walks and fences repaired. These are steps in the right direction, and I hope many will walk in their ways. I hope the time is not far distant when passengers shall no more be dumped out any where along the road from the iron bride to the culvert, and any where amid the many tracks and engines. It appears that through that system or want of system, the life of the venerable and Rev. Father O'Reiley, of this place, was crushed out, Saturday evening the 4th inst. His death at any time would have been a far felt loss in all this region. But, occurring in the shocking way it came, is an inexpressible calamity to his ardently attached, and by him much loved people.
