And sweet with clover on each side;
A bright-eyed boy who looks from out
The duor with woodbine wreathed about,
And wishes, his one thought all day;
"Oh, if I could but thy away
From this dull spot the world to see,
How happy, happy, happy,
How happy I should be !"

Amid the city's constant din, A man who round the world has been, A man who round the world has been,
Who, 'mid the tumult and the throng,
Is thinking, thinking all day long;
"Oh! could I only tread once more
The field-path to the farm house door,
The old, green meadow could I see,
Ilow happy, happy, happy,
How happy should I be."

NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY

Throat and Lungs.

It is gratifying to us to inform the public tha Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordid, for Throat and Lung Discusses, has gained an enviable reputation from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and from thence to some of the first cific coast, and from thence to some of the first families of Europe, not through the press alone, but by persons actually benefitted and corred at his office. While he publishes tess, so say our, reporters, he is unable to supply the demand.— It gains and holds its reputation—

First. Not by stopping coded, but by loosening and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter collected about the throat and bronchial tubes, which course irritation.

Second, It removes the rause of irritation (which produces cough) of the nucus membrane and bronchial tubes, assists the lungs to act and throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purifies the blood.

throw off the unhealthy secretions, and purmes the blood.

Third. It is free from squills, lohela, ipreac, and opium, of which most throat and lung remedies are composed, which allay cough only, and disorganize tho stomech. It has a southing effect on the stomach, acts on the liver und kidneys, and lymphatic and nervous regions, thus reaching to every part of the system, and in its invigorating and purifying effects it has gained a reputation which it must hold above all others in the market.
