Trial Trip of the Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia was all astir, on May fifth by the trial trip of the new magnificent stramer Pennsylvania upon which she started, with a large number of distinguished guests on board. Hundreds of persons crowded the wharves to see her pass, and as the weather was delightful, a large number of beats also lined the river with eager spectators. The various crafts honored her with a salue as she passed.

When the steamer moved off, the sisters of the Pennsylvania, the steamers Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, had their decks filled with people, and thre was immere cheering, waving of handkerchiets, etc. cheering, waving of handkerchiefs, etc., tor for collection, who will then proceed and she glided down the Deleware with interest agening theres. all the majestic grandeur of a first-class craft.
