entry and hear her play the piano.

MISSOURI is the banner Democratic State this year. She not only gives Greeley her largest majority, but elects a larger number of Democratic members of Congress than any other State. The returns from all but two counties in the State give Greeley 134,785, and Grant 109,145, being a majority for Greeley of 25,640.

APART from the loss of Congressmen in Tennessee, the Democrats have done well. Instead of the Legislature being Republican, the Democrats have a majority in both branches over Republicans and Independents. The State has gone for Greeley, and elected Brown, the Liberal candidate for Governor, by a handsome majority.

How to treat the New Horse Disease.

THE New York papers of Saturday contain the following: "The Sanitary Committee of the Board of Health presented the following report yesterday at a special session of the Board, and the document was ordered on file: 'The Sanitary Committee respectfully report that in connection with Dr. Lianard, veterinary surgeon on the Board, they have examined 'the new plagues' of the epidemic among horses. The diseases spoken of as 'new' are, however, not new, but are the result of the former affection, and resemble purpura hemorrhagica or scurvy of the human subject. The blood is so deteriorated that it escapes from the vessels into the cellular tissues under the skin, so as to cause large ecchymosis into and through the mucous membranes, giving rise to bloody discharges, and even into the cancellated portions of the bone. The red globules are in a state of disintegration, and the serum escaping from the vessels collects under the skin in the most dependent portions of the body, causing the appearances known as drop eye. The collections, if bloody, under the skin and the discharges from the nose have been mistaken for the swelling and discharges peculiar to glanders. This destruction of the integrity of the blood seems to be largely due to the effect of the preceding fever, especially in the case of horses which have previously been poorly fed, over-worked, and kept in ill-ventilated and filthy stables. Another and powerful exciting cause is excessive medication during the fever, and too early exposure to cold, wet, and fatigue, with a poor and unwholesome diet during the convalescence. These fatal complications are most frequently found in horses which have been carefully kept previous to the attack and well attended during and after the fever. Horses convalescing from this epidemic should have a highly nutritious and easily digested diet. To counteract the tendency to scurvy iron compounds are useful, and such foods should be especially selected as are rich in the normal saline constituents of the blood and in amylose compounds. Such are the various bulbous roots, viz., turnips, carrots, rutabaga, potatoes, &c. These to be readily masticated and digested should be boiled and mixed with bran or other meal."

THE Danbury News thinks that "politics corrupt men, and cites the following instance: "Mr. Charles Agnew, of Slaysan, was supposed to be a model citizen in every respect, but upon being nominated for assessor, he was inspired by a few days that he was in the habit of beating his wife; that he had been driven by exposure and neglect, had stolen five geese feathers from the dining pillows of the poor, poisoned an uncle to secure his property, and picked the pocket of the clergyman who married him. When Mr. Agnew was nominated, he made a neat little speech, thanking his friends for the honor conferred upon him."

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Believing in the Lord, our covenant God, in whom our fathers trusted, and in His controlling Providence over the affairs of men and nations, a public acknowledgment of His goodness and of our constant dependence upon Him is eminently becoming in enlightened and civilized people. Now, therefore, impressed with these sentiments, in pursuance of a revered custom, and in conformity with the Proclamation of Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, recommending that THURSDAY, THE TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY OF OCTOBER next, be set apart as a day of Praise, Prayer and Thanksgiving; I, JOHN W. GEARY, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do most respectfully request the citizens of this State to observe that day as such with all the respect and solemnity. Let them be thankful to Almighty God that he has bestowed upon us all the common blessings of life, given us health and relieved us from pestilence; that labor is abundantly rewarded; that we have no dread of impending famine, or fear of industrial or commercial distress; that the arts, sciences, general education, and the settlements of peace and good will are steadily advancing. Let us be especially thankful for the great privileges of American citizenship; for the untrammelled expression of opinion; for our political rights still remain safe under beneficent laws and in the hands of an order-loving people; and that equal and exact justice is rendered to all. For these, and for all other civil, social, and religious blessings we enjoy, let us yield the sincere thanks of our hearts, and humbly beseech that our continuance. Given under my hand and the great seal of the State at Harrisburg, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-seventh.

JOHN W. GEARY, By the Governor, F. JONAS, Secretary of the Commonwealth. On Saturday the snow storm extended from Canada to Richmond and from the Alleghenies to the Atlantic. It is reported that the Spanish Home Government is intending to relieve the Captain-General of Porto Rico of a few days.
