Increased Taxation Threatened.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer: Mr. Spinner dimly suggest that an increase of taxation may be necessary if it is determined by the government to continue the rapid extinguishment of the national d. bt. The people have never been satisfied that the government was not paying the debt too rapidly and thereby injuring the prosperity of the country. So much of the debt is due abroad that the gov ernment has, since the close of the war, been depleting our resources and swelling those of distant nations. It is true that when we needed the money those nations lent it to us, but they lent it upon most extravagant terms, and they would be better satisfied to be unpaid than paid.-They do not want the principal, but the interest, and we have been, at our own great cost, compelling them to receive the principal against their will.

It is folly to talk of increased taxes. The country is too greatly taxed already. Instead of more taxation there should be less, and, if the adairs of the government are wisely and honestly conducted, any increase would be superfluous. But there is no attempt made to economise—to render defalcation and embezzlement uncommon by the selection of men capable and of undoubted integrity. No measures are suggested to stop the extravagance and fraud; they go on, as if to put no bar to them, increased taxes are advised. Although the recent state elections show the feeling against the policy

The history of the financial department of the government since the war can be best described by the one word. Draindrain, drain, drain all the time, until at last, business being overtaxed, fulls under the load, and what is called a panic sweeps, over the land like a nurricane.

WISCONSIN.

A complete revolution has taken place in Wisconsin, which effectually squelches Mat. Carpenter as far as any chance for re-election to the United States Senate is concerned. The State gave Grant last year a majority of 18,515. The Democratic Liberal ticket is now elected by a majority of over 10,000 votes, and they have a large majority of the members in the Legislature. So much for the back pay steal in the State represented by the chief defender of that fraud upon the people.

LIVING ADVERTISEMENTS.

A medicine that has done more than all the prescriptions of the pharmacopæia to protect the human system against the bodily ills superinduced by universal confidence. It is mainly on account of its extraordinary preventive properties that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is so exceedingly popular in localities subject to the visitation of miasmatic fevers and other diseases produced by empoisoned air. A family that has escaped sickness during a sickly season in consequence of using the Bitters as a safeguard, is a living advertisement of the virtues of the prevation. The whole neighborhood realize the fact. "I couldn't have believed it," says one. "I scarcely credited the advertisements: but one must believe what one sees," says another. "It is the very thing we need in this unwhole-some section of country," remarks a third. And the result is that the mistinct of self-defence, the first law of nature, induces three-fourths of that community to obtain supply of the great vegetable antidote before the next sickly season sets first law of nature, induces three-fourths of that community to obtain supply of the great vegetable antidote before the next sickly season sets in. In winter, when the system requires extra vigor and elasticity to enable it to baffle the effects of damp and cold, the filters will be found particularly serviceable. Rheumatism will not be apt to fasten upon muscles and nerves that have been braced up by this excellent invigorant and nervine; nor will the severities of the season, which have such a disastrous effect on the pulmonary organs of the feeble and delicate be likely to exercise the same untoward influences in cases where the stomach and the external surface of the body (which always sympathizes with the digestive organs) have been toned and stimulated by a course of the restorative. The fits of indigestion and irregularities of the bowels which proceed from sudden changes of weather may always be averted by a timely use of the Bitters.
