THE NEW TRADE DOLLAR.-A general misapprehension seems to exist in regard to the new coin which was provided for by Congress at its last session, to be known as the "trade dollar." The fact is that the sole object of the act is to facilitate commerce between this country and China and Japan, by allowing silver to be made into these dollars in the United States, instead of, as heretofore, having to send the bullion to London for coinage. This new dollar will be used exclusively in trade with Celestials, and will not enter into general circulation in this country and will only be coined as demanded for use.

contests of the coming months promise to be of usual interest and importance. The Republican party, since its overwhelming victory under the leadership of General Grant last Fall, has met with a series of moral reverses, the exact effect of which the future alone will disclose. The unsavory revelations in the Credit Mobilier business, disastrously affecting some of the most trusted leaders in the organization, the retroactive clause of the salary-increase bill, together with other unpleasant transactions of lesser note, have undoubtedly combined to weaken the party in the opinion of a large number of its most steadfast friends and supporters, and to render doubtful in more than one State the chances of victory, which only six month ago were so certain everywhere.
